Plane Locates Captive Ship East Of Trinidad

Africa-Bound Liner Refuses To Turn Back

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (UPI) —The hijacked Portuguese cruise ship Santa Maria Wednesday night refused a U.S. Navy plane's request to turn back to San Juan and messaged it was heading for the Portuguese African territory of Angola.

The ship, sought since it was seized by Portuguese revolutionaries early Sunday, was sighted nearly halfway across the Atlantic by a Navy Neptune piloted by Lt. (jg) Daniel L. L. Krauss of Sea Island, Ga. It was about 900 miles east of Trinidad.

Portuguese rebel leader Henrique Galvao messaged Krauss he would agree to meet with U.S. authorities on board the ship but would not turn back as requested.

He said he wanted to discharge the 620 passengers, including 40 Americans, at the earliest possible opportunity.

Krauss' message, released by Navy authorities here, said:

"All well aboard. Destination Angola. Capt. Galvao refuses return San Juan. Will accept conference on board Santa Maria with U.S. authorities or any other than Portuguese or Spanish. Wishes to discharge passengers unharmed earliest."

Orders Trailing Action

The Navy ordered its air and sea searchers to trail but not to board the vessel, which was taken over by Galvao and 70 Portuguese and Spanish rebels in a blow against the Portuguese government of Premier Antonio Salazar.

Rear Adm. Allen Smith Jr., commandant of the Caribbean Sea frontier, said his orders "do not include any plans to board the Santa Maria."

(In Washington, President Kennedy said the Navy is instructed only to "investigate" the vessel and not to board it.)

Krauss' patrol plane left the Santa Maria and flew to Belem, Brazil, for refuelling. Its place was taken by a Navy Constellation weather plane.

Smith said the nuclear submarine Sea Wolf, which is in the same general area as the Santa Maria "might" be used in the trailing action. He said it had the 30-knot speed to keep up with the ship and would not have to be pulled off for refuelling.

Two U. S. destroyers originally in the search, the Wilson and Damato, have turned back to Trinidad to refuel, the Navy announced in Washington.

Ship's Course Unchanged

Krauss reported that the Santa Maria's course, southeast, and speed, 15 knots, were unchanged. The course was heading for the African coast, which bore out Galvao's statement his destination was Angola.

Angola is Portugal's largest overseas territory, with a population of more than four million and an area five times that of Texas. It was a 1,000 mile coastline along the western edge of Africa.

The Santa Maria had eluded the navies of Britain, the United States, and Holland for three days before the American plane sighted it.

The Navy said that two other destroyers, the Vogelsang and Gearing, were ordered to take positions north of the Cape Verde Islands to try to intercept the ship. They had been paying a courtesy visit to Abdijan of the Ivory Coast of Africa.

Farm Leaders Meet

WASHINGTON (UPI) — More than 100 farm leaders, summoned by President Kennedy to see if they can unite to help chart a new farm program, were scheduled to meet here Thursday with Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman.

Another First For Kennedy

President John F. Kennedy talks to reporters last night at his first press conference as chief executive. The conference was televised on a nationwide basis and was a precedent-setter in a number of other ways. It was the first to be held at night and the first formal conference at which direct quotation of the President was permitted immediately and fully. Attendance at the session was 418. (AP Photofax)

House Demos Defer Rayburn Plan Showdown

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Democratic leadership Wednesday put off until next Tuesday a showdown vote on Speaker Sam Rayburn's plan to revamp the Rules Committee.

The surprise action Wednesday irked Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, who said the Kennedy administration was interfering at the Cabinet level in the internal affairs of the House.

Rayburn's plan is designed to break a coalition hold on the Rules Committee and make it more friendly to President Kennedy's legislative program. It would raise committee membership from eight Democrats and four Republicans to 10 Democrats and five Republicans. Four Republicans and two Southern Democrats now control many committee actions. Eight Democratic Kennedy backers would call the shots under the Rayburn plan.

Rayburn has staked his prestige on the success of his proposal to wrest control of the committee from its chairman, Howard W. Smith, D-Va.

Rayburn told a news conference the delay in voting was ordered because many members would not be able to be present Thursday, when the test had been set.

Asked if he needed more time to line up votes, Rayburn said "I don't think we'll be in any worse shape next Tuesday that we are now. And I still think we'll win the fight."

One nose count indicated an edge of possibly thre votes in Rayburn's favor, but it was based on many imponderables. The opposition claimed margin of up to five votes.

12-Year-Old Boy To Be Ordained Minister Friday

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP)—A 12-year-old lad who took to preaching because he suddenly got the urge becomes an ordained minister Friday.

Francis Flosser Jr. son of the Rev. and Mrs. Francis Flosser of Lancaster, takes his vows at the Pentecostal (Protestant) Church in Kennett Square.

The seventh grade pupil, who hopes to finish his high school education while giving lessons himself from the pulpit, says of his rather young ministerial start:

"I was with my Dad (about six months ago) while he was cutting a radio tape for a sermon when all of a sudden I felt the urge to preach and tell the world about the beloved Lord. My Dad let me try it and I've been preaching ever since on Saturday mornings to a radio audience."

His ambition is to finish his education and become a traveling evangelist.

Ex-Cuban President Breaks With Castro

NEW YORK (UPI) — Former Cuban President Carlos Prio Socarras, a long-time champion of Fidel Castro, broke publicly with the bearded revolutionary Wednesday and denounced him for establishing a "Communist tyranny" in Cuba. He pledged support to Castro's foes.

In a signed statement to United Press International in New York, Prio described the Cuba of today as a "conquered but non-submissive nation engaged in a titanic struggle to break the chains enslaving it."

Prio signed his statement in Miami, but he was understood to have left later for Mexico.

Kennedy Bars Major Changes In Ike's Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — Orders went out Wednesday from President Kennedy that there will be no wholesale overhauls attempted in the budget prepared by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Instructions to hold down on changes followed a White House conference amid Republican predictions that the big issue in this year's session of Congress will be a "battle of the budget."

Kennedy reviewed the new Democratic administration's fiscal policy at a session with Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon; Budget Director David Bell; and Walter Heller, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers.

Afterward, Bell issued a directive to all Cabinet officers and other agency heads laying down a policy that changes in the Eisenhower budget should be "limited to a relatively small number of items on which the President wishes to initiate a major change in the scope or direction of governmental programs."

A broad review of all federal programs will have to wait until next January, when the first all-Kennedy administration budget will be submitted to Congress.

Eisenhower's budget, sent to Congress on Jan. 16 was for the fiscal year starting July 1. It proposes expenditures of $80.9 billion against revenues of $82.3 billion, which would leave an anticipated surplus of almost $1.5 billion.

Congressional Republicans already have started organizing for a budget fight in advance of the revisions Kennedy is expected to propose.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois predicted this will be the overriding issue in the 1961 session. He and House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana arranged to meet weekly with colleagues to map strategy.

Dirksen indicated Eisenhower's advice will be sought.

Bell gave agency heads until Feb. 20 to submit proposed changes to the Budget Bureau. He invited informal discussions in advance of this deadline.

Workers Evacuated As Radiation Rises

IDAHO FALLS (UPI) — About 140 employes were evacuated from the Idaho chemical processing plant at the national reactor testing station for nearly five hours Wednesday because of a radiation rise.

The Atomic Energy Commission, however, reported all were back at work before 3 p.m. and that none was endangered.

Fired Corporation Head Cleared In Bank Theft

SIOUX CITY, Iowa (AP)—The government Wednesday failed to link Harold Eugene Kistner Jr. to a $2-million embezzlement that closed the Sheldon National Bank.

U. S. Commissioner W. M. Forker dismissed a charge of aiding and abetting the embezzlement after a preliminary hearing.

Kistner, 35, fired last week as president of the financially troubled Northern Biochemical Corp. of Sheldon, was immediately released from jail.

Attorney Frank Margolin asked for the dismissal, contending the government showing was entirely inadequate to connect Kistner to the bank shortage. The government had charged Kistner had overdrawn his account by about $21,000.

Burnice Iverson Geiger, 58, assistant cashier and board member of the bank, has admitted the big embezzlement, authorities said. She was a heavy investor in Northern Biochemical.

Meanwhile, an informed source said outside the hearing that Mrs. Geiger kept a running total on adding machine tapes of all the embezzled funds.

The source said that was how federal officials arrived at the $2,126,850.10 figure. The preciseness of the total had puzzled many.

A Federal Bureau of Investigation auditor testified at the hearing that Mrs. Geiger admitted to him she had been taking money from the bank for the last 30 or 40 years.

FBI agent Edward J. Kail Jr. said he found checks totaling about $21,000, written by Mr. and Mrs. Kistner, were paid by the Sheldon National Bank and never charged to their account.

El Salvador Government Overthrown

Anti-Red Military Junta Takes Over After Coup D'Etat

GUATEMALA CITY (UPI) — The embassy of El Salvador here announced Wednesday night that junior army officers have toppled the El Salvador government and established an anti - Communist military junta.

The embassy statement was in the form of a communique issued in San Salvador which described the rightist coup d'etat as "purely military" in nature. It said the young officers had decided on the coup because a "Communist movement" was underway in the country and its leaders were actively engaged in agitation.

The new military junta, as well as the armed revolt which spawned it, are "anti - Communist" and "anti - Ossorio," the statement said. The latter reference was to El Salvador's one-time strongman-President Oscar Ossorio.

The ousted government was a six-man civil-military junta which had overthrown the constitutional government of then President Jose Maria Lemus last Oct. 26.

Earlier, the Guatemalan government described the new military junta as politically right-wing. The Guatemalan report was based on a telephonic report from Ahuachapan, a frontier town just inside El Salvador on the border which links the two countries.

Reports from travelers crossing the frontier said the new military junta was made up of three members, but they were not immediately identified.

Stores, banks and businesses in general were reported closed down in the Salvadorean capital city. Commercial flights resumed to El Salvador late Wednesday.

Kennedy Pledge Against Dollar Gold Cut Urged

WASHINGTON (AP)—A special task force Wednesday urged President Kennedy to make a strong statement that he will not tinker with the value of the dollar. It also recommended that he push forward with the measures ordered by the Eisenhower administration to counter the drain on U.S. gold reserves.

The White House made public a 22-page report by the three-member study group which sought ways in which to reduce the U.S. balance of payments deficit and halt the heavy loss of gold.

"Psychologically," the report said, "what is needed is a strong affirmation by the president-in-office that we are going to maintain the present gold value of the dollar, and that we shall use whatever resources are necessary to this end."

The report added that Kennedy should make it clear "we are not going to tinker with the dollar" nor restrict the flow of funds between the United States and the rest of the world through exchange controls.

The chairman of the task force was Allan Sproul, former president of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. The other two committeemen were former members of the Council of Economic Advisors, Prof. Roy Blough of Columbia University and Prof. Paul W. McCracken of the University of Michigan.

Two important new measures also were advocated. The report said that among steps which "should clearly be taken now" would be the removal of tax incentives which encourage private American investment in other industrial countries and a reduction in the amount of foreign goods—now $500—which returning tourists may bring into the United States free of duty.

The task force also called for further efforts to increase exports and to persuade other countries to share a greater portion of the financing of free world defenses and of aid to emerging nations.

Death Toll Mounts

Marathon Sub-Zero Weather Hangs On

By United Press International

One of the bitterest cold waves on record clamped freezing misery on the North Wednesday and paralyzed southern cities with ice and snow.

The U.S. Weather Bureau chilled hopes of an early warmup. Instead, it predicted colder than normal temperatures during the next five days in nearly all the nation except California and Colorado.

The lowest officially recorded temperature in the nation, the 29 below at Caribou, Maine, was just one degree above the lowest temperature at the South Pole. In New England, it was Connecticut's coldest spell since 1917-1918.

As the total of sub-zero temperatures mounted, so did the toll of deaths caused by cold weather fires, exposure, over-exertion and weather related traffic accidents.

At least 12 persons died Wednesday in fires blamed on overtaxed stoves and heating appliances. Since Thursday, United Press International counted a total of 96 weather-blamed deaths —30 in Pennsylvania, 14 in North Carolina, 13 in New Jersey, 10 in Ohio, 8 in Florida, 5 in Texas, 4 in Kentucky, 3 in West Virginia, 2 each in Indiana, Minnesota and New York State, and 1 each in Illinois, Mississippi and Virginia.

During the coldest 24-hour span of the winter, the temperature dropped to 25 below at both International Falls and Bemidji, Minn., 21 below at Hastings, Mich. 20 below at Summersville, W. Va., 19 below at Minneapolis-St. Paul and Duluth, Minn., 13 below at Columbus, Ohio, and 10 below at Pittsburgh, Pa. Pittsburgh's low broke a Jan. 25 record set in 1897.

The Arctic air dome, centered over the Ohio River Valley, added the Deep South to its victims.

An ice and sleet storm crippled Birmingham and held traffic to a snail's pace across north central Alabama. Airliners were held up at the Birmingham airport until they could be de-iced. City buses twisted on icy roads, blocking some of them. At Mobile, ice closed down three schools.

Iced roads also closed schools in two northern Mississippi counties. The cold was moving in on Florida and promised sub-freezing temperatures in the state's northwest before dawn.

Laos Drive Stalled By Rebel Artillery

LUANG PRABANG, Laos (UPI) — Heavy artillery barrages from pro-Communist forces were reported Wednesday to have stalled a drive by Laotian government troops up the Vientiane - Luang Prabang highway aimed at trapping an estimated 1,000 rebels.

Military authorities said a royal Laotian army column driving north on the highway had run into stiff rebel resistance in its attempt to capture the strategic mountain town of Muong Kassy, 45 miles south of this royal capital.

The government column previously was reported within three miles of Muong Kassy. It was to have joined with another government force moving south to trap the rebels at the Sala Phou Khoun road junction, 35 miles southeast of here.

20 Castro Soldiers Reported Hanged

HAVANA (UPI) — Diplomatic sources said Wednesday they had been reliably informed that anti-Castro guerrillas in the Sierra de Escambray had hanged 20 of Fidel Castro's militiamen in reprisal against his resumption of firing squad executions.

The government so far has admitted only the execution by guerrillas of a Communist schoolteacher and two militiamen, an act which Castro vowed angrily would mean "total annihilation" for his foes.

The diplomatic sources said Castro's "shock" over the guerrillas' wholesale reprisals against his followers explained the sullen and depressed mood in which he appeared Monday night when he pledged his foes "tenacious, implacable persecution, the like of which they never imagined."

Freed Fliers Have Left For U.S., Soviet Reports

MOSCOW, Thursday (AP)—Two U. S. fliers, held here since July 1 and released by the Soviet Union, already have left for the United States, it was announced early Thursday.

Capt. John R. McKone of Topeka, Kan., and Capt. Freeman B. Olmstead of Elmira, N. Y., two survivors of a U. S. Air Force RB47 reconnaissance bomber shot down by a Soviet fighter last July, were handed over to U. S. authorities Thursday.

The Soviet Union announced the action Thursday, Soviet time, about an hour after word of their release was told to a news conference in Washington by President Kennedy.

The U. S. Embassy said the two men were brought to the embassy Wednesday. They remained for a time and then continued their journey to the United States.

The embassy observed strict secrecy as to their movements and the discussions between Soviet Premier Khrushchev and U. S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson that led up to their freedom.

The Soviet announcement said the prisoners were freed out of a "sincere desire to usher in a new stage in the relations between the Soviet government and the United States."

Tass, official Soviet news agency, said the decision was taken by the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet, or parliament.

The United States claimed the B47 was shot down over the Barents Sea. The Soviet Union charged they were over Soviet territory.

The Soviet announcement came less than an hour after President Kennedy disclosed the airmen's release.

No Deal Made For Release, Kennedy Says

President Asks Delay In Renewal Of Atom Ban Talks

AMSTERDAM, Netherlands (AP)—Two U. S. fliers, released by the Soviet Union after six months in prison, arrived here Thursday and took off for the United States after a short stop.

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy announced Wednesday night that the Soviet Union—with no concession in return — has released two U.S. fliers shot down over the arctic last July in an RB47 reconnaissance plane.

"The United States government," Kennedy said, "is gratified by this decision of the Soviet Union and considers that this action of the Soviet government removes a serious obstacle to the improvement of Soviet-American relations."

In Moscow, the Soviet Foreign Ministry announced that the Americans were released because of "a sincere desire to usher in a new stage in the relations between the Soviet government and the United States."

After the news conference the White House said Kennedy misstated the time of the fliers' release—that he meant to say 2 a.m. Wednesday instead of 2 a.m. Tuesday.

Session Shatters Precedent

This news of the fliers was the outstanding disclosure, among a number of others, at the new chief executive's first news conference since he took office Friday. It was a conference that was broadcast live over all radio and TV networks. It shattered precedents, drew what White House officials said was a record 418 newsmen, and lasted 36½ minutes.

On domestic matters, Kennedy told questioners he intends to send special messages to Congress soon on the problems of the gold outflow from the United States, unemployment, and stimulation of the economy.

The setting of the conference was the large auditorium in the new State Department Building —a shift from a crowded treaty room in the Executive Office Building across the street from the White House.

Kennedy 90 Seconds Late

Kennedy walked in at 6:01½ p.m., a minute and a half late. It was 6:38 when Marvin L. Arrowsmith of The Associated Press voiced the "Thank you, Mr. President," which always ends these sessions with reporters. Kennedy looked a bit startled, smiled and replied with a "thank you" of his own.

The release of the fliers, the President said, was discussed in a friendly conference last Saturday between Llewellyn Thompson, U. S. ambassador in Moscow, and Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

Kennedy also disclosed that this country has requested more time to prepare for resumption of talks on an atomic test ban at Geneva. These were scheduled to begin again Feb. 7. The President said this country has proposed they be put off until late March.

He volunteered a third announcement — that the United States also is increasing gifts of foods to relieve famine conditions in the Congo.

Wide-Ranging Conference

Then, in a free-wheeling question and answer session, covering both domestic and international affairs, the chief executive said that:

—The new administration is not considering restoring diplomatic relations with Cuba at this time.

—With respect to protecting voting rights of the people, a matter of civil rights, the administration "will pursue the problem of pro-

Kennedy Asks Action On Jobs Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy Wednesday called on Congress for prompt passage of legislation to provide federal grants and loans for redevelopment of the nation's depressed areas.

Kennedy sent letters to Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn, D-Tex., heartily endorsing the sweeping recommendations of his depressed areas task force headed by Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill.

Many recommendations of that report are embodied in a pending Senate bill by Douglas to provide about $390 million in federal funds for loans, technical help, and federal grants to foster the establishment and expansion of industries in cities having chronic unemployment problems.

Ship Seizure Turns Light On Portugal Dictatorship

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — As many Brazilians see it, the men who seized the liner Santa Maria struck a strong blow against Portugal's dictatorship by calling worldwide attention to it.

Brazil has the largest Portuguese colony outside Portugal, and sentiment Wednesday was building up in favor of Henrique Galvao and his band of political adventurers. Some of the newspapers were assailing the United states and Britain for sending patrols to hunt the Santa Maria—in effect, as they view it, playing the game of Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar of Portugal.

For years, rebels failed to ignite more than a spark of international resentment against Salazar while he won acceptance in councils of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and received a visit from President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

But recently Portugal has come under serious diplomatic attack, mainly from the new nations of Africa and Asia opposing what they regard as Salazar's unyielding colonial policies.

Stunts aimed at publicizing seemingly hopeless causes are nothing new. But the daring of Galvao in taking over a 20,000-ton ship, the second largest in Portugal's merchant fleet, has captured imaginations.

This giant South American country is a haven for Portuguese fleeing Salazar's dictatorship and his country's lack of economic opportunity. Here in Brazil, people speak the same language.

viding that protection with all vigor."

—Flights of U2 spy planes over the Soviet Union were suspended by the Eisenhower administration and "I have ordered that they not be resumed." Kennedy said the Russians understand the difference between such flights and those of the RB47 for reconnaissance purposes.

—The U. S. Navy "has not been given instructions to conduct boarding operations" against the seized Portuguese cruise ship Santa Maria. The ship has been spotted and present orders to the Navy are to accompany it.

—It is extremely important that House members have an opportunity to vote on programs he will put forward for the good of the country and "I hope that a small minority will not prevent the majority from voting on those bills." This was an allusion to an attempt of House leaders to boost the size of the rules committee, which can block legislation whenever Republicans and Southern Democrats team up.

—As for a possible meeting with Khrushchev, Kennedy said there is no change in his stated position—which has been that there must be proper advance preparation. There are no plans for such a meeting, he said, and the matter is unrelated to the release of the RB47 crew.

The two American fliers who have been freed are Capt. Freeman B. Olmstead of Elmira, N.Y., and Capt. John R. McKone of Topeka, Kan.

They had been held prisoner in Russia since their RB47 reconnaissance plane was downed by a Russian fighter over the Barents Sea last July 1.

The United States contended the plane was shot down over international waters; Russia contended it was over Soviet territory. Premier Nikita Khrushchev declared last year that they would be brought to trial on charges of espionage. The Russians up to now have turned a dead ear to American demands that the two men be released.

The two men, only apparent survivors of the six-man crew of the RB47, are believed to have been held in the Moscow vicinity.

Seating Of Jury For Rees Trial Expected Today

BALTIMORE (AP)—Questioning 50 of 85 jury panel members Wednesday consumed the first day of the kidnap trial of Melvin Davis Rees Jr. in U. S. District Court.

The dance band musician from Hyattsville, Md., is accused by Maryland and Virginia in the slayings two years ago of all four members of the Carroll V. Jackson Jr. family of Apple Grove, Va.

But the federal charges on which he is being tried allege only that he kidnaped Mrs. Mildred Ann Jackson, 27, and her 5-year-old daughter, Susan, whose bodies were found in Maryland.

It appeared likely a jury of 12 with four alternates would be seated Thursday, probably soon enough to permit opening statements by opposing attorneys.

This would leave little time for testimony until Monday, however, because the federal court recesses trial cases for three days on weekends.

The only thing which broke the monotony of the tedious jury questioning was disagreement between Chief District Judge Roszel C. Thomsen and defense attorneys William J. Evans and William J. O'Donnell.

Each of the 50 prospective jurors was asked about a dozen questions prepared by the prosecution and defense. Judge Thomsen read most of them, defense counsel the others.

Nine were stricken from the panel, six because they said they had objections to capital punishment. The Lindbergh law under which Rees was indicted carries a maximum penalty of death—if the jury recommends it — and the government is expected to ask for it.

Panel members' answers to other questions brought five challenges from defense attorneys and led to several exchanges of sharp words between the lawyers and the judge. The judge said he would rule on the challenges later.

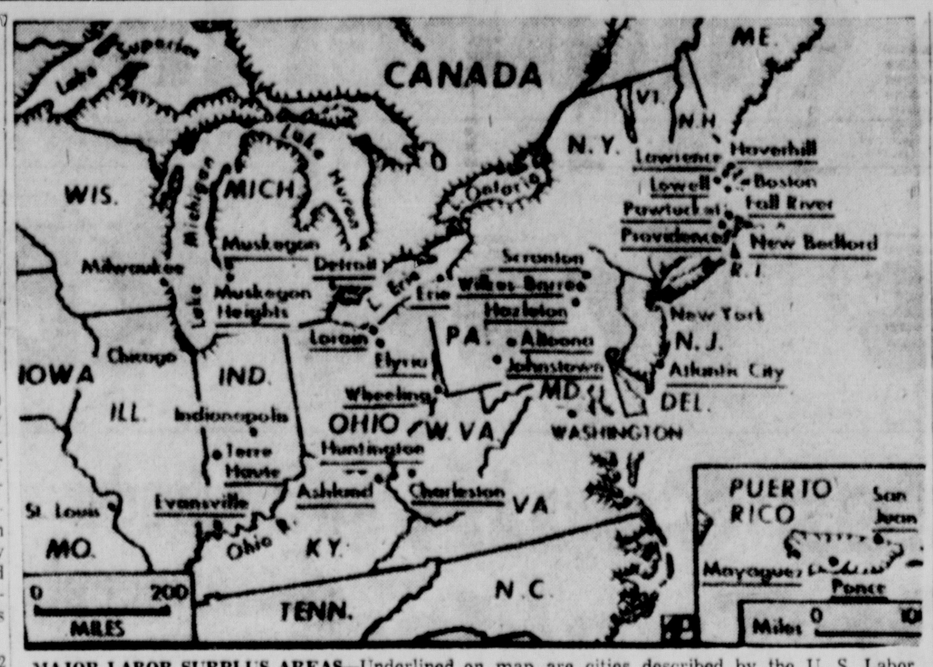

One question which caused trouble was whether indictment of a defendant by the grand jury carried any presumption of guilt with the prospective juror.

Eric Johnston Aide Dies At Bethesda

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gerald W. Movius, an assistant to Eric Johnston, president of the Motion Picture Association of America, died Wednesday in Suburban Hospital at Bethesda, Md.

Movius, a native of Bowbells, N.D., was a former newspaperman and free lance magazine writer who joined Johnston's staff in 1945 when the latter was president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

Survivors include his wife, of Rockville, Md.

MAJOR LABOR SURPLUS AREAS—Underlined on map are cities described by the U. S. Labor Department as "major areas of substantial and persistent labor surplus." (AP Photofax)

Depressed Areas Islands Of Poverty In Sea Of Plenty

EDITOR'S NOTE: Islands of poverty in a sea of plenty—such are the depressed labor areas of the nation. In the following, the first of a series of stories on a tour of the depressed areas, Nate Polowetzky, Associated Press assistant general business editor, outlines the general picture.

By NATE POLOWETZKY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ghost towns with decaying homes and hungry children, empty mines and idle steel plants, long lines of grim men collecting unemployment payments and fruitlessly seeking jobs.

These are scenes prevailing in many parts of the United States, especially in the huge land mass stretching down from New England, through some of the Middle Atlantic states, down the Appalachian Mountain range and a bit west.

To economists and statisticians these are places of substantial and persistent labor surplus.

In simpler terms they are the depressed areas of the nation, where an economic blight has sat for some years, reviving memories of the worst of the depression days of the 1930's.

They are unique in that the areas improve not at all, or only a little, as the nation's economic health gets better, but get worse in times of mildest recession, or as changes develop in consumer or industrial tastes.

President Kennedy has given top priority to legislation aimed at curing the illness.

A Senate bill by Illinois' economist-senator, Paul Douglas, calls for government loans and grants to build new plants in industrial and rural areas, help attract new industries by improving public facilities, aid in the retraining of workers to qualify them for new jobs, and to provide backing for technical assistance such as studies to determine the economic potential of a distressed area.

There are many leaders in the areas, however, who see no hope for a solution in the foreseeable future. They look upon federal aid only as a temporary help.

Some business and management leaders, too, declare the only solution can come from the affected communities in a sort of "Bootstrap" operation to improve present industrial plants and attract new industries by creating what they call a favorable business climate.

Summing up the situation of unemployed workers in the depressed areas, one West Virginia observer said: "they are casualties of the economy, just as soldiers are casualties of war."

The depressed areas are part of an economic picture which sees the United States in a recession, with 4½ million persons unemployed and the figure likely to reach another million in another month or two.

The "soaring sixties" failed to get off the ground last year. The economy demonstrated it had not really recovered from the 1958 recession. Old industries didn't expand and provide new jobs for a growing labor force. New industries couldn't take up the slack.

Dr. Ralph Robey, economic advisor of the National Association of Manufacturers, believes one of the reasons for the dip was the "profit squeeze."

"The fact that business profits have shown no growth at all for a decade undoubtedly has a great deal to do with the present lack of buoyancy in our economy," he said. He said businessmen didn't have enough profits left over to reinvest and that the level of profits wasn't enough to attract new investment.

Most economists now predict a definite business pickup for at least the latter part of the year. There probably will be more investment and reinvestment, and an easing of some taxes.

But the outlook is still gloomy for the depressed areas, which may show little improvement.

According to the Labor Department there are some 95 major and smaller such areas. Douglas estimates that some 15 to 20 million people live in these sections and approximately 600,000 of them are unemployed. This may be a conservative estimate.

The unemployment rate in these areas averages 12 per cent of the civilian labor force—the nation's figure is 6.4 while in some sections it goes as high as 25 per cent or more.

French Reds Admit Rift In Leadership

PARIS (UPI) — The French Communist party admitted Wednesday night there was a rift in its leadership and issued a call to members to rally around party boss Maurice Thorez.

The party's political bureau called a special meeting Wednesday night to discuss the split which developed as a result of President Charles de Gaulle's victory in the Jan. 8 referendum on Algeria.

Following the meeting which lasted several hours, the politburo issued a statement denouncing two of its members, Marcel Servin and Laurent Casanova for disagreeing with the party line in Algeria in an "opportunist manner."

Informed sources said the rift involved two factions within the party hierarchy over basic tactics the Communists should adopt in the face of De Gaulle's demonstrated popularity with a large majority of the French people.

Atom Power Seen As Key To Space

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Nuclear power may be the key to the conquest of space by manned vehicles, the general manager of the Atomic Energy Commission said Wednesday.

Maj. Gen. A. R. Luedecke, speaking at the dedication of a 10-kilowatt nuclear reactor at the University of Maryland, said nuclear power also will be used in agriculture, medicine and industry.

But, he added, though it is a responsibility of the Atomic Energy Commission to provide leadership to assure that America remains in the forefront of atomic development, it is the responsibility of universities to provide future nuclear scientists and engineers.

"It is clear that the colleges and universities of the United states must be looked to to provide atomic scientists and engineers trained in nuclear technology."

Wife Beater Dies Of Overexertion

SHENANDOAH, Pa. (UPI) — Mrs. Dora Baranowski, 73, ran into a neighbor's house Wednesday and said she fled from her home when her husband started beating her about the head with a hatchet wrapped in a towel.

Police went to the Baranowski home and found the husband, Stanley, 70, a retired coal miner, dead on the kitchen floor, the hatchet beside him.

Dr. Joseph Tomlin said death was due to a heart attack induced by overexertion.

Mrs. Baranowski treated at a hospital for head lacerations. Her condition was reported good.

Peanut Butter Will Be Given To Needy

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Agriculture Department said Wednesday it will soon add peanut butter to the list of foods donated to needy families.

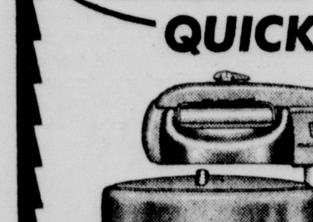

The department said the step will be taken to comply with Preside... Kennedy's directive to expand the quantity and variety of foods in the relief program.

Under the program, the government donates food — some taken from its surplus stockpiles and some bought for the operation — for distribution to needy families by state and local welfare authorities.

The first vessel to use radar was the USS New York in 1938.

Secrets Of Charm

Achieve Grace In Alighting From A Car

In this nation on wheels caught in the "racy" spirit of the sports-car trend fashion is really on the go. The interese in American and foreign sportscars has grown by leaps and bounds. Women have taken to the open road in clothes that are especially suitable and put them in the best-dressed outdoor list.

Complete and colorful outfits and accessories have been made so women can match their cars. Snug scarfs and hoods to keep the hair from blowing; large handbags called "car totes"; umbrellas; jewelry; slim, tapered trousers; short jackets for easy sliding in and out of cars, scarves with various car and signal motifs are in the lineup. There's no limit to the fashions this sportscar age inspires.

But, with all this perfection and fuss...one important factor may have been overlooked. How many women have given any thought on how they look getting in and out of a low-slung car?

To achieve grace and ease on leaving a car, slide over to the end of the seat. Reach out sidewise with the foot nearest the door until it touches the ground. Then give a little push with the foot that remains in the car and use the momentum gathered to lift up and out of the car in a sidewise position (this has to be done with a confident grace that only practice can make perfect). You let your head and shoulders lead . . trusting the hips to follow. Last, but not least . . bring the feet together on the ground and do a quick, graceful right-about-face. You're grounded . . . and charmingly!

HEALTH AND SPARKLING PERSONALITY GO HAND IN HAND . . . and both add up to teen-age charm. "Personality Plus Through Diet," a new teen-slanted charm aid, gives you easy, scientific information to build a healthier, more personable you. To get your copy, send 25c and your name and address to "Secrets of Charm," c/o this paper.

Industry Denounces Md. Tax Bill As "Vicious"

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Industry representatives Wednesday denounced as "vicious" a bill before the Maryland Legislature to tax equipment and land leased by private industry from the federal or state governments.

Chief objectors at a Senate Finance Committe hearing represented the Martin Co., Fairchild Engine and Aircraft Co., Westinghouse Corp. and ACF Industries.

They said the bill might look like "a luscious windfall" for the state and its county governments now, but said such a law would wind up driving industries out of Maryland.

The proposed tax primarily would affect defense industries which lease tools and equipment directly from the federal government for manufacturing missiles, aircraft and other specialized equipment.

State tax officials estimated that a similar bill in 1959 would add $125 million in leasehold real estate to state and county tax rolls.

Albert W. Ward, director of the Department of Assessments and taxation, said Wednesday the figures would be somewhat less now because of a "shrinkage in inventories" — but still would involve a considerable amount of money.

The bill, sponsored by Sen. James A. Pine, D-Balto County, is similar to a measure which has failed twice before in the legislature.

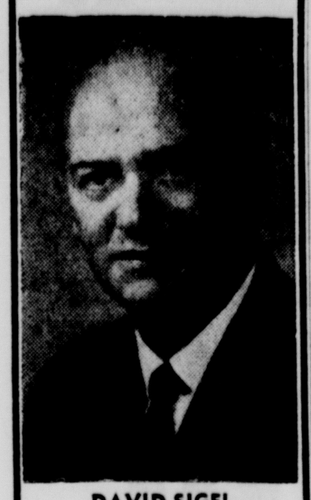

Joseph S.Kaufman, assistant attorney general, told the committee "states generally are taxing this type of property." He mentioned New York, California, Pennsylvania and New Jersey among others.

As a test case, the state has attempted to tax this type of property held by the Martin Co. and has won its case in lower court. It has been appealed by the company to the State Court of Appeals with arguments scheduled in March.

William B. Rafferty, representing Martin, Westinghouse and ACF Industries at the hearing, told the committee it should not attempt to adopt such a tax policy with the question still to be settled in the courts.

Liquor Stamp Plan Opposed

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—A statewide organization of county officials asked the legislature Wednesday to make no change in the system of requiring Maryland tax stamps on bottles of whisky sold in the state.

Over the objections of State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein, the Legislative Council has recommended that the stamping system be abandoned. Goldstein contends this would result in increased bootlegging and decreased state revenues from the whisky tax.

H. T. Slaughter of Talbot County, president of the State Association of County Commissioners, advised the legislature of the group's endorsement of Goldstein's stand in a formal "memorial," or official paper addressed to the Senate and House of Delegates.

The association noted Goldstein argued that only the liquor industry would benefit and the State might be hurt if the stamp system were abandoned.

City Workers Are Approved

The promotions of several city employes, previously approved by the Mayor and Council, have been ratified by the Civil Service Commission.

Young has been watchman since the death of Guy F. Long, it was noted at the council meeting. Folk previously had been a laborer in the Street Department.

Man Given 30 Days For Disturbance

Robert Nave, Pennsylvania Avenue, a local baker, was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail Tuesday in default of a fine of $25 and $4.50 court costs.

The man was convicted in Trial Magistrates Court by Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt on a charge of disturbing the peace and using loud and profane language. The charge was preferred by residents of Pioneer Place.

Nave was also given a suspended sentence of 30 days and paroled on condition that he refrain from drink, keep the peace, and stay away from the families who preferred the charges.

Personal Income Sets A Record

An economic wag has called the current economic state in the United States the most prosperous recession in history.

If there were any justification for the alleged witticism, it was in the fact that total personal income had been rising monthly for more than a year. This was achieved in the face of increasing unemployment and declining industrial production. But the paradox has come to an end.

The turnabout came in November. From a record annual rate of $409.5 billion in October, the personal income rate dropped to $409 billion in the following month and down to $406.7 billion in December.

Nonetheless, for the full year it was a record for personal income. Despite the November-December drop, this key economic indicator in 1960 averaged out at $404.2 billion, an increase of nearly 5½ per cent over 1959's rate of $383.3 billion.

The December drop is the first real indication that the recession has cut into consumer purchasing power. But this doesn't prove that consumers do not have the money to spend. Personal savings, in one form or another, have been on the increase. All consumers need is a little confidence.

Henry Ford, Contributor To GOP, Helps With Democratic Deficit

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Henry Ford II has always been a generous contributor to the Republican party, but this year he found himself contributing to the campaign debt of the Democrats.

Just before the Inauguration, Mr. Ford's representative turned up in the office of Matt McCloskey, the Philadelphia builder who has worked so hard as treasurer of the Democratic National Committee.

He said: "Because Mr. McNamara is in the cabinet Mr. Ford would like to come down for the Inauguration and wants eight tickets for the Inaugural Gala."

"That will cost him $800," replied McCloskey. "But a box holds ten. Why doesn't Mr. Ford take a box instead?"

"That might be a good idea, replied the Ford representative. "That will cost him $10,000."

"Oh, Mr. McCloskey," moaned the Ford Emissary. "Mr. Ford would fire me if I paid that much."

"He'll fire you if you come back with the seats I'm going to give you if you don't take a box," replied the man who has raised so much money for the Democratic Party.

"But look what we've done for the Democrats. We've given you Mr. McNamara for Secretary of Defense."

"You didn't give him to us. He quit and we hired him," countered McCloskey.

JFK — Eight Years Ago

Eight years is a relatively short time in the life span of man. But eight years ago from the day that John F. Kennedy took the oath as President of the United States things were quite different.

Here is what the President of the United States did on January 20, 1953, as Dwight D. Eisenhower was inagurated.

He gave a diner that night in the Georgetown house he had rented from Dr. Samuel A. Alexander at 3271 P Street. Having rented the house a few days before, and being a 35-year-old bachelor, he hadn't bothered to look the house over. At the last minute he discovered there was no stove. There was also no hot water.

Actually it was the family cook, Margaret Ambrose, flown down from Hyannis Port, Mass., for the occasion who made this discovery when she started to cook dinner. Twelve guests had been invited, but there was no stove. George, the butler, was sent out to buy a hot plate.

Jacqueline Bouvier, who was to become Mrs. Kennedy later that September, was one of the guests. And the Senator, who had taken the oath only two weeks before, drove to her home to pick her up—something he seldom did with others. The Kennedy sisters were also present, still single, and Jackie looked a bit horrified when they engaged in "Indian wrestling" before dinner. This was rather a rough game which sometimes found the participants wrapped inside rugs on the floor.

However, it took a long time to cook dinner—on that one hot plate—even though the cook resorted to hamburgers.

The other guests included Joan Lawler, Langdon Marvin, a cousin of Franklin Roosevelt, and Lemoyne Billings of New York. After the dinner was over—very late—the problem arose of getting to the Eisenhower Ball. Unlike the retinue of limousines and Secret Service cars that escorted Mr. Kennedy to five different Inaugural balls on January 20, 1961, he could find no car on January 20, 1953.

But one thing remained the same. It was snowing.

Langdon Marvin had rented a Diamond Taxi, however, and most of the guests piled into that.

Kennedy, a very freshman Senator, hadn't enough pull to get a box at the ball. But he finally got there, and danced on that crowded floor—almost unnoticed. To the very few who did notice him, not one would have dreamed that eight years later he would be the President of the United States.

African Oversight

Last fall this column called attention to President Eisenhower's failure to see new African Presidents and Premiers when he went to New York for the UN Assembly, thereby letting Premier Khrushchev make a lot of hay by attending all sorts of African receptions.

Last week President Kennedy also failed to show at a special reception given in honor of the 16 new African republics, though he found time to attend all sorts of other parties.

The reception was given by the older African ambassadors for the new African ambassadors whose countries have just attained their independence. And since Kennedy as a Senator was a pioneer for African independence, everyone expected him to be present.

African ambassadors were delighted, though not surprised, when Kennedy accepted. They were crestfallen when he failed to turn up.

Instead, Kennedy attended a big reception thrown by Bart Lytton, the Los Angeles savings and loan banker, at the Statler, three blocks away from the African reception.

African disappointment increased when later the President turned up at various private parties, as late as 3:30 a. m.

Note — Mennen "Soapy" Williams, six times governor of Michigan and new Assistant Secretary of State for Africa, partly made up for Kennedy's absence. He came early, stayed late. Instead of standing around and smiling, as do most State Department officials, he buttonholed ambassadors, discussed their problems, and three hours later, when almost everyone else had left, was still going strong.

Reporter's Memories Of Other Inaugurations

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — All Inaugural ceremonies are inspiring, and the addresses usually produce a thrill and widespread approbation. But memories are short. How many people can recall what happened even as recently as the first Eisenhower Inauguration? Here is a dispatch by this writer just eight years ago.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20 (1953)—An unforgettable Inaugural . . . the transfer of authority . . . solemnly and yet with a spontaneous cheer . . echoes of a triumphant election conducted by the people freely . . . few places on earth where such freedom prevails.

The outgoing President participating and showing loyalty to free institutions . . . The new President taking the oath . . . "to preserve, protect, and defend the Constitution" . . . A kiss first for the First Lady and then a prayer of dedication.

Now the Inaugural Address . . . The people packed in the streets before him . . . the sun casting its warm glow . . . the words coming clear over the great esplanade on the East Front of the Capitol . . . heard also around the world through radio . . . the ceremony itself seen by millions through television . . . in the presence of the Senate, the House, the Supreme Court, the diplomatic corps.

A message of hope, of high purpose and of resolution. One excerpt tells it all—the way to inevitable peace:

"To produce this unity, to meet the challenge of our time, destiny has laid upon our country the responsibility of the free world's leadership. So it is proper that we assure our friends once again that, in the discharge of this responsibility, we Americans know and observe the difference between world leadership and imperialism; between firmness and truculence; between a thoughtfully calculated goal and spasmodic reaction to the stimulus of emergencies.

"We wish our friends the world over to know this above all: we face the threat—not with dread and confusion — but with confidence and conviction."

The applause rings out . . . for those few words proclaim the new policy—"a thoughtfully calculated goal" and not the opportunism of "spasmodic reaction" to recurrent crises reminding us of our lack of firmness to meet the first crisis. Never, he adds, must we be "proven guilty of the one capital offense against freedom, a lack of staunch faith."

The phrases are pregnant with meaning . . . implicit rather than explicit, but penetrating thoughts just the same . . . Especially significant the sentences: "We must be ready to dare all for our country . . . we must be willing, individually and as a nation, to accept whatever sacrifices are required of us . . . we must acquire proficiency in defense and display stamina of purpose."

Firmness, strength, steadfastness, courage, bravery . . . a readiness to face the bluff of the Russian tyrant with the moral force of our united peoples . . . the goal is clearly pointed out—the "winning of the peace."

Memories of other inaugurations . . . January 20, 1949, when Harry Truman stood there humbly and without rancor . . . January 20, 1945, when Franklin Roosevelt wasn't able to go to the Capitol but stood on the White House balcony . . . his face haggard and pale . . . his cheeks sunken as his son James lifted him to the pedestal to speak the Inaugural message . . . less than ninety days later the President was dead.

Back to March 4, 1933, when the same man in vibrant phrases, with strength of voice and body, said, "The only thing we have to fear is fear itself."

Back to March 4, 1913, when Woodrow Wilson, with the finest phrases of them all—not a word written for him—spoke his message of inspiration as the Democrats took over for the first time since 1897 . . . a span of sixteen years.

Then, on March 4, 1921, when a Republican took over again . . . Woodrow Wilson, victorious leader in World War I but now enfeebled . . unable to walk to the front of the Capitol . . . bidding his successor, Warren Harding, good luck in the Vice President's room where the outgoing President had come to sign last-minute bills . . . Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge, the elder—archfoe of the League of Nations and of Wilson—standing nearby . . . the cold look that Wilson gave him . . . the polite, deferential Harding helping the broken Wilson to his feet . . . Harding taking the oath a few minutes later alone on the East Front, happy, hopeful, solemn.

Memories of William Howard Taft as he said farewell at Union Station, too, of March 4, 1913 . . . a reporter asking him what he would miss most . . . "Ah," he said, "the power, the power of the Presidency."

Thoughts of Truman . . . the power he had . . . the power we bestow on all our Presidents . . . they little realize sometimes that it is temporary and transient . . . the true power is with the people, to repudiate them or enshrine them . . . wondering if we will be patient, unpartisan, tolerant till we see.

Maybe we can be.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Statement Of Policy

In his Inaugural Address, President Kennedy laid down his policy. Kennedy said:

"Let every nation know, whether it wish us well or ill, that we shall pay any price, bear any burden, meet any hardship, support any friend, oppose any foe to assure the survival and success of liberty.

"This much we pledge—and more."

Then he restated the Monroe Doctrine in his own words:

"To our sister republics south of our border, we offer a special pledge—to convert our good words into good deeds—in a new alliance for progress—to assist free men and free governments in casting off the chains of poverty. But this peaceful revolution of hope cannot become the prey of hostile powers. Let all our neighbors know that we shall join with them to oppose aggression or subversion anywhere in the Americas. And let every other power know that this hemisphere intends to remain the master of its own house."

In many respects this statement is as strong, if not stronger than the original Monroe Doctrine. In fact, Kennedy issued a threat—clearly a threat—to those nations "who would make themselves our adversary."

"Finally, to those nations who would make themselves our adversary, we offer not a pledge but a request: that both sides begin anew the quest for peace, before the dark powers of destruction unleashed by science engulf all humanity in planned or accidental self-destruction.

"We dare not tempt them with weakness. For only when our arms are sufficient beyond doubt can we be certain beyond doubt that they will never be employed."

If these statements are put together, they become a guiding policy, namely, that the United States will prepare vigorously for war, if it should come; that the United States has no program of appeasement but does have a program of the defense of liberty and territorial independence, for all peoples, particularly for those of the Americas.

The United States seeks peace and is willing to negotiate for peace, but it will not negotiate from fear. He said:

"So let us begin anew—remembering on both sides that civility is not a sign of weakness, and sincerity is always subject to proof. Let us never negotiate out of fear. But let us never fear to negotiate."

Khrushchev understands precisely what all this means. He will excerpt these paragraphs as they are excerpted here; he will tear the thought out of the verbiage and recognize that he is dealing with a tough hombre, who does not speak soft or act soft. All this will be clear to the Russian. He is warned that good manners are "not a sign of weakness," but their lack can engender disgust. If Khrushchev believes that Kennedy is a sissy and that he can hurl a shoe at him, he is mistaken.

On the other hand, President Kennedy must recognize that Soviet Russia cannot relinquish its main objective which is to reduce the entire world to an acceptance of Marxist sociology and economics. Whereas Khrushchev masks his intentions behind such generous phrases as competitive co-existence, Mao Tze-tung is more honest and frank. Mao, as an orthodox Communist, desires a war upon the United States immediately. In the recent great conference in Moscow, Mao's insistence upon war was voted down, but every statement out of Peking establishes his moral rejection of the Kremlin decision. Mao has a famine to look after; otherwise he would not have retreated.

President Kennedy in his Inaugural says he will not make Harry Truman's mistake about "good, old Joe." He said: "Sincerity is always subject to proof." So, Kennedy is in no hurry:

"All this will not be finished in the first 100 days. Nor will it be finished in the first 1,000 days, nor in the life of this Administration, nor even perhaps in our lifetime on this planet . . ."

Surely, the course toward understanding did not begin with this Inaugural Address. It began when Franklin D. Roosevelt and Winston Churchill rescued Stalin from defeat and were rewarded by treachery. It began when the United States gave Soviet Russia $11,000,000,000 to found the industry which is now being used against us. It began at Teheran and Yalta. It was continued at Camp David and before that at the First Summit Conference. "Let us begin" — is not historically correct. "Let us try again after many failures and disappointments," would have been more accurate.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

CHESTER BOWLES — Oddly enough, the one Kennedy nominee most familiar with Asiatic affairs and most highly thought of by officials of that region faced confirmation difficulties on Capitol Hill.

Former Rep. Chester Bowles, Connecticut Democrat and one-time U.S. Ambassador to India, ran into senatorial opposition to his appointment to the State Department. The reason: Bowles has spoken favorably of a "two-Chinas" policy for the U.S., which implies that Red China would be seated in the U.N. and Nationalist China, with headquarters on Formosa, would retain her seat in the body.

Bowles has discussed this plan in an effort to find a realistic solution to the diplomatic impasse created by the present American position. But a number of Senators who have delivered fiery speeches opposing recognition of Red China under any circumstances objected to being put on the spot by being asked to vote for confirmation of a man with such beliefs.

GROWING CAPITAL — Like most everything else these days, the capital is growing. A part of its growth program calls for clearing a two-block area adjacent to the present grounds either for a park or for an addition to the Library of Congress.

Trouble is that the section is one of the attractive areas for individuals who like to buy and restore old houses. Some of the ranges in prices offered by the government are quite fantastic.

One row of three outwardly identical homes were offered at $16,500, $19,000 and $23,800. Obviously that first fellow is unhappy.

Two outwardly identical row houses were tagged at $17,000 and $28,500. A home next to a congressman's Washington residence was priced at $23,500; the congressman's larger home was labeled at $52,500.

Anyone who doesn't want to accept the offered price may go to court for a determination. It looks like there'll be a heavily loaded case docket.

One factor apt to work a hardship on owners: they must vacate by May 1, whether or not their money is still tied up awaiting a court determination.

Strange Bedfellows

By John Crosby

In the beautifully written Inaugural Address, the paragraph that attracted me most and attracted the attention of the editorial writers, too, was this: 'To those people in the huts and villages of half the globe struggling to break the bonds of mass misery, we pledge our best efforts to help them help themselves, for whatever period is required—not because the Communists may be doing it, not because we seek their votes, but because it is right. If a free society cannot help the many who are poor, it cannot save the few who are rich."

It's a noble paragraph. It is unusual, almost unprecedented, for a politician to appeal to naked morality, to urge a position simply because it is right. For one thing, it takes great confidence in one's rightness. Winston Churchill was the last politician to speak of naked virtue with such confidence. But then Churchill had a World War at his back and wars spur politicians to giving tongue to moral utterance for lack of anything else to utter.

Courage, candor, a sense of style, and a high nobility—it took all these things to form that paragraph. However, it'll take much more of all those qualities to face the true implications of that pledge to help break the bonds of mass misery. That is, if that paragraph was intended to be taken seriously rather than simply meant as high flown oratory.

For the rest of the problem of mass misery is mass. We can open our hearts and open our granaries until the hearts are bled white and the granaries are empty—and still we shall not even begin to approach a solution to the problem of mass misery. There is only one solution and that is population control. And that, in bluntest terms, means birth control. And that, in bluntest terms, is modern contraception, the greatest invention of the nineteenth century.

This planet was not designed to hold three billion people (which will be its population any minute now) without a vast amount of mass misery. It's even less designed to hold six billion which will be its population in the year 2000. Just how many people will the planet hold comfortably? It's a moot point. Some say fifty billion—but life would resemble anthood rather than manhood. The fact that this figure is not more openly discussed and studied is in itself a shocking dereliction of public responsibility.

The most forceful opposition to artificial birth control in our half of the planet comes from the Roman Catholic Church. Population explosion is what mass misery is, and, if President Kennedy really is serious about relieving it, it means a break—on that subject at least—with his own church. (He differed sharply with some of the hierarchy on other issues—aid to parochial schools and the appointment of a minister to the Vatican). But many are guilty in addition to the Church in this matter. The press itself has dragged one foot in covering this—either the biggest or the second biggest story of our time—partly because of clerical opposition. That's not the only reason. Like inflation, the population explosion is a tough story to cover, shadowy and hard to report on a day-by-day basis.

The President talks of mass misery in half the globe, but we'll have the same mass misery here, too, unless unbridled population is checked. The strangulation of our cities which is already well-advanced, the shortages of schools and roads and housing, the taking out of agriculture of a million acres of farmland a year for the private enrichment of real estate speculators to build new suburbs upon, the growing anguish of the suburbanites at traveling farther and farther to work, at the difficulty of finding a parking place when he gets there or a seat on the train—what are all these but aspects of the population explosion?

To the Communist hierarchy the population explosion is the greatest of blessings, increasing mass starvation and mass unrest far beyond their poor power to stir up trouble. And to Wall Street the population explosion is marvelous news. All those mouths to feed, and provide schoolbooks for, and to clothe and sell soap to.

So, without any of them being quite aware how it came about, we find the Catholic Church, the Communist Party, and Wall Street all in the same bed. Dogma makes strange bedfellows.

Appetite Fluctuations Normal In Small Tots

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Many feeding problems stem from unintentional mistakes of parents. They become overly concerned about Junior's diet or are unaware of the normal fluctuations in appetite that take place in the growing child.

The chief occupations of an infant during the first year of life are eating and growing. During the second year he starts walking and exploring his new world. Food takes a back seat and, as a result, problems along this line can be anticipated in the toddler.

We can expect appetite to wane during the second year of life. The average baby gains two pounds a month in the first half year of life, and in the second year, the average gain is only half this figure.

The new mother will be ahead of the game when she anticipates feeding problems between the first and second birthday. Besides becoming more interested in his environment, he realizes he is an individual with a mind of his own. Everything is going fine when suddenly he takes a dislike to carrots, mashed potatoes, milk, or butter.

When this occurs, the wise mother gets out the list of foods and checks those that might appeal to the youngster. There is a good possibility that a variety of dishes from the list will contain the basic elements of a balanced diet. The child who refuses oatmeal may accept a dry cereal, crackers, or bread. These foods are interchangeable. If the tot turns against vegetables, cereals, and milk, he may take fruit or meat.

Occasionally the small fry go on a food jag and concentrate on two or three items. There is no harm in this practice because most of these binges are temporary. The only time the mother needs to put her foot down is when the child insists upon candy, cake, and pop to the exclusion of other foods.

TOMORROW: Effects of weather on asthma.

BPOKEN JAW

H. W. writes: About a year ago I suffered multiple fractures of the lower jaw. Since then my chin and lower lip have been numb but recently a pins-and-needle sensation is occurring. Is there any chance that I will recover completely from this mishap?

REPLY

Sensation may return even though a year has passed since the accident. Apparently the nerve was injured in the mishap. Why not bring this to the attention of your physician for a more thorough study of the problem?

POST-MORTEMS

M. G. writes: Why would a doctor perform an autopsy on a patient who had an incurable disease for which there is no treatment?

REPLY

This is done only if permission is given by the next of kin. A postmortem might offer a clew as to a possible cure or give other information that would be of help to others who develop the same disease.

LIVER ENLARGEMENT

J. C. A. writes: Does an enlarged liver mean cirrhosis?

REPLY

There are many reasons why the liver enlarges, of which cirrhosis is one. Special tests are needed to determine the cause.

SALIVARY GLANDS

Mrs. L. writes: What causes excess saliva during pregnancy?

REPLY

The cause is not known but excessive salivation tends to diminish during the latter part of pregnancy.

To the limit of space questions pertinent to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

Comment by a school teacher at a recent Ohio conclave: The procedure for failing a high school student these days has become so complicated that we just don't do it any more. First we must clear with the principal and superintendent. Then we must call the parents and have a series of conferences. If they object, as they usually do, they appear before the Board of Education and we are overruled. So we don't fail a student any more. We just give him a D and pass the problem along to the teacher in the next higher class."

HOLLYWOOD

By Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—You can write off Judy Garland's plans to live in England. She's rented an apartment in New York and put the children in school and there's more to this than meets the eye.

Abby Mann, who will direct Judy's "Cameo" appearance in "Judgment at Nuremburg" has written a musical for the screen and all the time he's been in New York he's been talking to Judy about starring in it. In fact, Judy and Mann went together to talk with Richard Rodgers about doing the music.

Judy comes to Hollywood for her scenes in "Nuremburg." The only member of the cast making the trek to Germany for 10 days of location shooting is Spencer Tracy.

Elvis Presley's stepmother, Mrs. Vernon Presley, is in a hospital in Memphis recovering from major abdominal surgery. Not wanting to worry Elvis while he was working in Hollywood, she asked that he not be told until he arrived in Memphis over last weekend.

When Elvis came to see me recently, he was upset over gossip that he is unhappy about his father's marriage. "There's not a word of truth in it," he said so sincerely I knew he meant it. "She's a nice woman. I like her, and I'm glad my dad is happy."

How about this—pretty Mary Douvan, Sandra Dee's young mother, has a romance going with Italian shipping magnate Leonardo Conti. She met him in Portofino when Sandra was shooting "Come September" there.

These transatlantic calls Mary's getting from the attractive Italian are doing much to keep her from being lonesome since Sandy became Mrs. Bobby Darin. The last time he called he told Mary he expected to be in California after a short business trip to Egypt. "No marriage plans or anything like that," protests Mary, "but Sandra and Bobby like him, too."

Bet MGM would like to put an adhesive sticker on Arthur Kennedy's mouth. Winding up "Claudelle Inglish" at Warners, Arthur said right out loud that he leaves for London in a few weeks for Agatha Christie's new movie chiller, "Miss Miss Marple," and that in it he plays the murderer! As in Alfred Hitchcock's mysteries, no one is supposed to reveal who done-'em-in in an Agatha Christie who-dun-it.

Oh well, by the time the chiller starts with Arthur and English actress Margaret Rutherford in the top spots, maybe his slip of the tongue will be forgotten.

Barron Urged To Introduce Income Tax Bill

Legislators Say Opposition Mounts

By BILL BARRETT

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Top leaders of the West Virginia Legislature conferred Wednesday with Gov. W. W. Barron and urged against any further delay in introduction of his state income tax proposal.

The governor reportedly told Senate President Howard Carson and House Speaker Julius Singleton that the bill would be ready for introduction by Friday. There already is strong opposition to an income tax.

Meanwhile, House Minority Leader George H. Seibert Jr., R-Ohio and Del. Charles E. Lohr, D-Mercer, disclosed that they will introduce a bill Thursday to raise the consumer sales tax from 2 to 3 cents on the dollar on a permanent basis, with groceries and prescription drugs exempted.

Lohr, serving his first term in the House, said enactment of such a tax would favor pensioners, those on social security and working men with large families whose biggest expenditures are for food and medicine.

'Invited' Bill

Seibert unsuccessfully sought to amend the temporary sales tax increase bills passed in the first three days of the session.

However, Majority Leader W. T. Brotherton, D-Kanawha practically invited introduction of a new bill along that line while leading the fight against it. He said such a measure should be considered by the finance committee before being brought to the floor for a vote.

Senate Minority Leader John Carrigan, R-Marshall indicated he would sponsor a similar bill in the Senate before the week end.

Carson and Singleton reportedly told Barron in their 30-minute conference Wednesday morning that each day of delay in introducing the income tax bill would mean it would be that much harder to pass.

Singleton said afterward that he would hold an afternoon session rather, than the usual Friday morning meeting, to receive the income tax bill, if necessary.

The sales tax measure to be sponsored by Seibert and Lohr would impose a penny tax on sales from 6 cents to 35 cents; 2 cents from 36 cents to 65 cents; and 3 cents from 66 cents to $1.

Would Raise $1.5 Million

It was estimated the tax would produce about $1.5 million more than the approximately $32 million annually now collected from the tax.

The House adopted one resolution and sent it to the Senate for concurrence. Sponsored by Del. Clarence E. Creek, D-Pleasants, it suggested that all branches of government have a picture of historical interest printed on the reverse side of envelopes used in mailing purposes to advertise West Virginia.

Another resolution, by Del. D. P. Given, D-Webster, requesting the State Senate to forfeit its telephone credit card privileges as an economy move, was defeated on a voice vote.

Brotherton led the fight against it. He said that while he favors this, the House has no business trying to interfere in Senate business any more than the Senate should try to tell the House how to run its affairs. The House has removed phone credit card privileges of members.

She arranged the meeting, which included a refresher course on the background and history of the Red Cross, its services, organizational setup, use and function and the part volunteers play in the wide-reaching program.

Two County Men Assigned To Ship In Pirate Search

Two county men are assigned to the USS Robert L. Wilson, Navy destroyer which was ordered as one of two American ships to attempt to intercept the Santa Maria, pirated passenger ship.

Dale Wade of Carlos, a seaman, is reported aboard the Robert L. Wilson, but Timothy Doolan, Lonaconing, also assigned to the vessel, is a patient in the Navy Hospital at Bethesda. While home on a furlough during the holidays, Doolan accidentally shot himself in the leg with a pistol and was unable to return to duty.

afforded the right to make an independent plea and that his right to legal counsel at the trial be allowed him where justice demands it."

Judge Harris outlined the law enforcement procedure from the time a person is arrested, and, if held for action of the grand jury, the duty of the state's attorney, and action taken prior to and during a court trial.

"Should there be a verdict of guilty by the jury, the accused has the exclusive right to have each juror asked individually whether the verdict pronounced by the foreman is his own finding," Judge Harris said.

"Last Chance" Provided

"Then, of course, there is the right to seek a new trial, and if this is denied, then the right to appeal.

"Recently the Legislature passed a Post Conviction Procedure Act, which is still another means by which an accused at any time after all appeals have been exhausted may try to upset the conviction on prescribed legal grounds," he added.

"While the law may be cold, ponderous and seemingly inhuman at times, we must remember that the law that guarantees equality for all is a living and inspiring rule of life."

In conclusion Judge Harris said that "an arrest is of course, a necessary element in the suppression of crime, but it is far from being the end of the job.

"The task that begins at this point is one that requires patience, knowledge, integrity and understanding. Anything less will weaken the chain upon which the public relies for safety from the thief, the rapist, the murderer and others who spawn on ill-gotten gains."

tax extension and are fighting it.

Business interests listened along with the two judiciary committees to labor spokesmen attack recommendations that would stiffen qualifications for jobless pay.

It was the second day of hearings at which management plugged for tightening of unemployment benefits and labor sought further liberalization.

Tax Stamp Battle

The State Association of County Commissioners signed up in an upcoming battle over liquor. It filed with both bodies a petition calling for defeat of a Legislative Council bill which would eliminate the necessity for a State tax stamp on every bottle of liquor.

Distributors would have to put the stamps only on cases. Comptroller Louis Goldstein has declared his determined opposition to the change.

Bills introduced in the House Wednesday included a measure designed to prevent mortgage-holders from taking advantage of home buyers. The bill would require the mortgage-holder to pay property taxes on the mortgaged property before the discount deadline, then credit the home buyer with the amount of the discount

B-Girl Bill

Senate President Della, D-Balto 6th, introduced a bill to put teeth in the law aimed at bar hostesses who drum up business by inviting customers to buy them drinks. It would make such solicitations of drinks, food or tobacco punishable by fines of $25-$50 for first offenders and $50-$100 for later offenses.

The Senate passed and sent to the House a bill setting up legal procedures for persons desiring to leave their bodies to science. Sponsored by the Legislative Council, the measure spells out the form to be completed by the donor.

County Workers' Accidents Cited

Allegany County employes last year had more accidents than in two previous years but there were fewer disabling accidents in 1960, according to a report to the Board of County Commissioners by C. L. Durham of the safety engineering department of the United States Fidelity and Guaranty Company.

Last year there were 16 accidents involving Allegany County employes but only five of them were disabling. Nine of the mishaps involved roads department workers but only two were disabling. Four others, two of them disabling, involved county home and infirmary employes. Two others involved police and dog wardens but neither was disabling. One general employe was involved in a 1960 accident and it was disabling.

In a previous 12-month period running from July 1, 1959 until June 30, 1960, there were 15 accidents, eight of which were disabling. In the 12 months beginning July, 1958, there were 13 accidents, nine of which were disabling.

Mr. Durham also reported that nine of the 16 accidents last year occurred in the quarter between October 1 and December 31. Two of them were disabling.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: That letter from Francine was absurd. It just isn't true that a woman has to look like a blimp because she's pregnant.

I gained nine pounds with my last baby. Two days before I went to the hospital I met a friend on the street and she asked me if I had a boy or a girl. She was flabbergasted when I told her I was due to go to the hospital any day.

Some pregnant women think they can eat for two and get away with it. No wonder they look like blimps. I've had two children and have never worn maternity clothes. So you see—it CAN be done.— SAME SIZE

DEAR SAME SIZE: Yes it CAN be done, but I'd hate to leave the impression that anyone who wants to can (or should) do it.

Most obstetricians want their patients to gain between 15 and 18 pounds, depending on starting weight and general physical condition.

(P. S. I'll bet women friends hate you!!!)

DEAR ANN LANDERS: We have four children and they are well behaved as a result of firm handling. My husband, particularly, does not believe in taking any nonsense from kids.

Recently we were visiting in the home of my brother and his wife. They have three children who do pretty much as they please. Their seven year old son, Victor became fascinated with my husband's cuff links. He asked if he could play with them. My husband said, "No, they are not toys." The child replied, "If you don't let me play with them I'll kick you." My husband told Victor that if he dared to do such a thing he'd get the surprise of his life.

Victor kicked my husband's ankle and my husband turned the boy around and gave him a very hard swat across the seat of the pants. The child screamed and ran after his father. My husband was criticized by both parents and we left shortly after.

They claim nobody has the right to lay a hand on anyone else's child and that their children are never subjected to physical violence. I have mixed feelings about this. Do you have a word for my husband?

SPLIT EMOTIONS

DEAR SPLIT: Just one. Congratulations.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Gregory gave me an engagement ring after five years of steady courtship. He asked me not to wear it "for awhile" because he had been going with another woman for quite some time and wanted to break off with her gradually.

I kept the ring in the drawer for six months then told him if he didn't want me to wear it I wanted to give it back. He said O. K. and he took the ring.

Last night he told me he had given the ring to the other woman as a birthday gift. He emphasized it was only because he didn't want to spend any money on a present and he hoped I would understand. He begged me to be patient and trust him.

I've cut myself off from all male companions and I'd be terribly alone if I broke off with him. Advise me.— GRISELDA

DEAR GRISELDA. Wake up and smell the coffee—you're alone NOW. This man has been working both sides of the street and you would be a fool to believe anything he said. Give him the heave ho.

To learn the knack of feeling comfortable with the opposite sex, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Be Date Bait," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

GOP Chairman Wants To Quit In W. Virginia

Daniel L. Louchery Notifies Leaders

CLARKSBURG, W. Va. (UPI)—Republican state chairman Daniel L. Louchery said Tuesday he has notified other party leaders he wants to resign as soon as debts from the 1960 campaign are paid off and a successor agreed on.

Louchery also said he told party leaders at a meeting in Charleston Sunday that he favors appointment of a full - time, paid chairman to take over the helm when he steps down.

The 42-year-old Clarksburg attorney emphasized that he set no deadline for his resignation, but indicated he believes that the conditions he set will be met sometime this spring.

The Republican party is estimated to have debts totaling $15,000 left from the 1960 campaign and Louchery said he considers it his obligation to see that they are paid before he leaves the chairmanship.

Party leaders plan tentatively to hold a fund-raising dinner in March to erase that debt and build up some operating funds.

Louchery, who has been chairman since March, 1958, said he also agreed to stay on until a new chairman acceptable to all groups in the party has been selected. There was no immediate speculation on a possible successor.

At Sunday's meeting, GOP leaders named Jack Weaver of Hinton as executive secretary for the party and William E. Blake of Ronceverte as public relations director. Both posts had been held by the late Eugene L. Scott.

Louchery, who practices law with his father here, was the Republican nominee for Congress in 1956 and served briefly on the now - defunct State Board of Control in 1957 before succeeding John D. Hoblitzell as party chairman.

Snow Removal Costs Exceed Town Budget

Frostburg Workers On Overtime Basis

FROSTBURG—William Preston, city street commissioner, said costs incurred because of snow since December 11, 1960 have exceeded $3,600. This amount exceeds the budget for snow removal. Overtime in the amount of $1,335.76 has been paid; a used snow plow on a G.I. truck was purchased for $386; salt $483.75; rebuilding snow plow blades $115; gasoline and oil $610; repairs to snow plows after breakdowns $660.

The first heavy snow, Preston said, occurred on December 11 and the department has been able to keep streets open by working around the clock. Some men in the department have not had a day off since December 31.

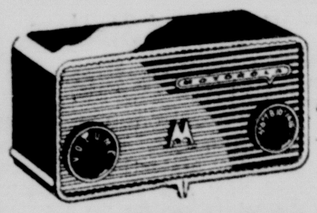

Preston said he is pleased with the cooperation of citizens by not parking in restricted areas. This facilitated the removal of snow and the plowing of the streets. "If more snow comes we don't know where to put it," he said.

The council made a tour of the newly paved streets in between snows and reported that all are in good shape except Bowery street which will be resurfaced in the spring at no cost to the property owners. The condition, Commissioner Preston said, evidently was caused because the surfacing material was laid when weather was too cold.

Plans have been made by Council to continue the street paving program in the spring and the amount of streets to be paved depends upon how soon residents pay existing paving liens.

Keyser Trips Petersburg; Piedmont, Beall, Elks Win

Vikings Bow To Tornado Five, 86-79

Fort Ashby Loses Thriller To Beall; Jackets Are Upset

Keyser High's in-and-out Tornado team was "in" last night as Coach Estel "Eck" Miers' tossers handed the Petersburg High Vikings their second straight setback in the Potomac Valley Conference, winning over the visitors at Keyser 86 to 79.

The loss by Coach Carroll Michaels' Vikings, coupled with Beall's come-from-behind win over Fort Ashby, 59-58; Elk Garden's triumph over Bayard, 69-65; and Piedmont High's upset of Moorefield High's Yellowjackets, 43-41, enhanced the idle LaSalle High's first-place standing and vaulted Beall's Mountaineers into second place in the 19-team circuit.

Both Keyser and Petersburg hit the nets at a scorching 50 per cent last night with the home quint banging in 36 of 72 tries and Petersburg connecting on 28 of 56 attempts.

Wins Fourth Game

Keyser, winning its fourth game in eight conference starts, edged ahead in a tight first half and then scored 28 points in a fast third quarter to up its margin to 10 points over Petersburg, 67-57. The Tornado five then hung on to post its sixth win of the season despite a 28-point scoring performance by Petersburg's Eddie Nelson.

A highlight of the game was Francis Sidley's full court set shot which connected for two points just as the whistle ended the third period.

High point man for Keyser was Sidley with 19 tallies. Four other Tornado players scored in the doubble figures with Don Harman getting 16; Terry Turbin, 16; Lawrence Smith, 15; and Jim Courrier 14. Courrier fouled out of the game with 2½ minutes to play.

The Keyser Jayvees defeated the Petersburg Junior Varsity, 42-36, in the preliminary game.

Comes From Behind

At Fort Ashby, Beall' High's Mountaineers came from behind to nip the Eagles for their fifth league win in six starts. They now trail LaSalle which is 4-0 in the conference.

Fort Ashby led by 11 points in the first quarter and increased its margin to 16 in the second stanza before Beall pulled up to a 32-20 halftime count.

In the third period the Eagles lost their scoring ace, Paul Price on personal fouls, and Beall quickly began to close the gap, trailing only 41-38 at the end of the quarter.

The Mountaineers finally caught Fort Ashby in the final moments of the game. Trailing 56-55, Beall scored four straight points on a pair of fouls by Allan Eisel and Marshall Hamilton and a clutch field goal by Wayne Metz to ice the verdict.

Metz was the high scorer in the game with 17 tallies while Bob Barnes chalked up 16 for Fort Ashby. Price chipped in with 15 markers before exiting on fouls.

Elk Garden upped its PVC record to 8-2 on the strength of superior foul shooting at Bayard. The loss was the fifth straight in the conference for Coach Francis Maleonski's quintet.

Foul Shots Win Game

Elk Garden held a slim lead at intermission but trailed 50-47 at the close of the third quarter. The Elks caught Bayard at 61-all with 3 minutes to go and then capped the win by sinking six consecutive foul shots in the final moments.

Bayard outscored the Elks 23-20 from the field by Elk Garden hit on 29 of 41 free throws to wir the game. High man for Elk Garden was Cliff Knotts with 24, including 10-12 at the foul line. Tom Evans had 20 points, with 10-11 in fouls, for the winners.

Bayard's best bet was Lonnie Kuhn with 29 points, high for the game. Kuhn also hit 11 for 12 at the free throw stripe.

Piedmont High's Lions, floundering with a 5-5 mark in the conference, upset Moorefield last night, handing the Jackets their third league defeat in 10 games.

Fagan Sinks Fouls

Vince Fagan hooped two foul shots with 23 seconds to play to give Coach William "Huck" Miers' quint the victory. The two points broke a 41-41 tie and closed out the scoring.

Moorefield's Eddie Bean had a chance to tie the score with 10 seconds remaining, but blew the first try of a one-and-one foul.

Fagan led Piedmont's scoring with 12 points, followed by Preston Green's 10 tallies in the low-scoring contest. David Vance and Bob Redman had 12 points each for Moorefield.

In the preliminary game Piedmont's Junior High team walloped the Moorefield Junior High team, 62-17.

New Baseball Award Planned

Honors Outstanding Player Achievement

NEW YORK (UPI)—A new major league baseball award for outstanding achievement was announced Wednesday by Gerry Coleman, former second baseman for the New York Yankees.

Coleman said the award was established to honor a player for an outstanding game or series of games, rather than on the basis of most valuable player, rookie of the year, etc.

"There are plenty of awards in that category," Coleman said, "but there is no outstanding award for single outstanding achievement." He cited such cases as Harvey Haddix's 12 perfect innings, Sal Maglie's string of 45 consecutive scoreless innings, Johnny Vandermeer's two successive no-hitters, Dale Long's hitting home runs in eight consecutive games, Ted Williams' batting 400 and Joe DiMaggio's 56-game hitting streak as feats worthy of the outstanding achievement award.

The award, to be known as the Van Heusen Outstanding Achievement Award, is a trophy sculptored by John Hovannes. The player will retain permanent possession of the trophy.

St. Michael's Needs Win To Bag 1st Half

SS. Peter And Paul Could Tie Up Race

The first half championship race of the Catholic Youth Basketball League ends tonight and the feature attraction here is the battle between St. Michael's of Frostburg and SS. Peter & Paul at 6:15 o'clock on SS. Peter & Paul court.

St. Michael's coached by Father Regis Larkin, leads the league with an 8-1 record and SS. Peter & Paul is in second place with seven wins and two losses.

A victory for St. Michael's will give the Frostburg team the first half crown. If Coach Bob Mattingly's SS. Peter and Paul team is able to avenge an earlier 28-21 setback in Frostburg the race will end in a tie and necessitate a playoff game to determine the crown bearer.

Two other games will follow the big one on tonight's tripleheader program. St. Mary's Gaels face St. Peter's of Westernport at 7:30 and St. Patrick's teams of Mt. Savage and Cumberland tangle at 8:45.

Few Fans Witness Tennis Matches

MELBOURNE (AP)—Less than 100 paying customers were in the stands Wednesday to watch two Australian teams gain the doubles final in the Australian Tennis Championships. In five days of play, less than 500 persons have paid to see the action.

The top-seeded pair of Rod Laver and Bob Mark defeated Christian Kuhnke of West Germany and Wayne Reid of Australia 8-6, 8-6, 6-0, Roy Emerson and Martin Mulligan turned back the fourth-seeded Australian tandem of Fred Stolle and John Pearce 6-4, 6-4, 4-6, 6-2.

Cresaptown Cagers Win 7th Straight

A field goal by Steve Vandenberg with 10 seconds to play gave Cresaptown Junior High's basketball team a 25-24 victory over Bruce Junior High yesterday at Cresaptown and enabled Coach Norman Nightengale's tossers to chalk up their seventh straight win this season.

Cresaptown trailed 9-6 at halftime but held a slim 16-15 edge at the end of the third period in the see-saw battle. Bruce took a 24-23 lead just before Candenberg's jump shot iced the verdict for Cresaptown.

Vandenberg was high scorer for the winners with 10 points while Larry Rexrode with 9 and Ronnie Shaffer with 8 were the big guns for Bruce.

Cresaptown will play Grace Baptist at 6:30 p.m. on Monday.

the GREATEST! by Walter Johns

A SAC AND FOX INDIAN, who became a great football player, an Olympic champion whose medals were taken away from him, and died broke several years ago, still remains the GREATEST of all athletes the world has ever known.

He is, of course, the one and only James Francis Thorpe, who was a superman in sports, proficient in 25 of them, stood out like a "man" among boys in football and track and, overall, had fun in competition over many years of superlative championship form.

Some say he was the GREATEST of all football players, the GREATEST of all performers in track and field. Admittedly, he was the GREATEST natural athlete of all time.

BORN AT Prague, Okla. in 1886, Jim's first schooling was at the Haskell Institute at Lawrence, Kan.

Later he enrolled at the Carlisle Indian school in Pennsylvania which had been founded in 1879 and opened with 136 students fro— Indian agencies along the Missouri river.

Football rose to great heights at Carlisle, under the coaching of Glenn (Pop) Warner of Cornell, and the greatest of all its players was Jim Thorpe.

Thorpe could do everything on the football field. One of his greatest games was against Harvard November 11, 1911, in which he was knocked out but not before he had kicked four field goals and carried the ball within scoring distance as Carlisle beat a great Harvard team, 18 to 15.

Thorpe made the All-American that year and in 1912 he was the No. 1 performer on the U.S. Olympic team, a great triumph and also a great tragedy in the Indian's career.

The world and the king of Sweden hailed Thorpe as the "greatest" athlete of all time when Jim won both the pentathlon and the decathlon in Stockholm, finished fourth in the high jump and seventh in the broad jump.

But, heartbreak was to follow, for Thorpe was found to have played some professional baseball and he was declared to have been ineligible, losing both his gold medals. And, despite many campaigns and drives since, he never regained them.

When he returned he starred on the grid again for Carlisle, doing a particularly outstanding job against Army, a team which had Dwight D. Eisenhower at left half for the Cadets.

Thorpe . . . the "GREATEST"

THORPE then turned pro, if he already wasn't such, and played baseball with the New York Giants from 1913-17, then Cincinnati, then back to the Giants and finally with the Boston Braves in 1919 when he called it quits. Thorpe never could hit major league pitching.

Thorpe played pro football, too, helping organize the famed Bulldogs of Canton, O. In 1920 the American Professional Football Association was organized, with Thorpe as president, with franchises at $100. It failed financially, however, and the next year a new group took over.

Thorpe played pro football until 1926 and then drifted in and out of sport, but still showed an amazing ability as a performer. He could shoot golf in the 80's with only a mid-iron and putter and he could bowl 200. He also excelled in swimming, wrestling, marksmanship and tennis.

After his competitive days were over he played bit parts in the movies, ran a night spot in Nevada, worked at race tracks and in various other pursuits.

He died at Lomita, Calif., March 28, 1953, after a long illness.

NEW YORK (UPI)—An award will be presented Sunday night to the man who did the most for major league baseball in 1960.

That's Bill Shea, a 53-year-old New York attorney, who lit and re-lit the fuse on a bomb that resulted in four brand new major league clubs when it finally went off.

New York writers will give Shea a "meritorious service" citation on Sunday night and the sentiments probably will be echoed in Houston, Los Angeles and Minneapolis-St. Paul.

"All I started out to do," says Shea, "was to get a National League team for New York after the Giants and Dodgers left town. The rest just happened."

But "the rest" that happened—an expansion explosion — came about largely through the relentless efforts of the aggressive attorney who wouldn't take "no" for an answer.

Had Been Studying

When the bickering ended, the American League sent a new team into Los Angeles, a new team into Washington and the old Washington team to Minneapolis-St. Paul for the 1961 season. New York and Houston go into the National League in 1962.

In time, perhaps, that expansion might have come off, anyway. The majors had been "studying" new cities for quite a spell. But it took Shea to shake 'em up.

Shea's original order from New York's Mayor Robert Wagner was to get New York back into the National League. But Bill couldn't enginer a franchise shift from another city back to the big town, which had lost the Giants and Dodgers in 1957.

"That's how the Continental League idea started," he says.

Shea, enlisting the services of the veteran Branch Rickey, kept hammering away at a "third major league" plan until there were eight cities, including New York, formally enrolled as the Continental League.

Got Some Action

Nothing was further afield from Shea's original hope but to get a major league team into New York — even it if was a third league team — he urged the Continental's backers to "go outlaw" if necessary to obtain players and territorial rights.

"We'll fight the majors," he stormed at the time. "They wouldn't dare go into court with us. Baseball player contracts aren't worth the paper they're written on, not in the courts."

Bwtween threats of legal and congressional action the embattled "Continentals" got some expansion action from the majors last year: the existing major leagues would expand to 10 teams each and New York would get its National League franchise.

So Bill Shea achieved what he set out to do. The rest that happened was a bonus for fans in three other cities.

Snead To Train For U. S. Open

Plans To Lose 10 Pounds Before Match

NEW YORK (AP)—Sam Snead has tried almost everything in his futile bid for a U.S. Open Golf championship. Now he's going to try something else.

The keynote of his 1961 campaign: Calories and psychology.

"I intend to spend all the month of March getting myself in physical shape — I'm going to lose at least 10 pounds," the slamming man from White Sulphur Springs, West Va., said Wednesday. "Then I'm going to spend two months of hard training.

"My aim is to be fit and ready when the tournament rolls around in June. I don't mean just physically — I mean mentally ready, too." He weighs 195.

Snead honored by the Metropolitan Golf Writers at their annual awards dinner here Tuesday night, said he even plans to hire a trainer to help him prepare for the Open, scheduled June 15-17 at the Oakland Hills Country Club in Birmingham, Mich.

"He'll tell me what to do and what not do do," Sam added. "He may even help keep me from tensing up in the tournament, as I sometimes do."

Fernandez Signs Detroit Contract

DETROIT (UPI)—Shortstop Chico Fernandez Wednesday agreed to terms with the Detroit Tigers for the coming American League season. He was the 23rd player signed by the club for 1961.

Fernandez agreed to terms in a telephone conversation with General Manager Rick Ferrell.

Detroit obtained Fernandez, 28, from the Philadelphia Phillies before the 1960 season and he batted .241 with the Tigers in 133 games last year.

Maphis Averages 15.4 For Frosh

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) — West Virginia's freshman basketball team — 7-1 on the season so far — continues to boost a well-balanced scoring attack.

Statistics released Wednesday showed that all five starters are scoring in double figures, led by 6-foot-8 center Tom Lowry with a 19.5 per game average. Lowry is way out in front in rebounding, picking off an average of 23.4 a game.

Following Lowry in scoring are Mike Barger with 19, Bill Maphis 15.4, Jay Dietz 15.4 and Bob Camp 12.7.

Morris Harvey WVC Scoring Leader; Has 92.1 Game Average

BECKLEY, W. Va. (UPI) — Morris Harvey, hitting at a 92.1-point per game clip, still leads the West Virginia Conference in scoring, according to statistics released Wednesday.

For games through last week, the Golden Eagles hold a healthy edge over second place Tech, which had a 87.2 average. Concord was third with 86.8.

Tech had made 49.1 per cent of its shots to lead in field goal accuracy. MH was in second place with a percentage of 47.3.

Beckley is tops in foul shooting, with 71.9 per cent, followed by West Virginia State and Wesleyan each with 69.8 per cent.

Fairmont State was the top rebounding team, averaging 57.1 a game. Alderson - Broaddus was second with 52.9.

Fairmont was first in defense, giving up only 65.7 points. West Liberty was second at 70.9.

Old Germans Seek 7th Straight City Loop Win Tonight

The Old Germans will be gunning for their seventh consecutive City Basketball League victory tonight when they clash with the Knights of Columbus at 8:45 o'clock tonight in the final game of a tripleheader at Fort Hill High School.

Don Moran and Company holds a 57-31 decision over the Knights and should repeat tonight. The Caseys have won one of six games this season.

In the opening game at 6:45 Wilson Hardware Company (4-2) opposes Roseland (0-6) and at 7:45 Boal's Funeral Home, tied with Wilson's for the runner-up spot, meets the Forty and Eight Club (3-3).

Stan Musial Signs For 20th Season

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Stan Musial, who baffled the experts with a mid-season comeback that kept the St. Louis Cardinals in the pennant race last year, signed a contract Wednesday for his 20th major league season.

Terms of the contract were, as usual, undisclosed but General Manager Bing Devine said the figure was "one of the highest in the major leagues and we agred on it within 30 seconds."

His reported salary last season was around $80,000. Devine said "a slight adjustment" was made this year in consideration of the 40-year-old Musial's reduced schedule.

NL To Play Record 318 Night Tilts

Season To Open On April 11

CINCINNATI (AP) — National League teams, which will open the 1961 season April 11, will play a record 318 night games.

The league schedule, which underwent a couple of last minute changes, was released Wednesday. The old record for night games was 314, and was set in 1960.

Dave Grote, head of the National League Service Bureau, did a bit of rapid figuring and estimated the eight clubs will travel a grand total of 216,000 miles, the equivalent to approximately 8½ times around the world.

The opening games will bring together Chicago at Cincinnati; St. Louis at Milwaukee; Pittsbrugh at San Francisco, and Philadelphia at Los Angeles. The Los Angeles-Phils game will be played at night.

The two All-Star games will not be back to back, as they were last year. The first game will be on July 11 at San Francisco and the second at Boston on July 31.

Each team will make four trips to the West Coast. Los Angeles and San Francisco also will make four trips east.

DAVOS, Switzerland (UPI)—The world figure skating championships scheduled for Prague, Feb. 22-26, have been "definitely cancelled" by the International Skating Union (ISU), an authoritative source said Wednesday.

Unless the Czech government furnishes "proof of its good intentions by next weekend," the union will award the meet to "another European city," the source said.

Runner Reveals Amateurs Paid

Ancient Rules Cause Undercover Payment

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mike Agostini of Trinidad, one of the world's top sprinters in recent years, said Wednesday in a copyrighted story in Sports Illustrated magazine that top track and field performers regularly receive undercover payments for performances.

Agostini, who now lives in London, wrote that "in committing myself to print, I well realize, that I shall never again be allowed to compete.

"But in putting down my experience," he said, "drawing attention to the rackets that are really designs for living forced by the outmoded rules, perhaps I shall be able to draw attention to the farcical situations caused by applying ancient rules to modern requirements."

Agostini wrote that for major indoor meets sprinters may receive from $50 to $125 per meet, middle distance runners $100 to $600, and some milers as much as $1,000.

Dawkins To Quit As Rugby Player

OXFORD, England (UPI)—Pete Dawkins, the Yank who introduced American football techniques to rugby and made the British fan love it, Wednesday announced his retirement from rugby after a short-lived but spectacular career.

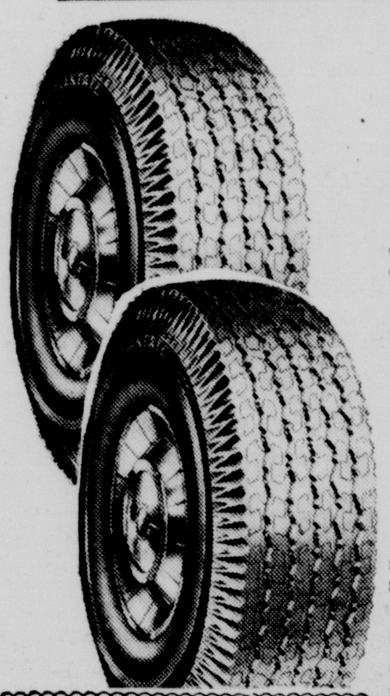

The former Army All-America halfback, now a Rhodes scholar at Oxford University, said the decision was made in the best interests of his studies.

"I vowed to keep a strict balance on work and sport," Dawkins said. "Next fall I won't have time to train thoroughly because of studies. So it's better for all concerned if I make a clean break now."

ACC Plans No Penalties For North Carolina

Team On Probation For Year In NCAA

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (UPI) — The Atlantic Coast Conference has notified the University of North Carolina it plans "no further action" in regard to charges of illegal basketball recruiting practices by the Tar Heels.

In effect, this means the ACC will impose no penalty beyond that already meted out by the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) in the case. The NCAA put North Carolina on one year's probation and barred the Tar Heels from NCAA basketball tournaments for that period.

But the University of North Carolina will pay the piper—to the extent of reimbursing the ACC for approximately $600 in expenses incurred by ACC Commissioner James H. Weaver investigating the case.

Weaver cooperated with the NCAA in investigating the Tar Heels' basketball recruiting practices back in 1957 from which the NCAA charges arose.

The basketball recruiting practice investigation by Weaver and the expenses involved apparently constituted the "internal matter" discussed secretly by the ACC executive committee in Greensboro Tuesday.

Those concerned in the Greensboro meeting—Weaver, UNC officials and members of the executive committee — kept a tight-lipped silence until Wednesday.

British Team Near Championship

MONTE CARLO (AP) — The British team of Pat Moss and Ann Wisdom appeared headed for a third straight women's championship, but the men's division was wide open Wednesday in the Monte Carlo Automobile Rally.

Winners will be decided from 120 cars making the speed run Thursday. Those still in the running represented virtually every country in Europe.

Miler To Arrive Here For Meets

NEW YORK (AP) — Istavan Rozsavolgyi, Hungary's great miler, will arrive in New York Friday night for a series of appearances in indoor track meets.

He will go directly to Boston to run in the Boston A. U. championships Saturday night. He will remain in this country through March 10.

Market Closes Irregular As Late Upswing Fades

NEW YORK (UPI) — A wave of stock splits, dividend announcements and earnings reports made a complete mish-mash out of the stock market Wednesday.

More stocks declined than rose and the Dow-Jones industrial average dipped 1.07 to 637.72 but Standard & Poor's index of 500 stocks tacked on eight points. Volume increased to 4,470,000 shares from 4,280,000 Tuesday.

The market started out on the downtrack, fumbled around till early afternoon when corporate developments prodded the list higher. A big upswing faded almost completely in the last half hour.

American Telephone was a star performer, closing up 2⅜ to 112-⅜ after being up around 4 at its top. Cut dividends belted Neptune Meter and Tung-Sol Electric for losses of 4⅞ and 4⅛ respectively while Sperry Rand dropped 1⅞ after declaring stock in lieu of cash in the wake of a lower earnings report.

Consolidated Edison, which is calling for redemption its 4 per cent convertible debentures, dropped 1¾. The utility also reported a higher net but lower per share earnings because of more shares outstanding.

For this $57,000 tourney, three new holes have been built—the fourth, fifth and sixth.

Bill Casper of Apple Valley, Calif., who set a Pebble Beach course record of 65 in last week's Bing Crosby Tournament, toured Harding Park in the same figure.

Several foreign pros are listed. Haruyoshi Kobari and Tedashi Kitsuta of Japan and Chen Cingpro of Nationalist China have been here a week practicing.

Bob Rosburg, winner of the Crosby, is another golfer with long knowledge of Harding Park. From Palo Alto, Rosburg frequently played the course both as an amateur and a pro.

Tawes Rebuffed By House Unit

Move To Place DMV Head Under Merit System Is Rejected

By GEORGE BOWEN

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes was handed a stinging rebuff Wednesday by the House Ways and Means Committee, which rejected a move to give the Maryland Commissioner of motor vehicles protection of the merit system.

The committee refused by a whopping 20-5 vote to give the bill a favorable report.

The governor had recommended it in his opening day message to the legislature, saying "I believe this is a logical, complementary step along with the point system."

Maryland inaugurated this year a system of penalizing traffic violators with points leading to automatic suspension and revocation of their driving licenses.

The motor vehicle commissioner is former State Sen. John R. Jewell of Kent County, who was named by Tawes in 1958.

Inclusion of him in the merit system would have meant he could be removed from office only for cause.

Members of the Ways and Means Committee made it clear they were not questioning his qualifications.

Responsible To Governor

"But the man in a position of such stature should be directly responsible to the governor," explained Del. Carlton R. Stickles, D-Prince Georges.

The committee had before it a report showing only seven department directors, considered professional career people, are under the merit system.

The commissioner of motor vehicles is one of 14 such office holders appointed for fixed terms by the governor. Seven others serve at the pleasure of the governor and six more are named by boards with no merit system protection.

Del. A. Gordon Boone, D-Balto County, the Ways and Means Committee chairman and the governor's floor leader, was obviously taken aback by the overwhelming revolt.

When it was evident on a voice vote that a favorable report was impossible, Boone sought to stall off putting it on the record.

"I'm going to hold the bill up for awhile," he said.

Opponents figured this meant pressure would be exerted by the administration and if enough votes were lined up the bill would be brought up again.

A demand for a roll call brought the adverse 20-5 vote, the first of the session on a recommendation from the Democratic governor.

Fight Indicated

Del. Egbert R. Quinn, from the governor's home county of Somerset and considered the chief executive's unofficial spokesman many times, indicated the issue might not be finished without a fight.

He passed on the original roll call. Afterward, he asked to be recorded on the negative side "because I may want to bring it up later."

Parliamentary rules require that a legislator seeking reconsideration of a vote must be on the prevailing side.

A scrap over another of the governor's endorsed matters, the cigarette tax, was postponed in the Ways and Means Committee.

Boone announced he was putting off a vote until next Tuesday so an opinion could be obtained from the attorney general on whether it is an appropriation measure.

If it is, it cannot be brought to the House floor until after the budget bill moves, which will be in the last days of the session.

The cigarette bill would extend the six-cent tax on a pack to all 23 counties of the state with half of the revenue being returned to the local governments.

Maryland industries were involved in two hearings before legislative committees Wednesday.

Industries Protest

They were protesting before the Senate Finance Committee a third try to extend taxes on equipment and inventory.

The target is property and tools used by companies on federal contracts for which they are reimbursed by the government. The equipment has been tax exempt on the theory it is owned by the government and leased to the companies.

The Martin Co., Fairchild Engine and Aircraft, and Westinghouse would feel the brunt of the

Cold Weather To Continue Over Weekend

16 Below Zero At Big Savage

The icy grip that winter holds on Maryland is likely to remain for some time, according to the Weather Bureau, which said "the cold air will continue in the Maryland region for the next couple of days and there is no real temperature rise in sight."

Some of the edge will be taken off the coldness today and tomorrow, the forecast said.

The temperature is expected to dip from 15 to 20 below zero in Garrett County this morning and from five to 15 below in Allegany County, with the latter temperature listed for higher elevations around Frostburg and in the mountains east of Cumberland.

Zero In Cumberland

Early yesterday morning the mercury plunged to 16 degree below zero at Big Savage Mountain just a few miles west of Frostburg. This was the coldest spot in Maryland, and the reading was registered at 7:45 a. m.

The official low in Cumberland was zero. Other readings in the area included 13 below zero in Oakland and Accident; 10 below on Town Hill Mountain east of here; six below in Frostburg; five below at Hancock; two below at Hagerstown; and 15 below in Parsons.

The weatherman said temperatures will turn colder again over the weekend.

Chains Still Needed

A spokesman for the State Roads Commission said highways in Garrett County are about 50 to 75 per cent bare although chains or snow treads are required.

Roads in Allegany County are practically bare and chains and snow treads are not needed.

Temperatures dipped to their lowest levels in probably 20 years in West Virginia early yesterday and more of the same is in store for the state. The forecast is for readings of three to 12 degrees below zero early today.

Glenn Beall Jr. Named Head Of Celebration

J. Glenn Beall Jr., Frostburg, was elected chairman and his father, Senator J. Glenn Beall Sr., was elected honorary chairman of Frostburg's Sesquicentennial Committee at a meeting last night in the Frostburg city hall.

Mayor Joseph James presided at the session attended by some 35 representatives of civic, patriotic, fraternal, labor and other organizations, along with town officials and a number of professional and business people.

It was agreed that Chairman Beall will meet with the Mayor and Council Monday evening, at which time a secretary, treasurer and members of an executive board will be appointed. On Wednesday of next week at 7:30 p. m. another general meeting will be held in the town hall, at which time Mr. Beall will report on appointments and committee chairmen and members.

The meeting Wednesday will be open to the public and all interested citizens and organization representatives are urged to attend. He stated that several hundred people must be willing to take an active interest if the celebration is to be successful.

John Sullivan, Frostburg and Cumberland attorney, spoke briefly, explaining that the committee should form a corporation immediately, and the executive board and officers of this corporation can then enter into agreements as representatives of the community project.

The sesquicentennial will be observed in Frostburg in 1962. John T. Rogers Productions Company will enter into a contract with the committee to help stage a pageant and promote the whole affair.

It was recalled last night that Frostburg celebrated its centenniel in 1912. Rudolph Nickel, former News correspondent, was general chairman of that successful affair.

Mathias Calls For National Fuel Study

Rep. Charles McC. Mathias Jr., R-Md. 6th, yesterday introduced a concurrent resolution calling for establishment of a joint committee to make a national fuel study.

Rep. Mathias said he considered such a study a step toward fulfillment of a Republican campaign pledge, and said it may point a way toward helping the coal industry.

Third Planning Firm Asked To Give Proposal

Morris Knowles Submits Program

The Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission last night invited an engineering firm to submit a proposal for preparing a limited planning program for the City of Cumberland, and took under study a proposal submitted by a second firm.

Invited to submit a program for a planning program sufficient to allow the city to qualify for federal Workable Program was the firm of Hayes, Seay, Mattern and Mattern.

Donald J. Balzer, Washington representative of the firm, said his company will submit a proposal before March 1 which will indicate the scope of the work to be done, along with a financial proposal.

Cites Need

Mayor J. Edwin Keech pointed out that the city must get at least that much planning done to be able to qualify for 60 more low-rent public housing units to which the city is entitled.

Mr. Balzer briefed the commission headed by Albert S. Paye on the qualifications of the firm, whose 120 staffers are primarily architects and engineers.

He told the planning officials that urban renewal is a terrific bargain when badly needed. Legislation to allow Maryland municipalities to qualify is now being considered in the Maryland legislature.

Mr. Paye said that while Cumberland needs the full planning treatment, the immediate objective is to carry the program far enough to qualify for federal funds.

In its search for a planner, the commission has contracted two other firms.

Study Proposal

The first, the firm of Morris Knowles, Inc., submitted its proposal for professional services made by its planning division.

Cost of the plan which covers two years would be $45,000, of which $24,000 would be paid by the city and the rest by the government.

A similar proposal is expected soon from the firm of Whitman, Requardt and Associates, whose representative met with the commission last month.

Copies of the Morris, Knowles proposal are being studied by members of the commission.

Also attending the meeting were James Alfred Avirett, commission member, and George O. Hollar, secretary.

Frostburg Clubs Have Annual Meet

Law enforcement and court procedure were discussed last night by Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris who was guest speaker at the annual joint meeting of Frostburg Rotary-Lions Club members at Happy Hills Farm Restaurant on U. S. Route 40.

Judge Harris stressed the point that "law and court decisions have been given us to protect the rights of even the most hardened criminal, with the result that the person you know as a certainty is guilty of a particular crime may be found innocent because somewhere along the line after arrest he was denied some small and maybe insignificant right which the courts or the lawmakers have said cannot be denied him.

Not Designed Only For Good

"The law was not designed to protect only the good, or the law-abiding or the innocent. In truth and in practice, it stands as a bulwark against taking unfair advantage of the man who by reason of persistent bad behavior may be easy prey for a policeman or prosecutor anxious to cut corners to obtain a quicker conviction."

"The point I want to make is that after a person has been arrested and accused, the law then demands that the evidence against him be honestly and fairly siphoned, that the charges against him be clearly drawn, that he be

City Hall Murals To Be Cleaned

Depict Scenes In Life Of Washington

Freshening of murals in the rotunda of City Hall will be one of the important tasks in connection with a painting job which began yesterday.

Workers of the J. E. Dennison Company yesterday erected scaffolds in preparation for work on the rotunda.

It will include washing and a fresh coat of varnish on the murals painted when the present City Hall was dedicated in 1911.

The paintings depict visits of Washington to the Queen City during his career.

City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson said the murals were painted in oils by the late Mr. duBrau and his daughter, Gertrude.

Mr. duBrau, he said, was a well known decorator and painted the proscenium arch in the old Maryland Theater.

Mr. duBrau operated an art studio at 62 North Mechanic Street about 1927 and the business was carried on by his daughter, who moved to the site of the present Liberty Tavern on North Liberty Street, only to have all of the stock destroyed in the great 1936 flood.

He recalled that Miss duBrau later married and returned with her husband to Germany.

Card Party Canceled

The monthly card party for the benefit of the Ridgeley Band, which was scheduled for tonight in the firemen's hall, has been cancelled.

County Dimes Drive Auditor Is Appointed

Mothers' March Slated Sunday

Francis Deremer of Corriganville, an employe at the First National Bank here, has been appointed chief auditor for the 1961 March of Dimes drive, Frederick J. Hill, Jr., general chairman, announced last night.

Assisting him will be Robert Brown, city, an employe at the Amcelle plant.

The Mother's March scheduled for Sunday, got off to an early start yesterday when two ambitious mothers in the Mexico Farms area visited 17 homes in that section of the county and collected funds from 15 of the homes.

Mr. Hill said they also did some baby sitting and pulled some of the children on sleds during their march, which was "on their own."

Plans are virtually complete for the Sunday march, according to Mr. Hill, who said collection headquarters will be the Times-News building on Baltimore Street.

At the conclusion of the march, the captains will report to the newspaper business office where tabulations will be made by the auditor and his assistants.

Mrs. Joyce Vowell and Mrs. Elizabeth Nave are co-chairmen of the "marchers," and Mrs. Ethel Thayer is serving as executive secretary for the group.

Mr. Hill is urging residents of the county to return the mailers which were sent to the homes throughout the area. The mailers are to be sent to the local Post Office in care of Box 33.

Contributions are hard at work in a positive action program to prevent crippling birth defects, according to the general chairman, who said, "Your contributions to the 1961 New March of Dimes will allow the National Foundation to do even more."

The Foundation, he pointed out, has brought together the world's foremost experts in the field of birth defects to exchange ideas and knowledge at the first internation conference ever held to deal with these cripplers.

It was erroneously reported in yesterday's Cumberland News that the opening session would be held last night.

Workmen Clear Wreck Of Coal Train

No One Injured In Rail Accident

Baltimore and Ohio Railroad work crews late last night were clearing up the wreckage caused when 15 loaded coal cars of an eastbound train derailed about 11:08 a. m. yesterday at Patterson Creek, 10 miles southeast of here.

A spokesman for the railroad said one of the tracks, the No. 1 track, which is westbound, was opened to traffic about 8 p. m. yesterday but the other tracks are expected to be opened sometime today.

Both east and westbound traffic was moving slowly last night over the No. 1 track, according to the spokesman, who said the cause of the derailment has not been determined.

Railroad officials said that no one was hurt in the accident, but all the tracks were blocked by the derailment.

During the pileup traffic was being re-routed over the Western Maryland Company lines between Miller and North Branch, it was reported. Passenger trains were delayed as much as two and a half hours.

The derailed cars were part of a 128-car shipment of coal being moved from Keyser to Hagerstown. The cars were from the 164th to the 119th car.

The section where the derailment occurred is in the switching area of the railroad at Patterson Creek.

Yesterday's derailment was the second this week for the railroad in this area.

On Monday morning 16 freight cars derailed at Stricker on the 17-Mile Grade about 14 miles west of Keyser on the Cumberland Division.

Traffic at that point was back to normal Tuesday morning after work crews of Cumberland and Grafton worked through the night to clear the wreckage.

Mayor Suggests Snow Removal Plan For City

Program Would Aid In Street Cleaning

A proposal designed to allow the City of Cumberland to keep its streets open when ice and snow storms hit during the winter and to keep them clean the rest of the year will be outlined Monday by Mayor J. Edwin Keech.

The mayor said yesterday that he will ask members of the Council to consider the plan at a pre-Council meeting Monday morning.

He said he believes his proposal, or some modification of it, would work if all citizens were to cooperate.

Mayor Keech's suggestion is that during the winter season, say from December 1 to March 31, cars would be allowed to be parked on only one side of the street during the night.

Cites Benefits

He said this would allow Street Department crews to begin plowing streets as soon as snow begins to accumulate. He added that motorists would benefit greatly by such a plan, since crews could plow snow away from the parked cars and toward the opposite curb.

He said this would allow cars to have access to the parking area without the hump which is made when plows are able only to clear a path between two lines of parked cars.

Mayor Keech said enforcement should not be difficult and suggested a $5 ticket after warning—and an automatic $5 fine if the car is parked on the wrong side of the street during a snowstorm.

He said the same plan would work during the spring, summer and fall to allow street cleaning equipment to operate.

He said it just does not make sense for the city to pay crews money to sweep and clean streets when parked cars prevent them from doing a good job.

Disaster Cited

Mayor Keech said motorists on some streets would have to park their cars on side streets or on a parking lot when garage facilities are not available.

He said the plan to keep streets open so they can be cleared of snow and swept clean would mean better police and fire protection, and might save lives in case of disaster.

He said property owners would have to cooperate by cleaning snow from only part of the pavement and piling it on the other side of the sidewalk, rather than dumping it into the street where it impedes traffic.

Mayor Keech said there is an ordinance on the books which prohibits all-night parking on city streets, but that it would be almost impossible to enforce, since in many cases there would be no place to put the cars.

He added that the ordinance would have to provide for no parking at all in some areas, such as the downtown section and some main arteries such as Virginia Avenue, when street crews plan to remove all snow and ice from the streets.

Teacher Breaks Leg In Fall

Raymond M. Chaney, 211 Hammond Street, Westernport, business arithmetic and education teacher at Bruce High School, fractured the upper bone of his right leg Tuesday night when he fell.

He was admitted to Potomac Valley Hospital in Keyser where his condition last night was reported as being "satisfactory".

Richard T. Rizer, assistant superintendent of public schools in Allegany County, announced yesterday that during Mr. Chaney's absence, James E. Mellon, RD 1, city will teach the students.

Mr. Mellon, who recently completed his academic work at Frostburg State Teachers College, did practice teaching in core and English at Pennsylvania Avenue School, and mathematics at Beall High School, Frostburg.

Plane Locates Captive Ship East Of Trinidad

Africa-Bound Liner Refuses To Turn Back

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (UPI) —The hijacked Portuguese cruise ship Santa Maria Wednesday night refused a U.S. Navy plane's request to turn back to San Juan and messaged it was heading for the Portuguese African territory of Angola.

The ship, sought since it was seized by Portuguese revolutionaries early Sunday, was sighted nearly halfway across the Atlantic by a Navy Neptune piloted by Lt. (jg) Daniel L. L. Krauss of Sea Island, Ga. It was about 900 miles east of Trinidad.

Portuguese rebel leader Henrique Galvao messaged Krauss he would agree to meet with U.S. authorities on board the ship but would not turn back as requested.

He said he wanted to discharge the 620 passengers, including 40 Americans, at the earliest possible opportunity.

Krauss' message, released by Navy authorities here, said:

"All well aboard. Destination Angola. Capt. Galvao refuses return San Juan. Will accept conference on board Santa Maria with U.S. authorities or any other than Portuguese or Spanish. Wishes to discharge passengers unharmed earliest."

Orders Trailing Action

The Navy ordered its air and sea searchers to trail but not to board the vessel, which was taken over by Galvao and 70 Portuguese and Spanish rebels in a blow against the Portuguese government of Premier Antonio Salazar.

Rear Adm. Allen Smith Jr., commandant of the Caribbean Sea frontier, said his orders "do not include any plans to board the Santa Maria."

(In Washington, President Kennedy said the Navy is instructed only to "investigate" the vessel and not to board it.)

Krauss' patrol plane left the Santa Maria and flew to Belem, Brazil, for refuelling. Its place was taken by a Navy Constellation weather plane.

Smith said the nuclear submarine Sea Wolf, which is in the same general area as the Santa Maria "might" be used in the trailing action. He said it had the 30-knot speed to keep up with the ship and would not have to be pulled off for refuelling.

Two U. S. destroyers originally in the search, the Wilson and Damato, have turned back to Trinidad to refuel, the Navy announced in Washington.

Ship's Course Unchanged

Krauss reported that the Santa Maria's course, southeast, and speed, 15 knots, were unchanged. The course was heading for the African coast, which bore out Galvao's statement his destination was Angola.

Angola is Portugal's largest overseas territory, with a population of more than four million and an area five times that of Texas. It was a 1,000 mile coastline along the western edge of Africa.

The Santa Maria had eluded the navies of Britain, the United States, and Holland for three days before the American plane sighted it.

The Navy said that two other destroyers, the Vogelsang and Gearing, were ordered to take positions north of the Cape Verde Islands to try to intercept the ship. They had been paying a courtesy visit to Abdijan of the Ivory Coast of Africa.

Another First For Kennedy

President John F. Kennedy talks to reporters last night at his first press conference as chief executive. The conference was televised on a nationwide basis and was a precedent-setter in a number of other ways. It was the first to be held at night and the first formal conference at which direct quotation of the President was permitted immediately and fully. Attendance at the session was 418. (AP Photofax)

House Demos Defer Rayburn Plan Showdown

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Democratic leadership Wednesday put off until next Tuesday a showdown vote on Speaker Sam Rayburn's plan to revamp the Rules Committee.

The surprise action Wednesday irked Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, who said the Kennedy administration was interfering at the Cabinet level in the internal affairs of the House.

Rayburn's plan is designed to break a coalition hold on the Rules Committee and make it more friendly to President Kennedy's legislative program. It would raise committee membership from eight Democrats and four Republicans to 10 Democrats and five Republicans. Four Republicans and two Southern Democrats now control many committee actions. Eight Democratic Kennedy backers would call the shots under the Rayburn plan.

Rayburn has staked his prestige on the success of his proposal to wrest control of the committee from its chairman, Howard W. Smith, D-Va.

Rayburn told a news conference the delay in voting was ordered because many members would not be able to be present Thursday, when the test had been set.

Asked if he needed more time to line up votes, Rayburn said "I don't think we'll be in any worse shape next Tuesday that we are now. And I still think we'll win the fight."

One nose count indicated an edge of possibly thre votes in Rayburn's favor, but it was based on many imponderables. The opposition claimed margin of up to five votes.

12-Year-Old Boy To Be Ordained Minister Friday

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP)—A 12-year-old lad who took to preaching because he suddenly got the urge becomes an ordained minister Friday.

Francis Flosser Jr. son of the Rev. and Mrs. Francis Flosser of Lancaster, takes his vows at the Pentecostal (Protestant) Church in Kennett Square.

The seventh grade pupil, who hopes to finish his high school education while giving lessons himself from the pulpit, says of his rather young ministerial start:

"I was with my Dad (about six months ago) while he was cutting a radio tape for a sermon when all of a sudden I felt the urge to preach and tell the world about the beloved Lord. My Dad let me try it and I've been preaching ever since on Saturday mornings to a radio audience."

His ambition is to finish his education and become a traveling evangelist.

Ex-Cuban President Breaks With Castro

NEW YORK (UPI) — Former Cuban President Carlos Prio Socarras, a long-time champion of Fidel Castro, broke publicly with the bearded revolutionary Wednesday and denounced him for establishing a "Communist tyranny" in Cuba. He pledged support to Castro's foes.

In a signed statement to United Press International in New York, Prio described the Cuba of today as a "conquered but non-submissive nation engaged in a titanic struggle to break the chains enslaving it."

Prio signed his statement in Miami, but he was understood to have left later for Mexico.

Kennedy Bars Major Changes In Ike's Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — Orders went out Wednesday from President Kennedy that there will be no wholesale overhauls attempted in the budget prepared by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Instructions to hold down on changes followed a White House conference amid Republican predictions that the big issue in this year's session of Congress will be a "battle of the budget."

Kennedy reviewed the new Democratic administration's fiscal policy at a session with Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon; Budget Director David Bell; and Walter Heller, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers.

Afterward, Bell issued a directive to all Cabinet officers and other agency heads laying down a policy that changes in the Eisenhower budget should be "limited to a relatively small number of items on which the President wishes to initiate a major change in the scope or direction of governmental programs."

A broad review of all federal programs will have to wait until next January, when the first all-Kennedy administration budget will be submitted to Congress.

Eisenhower's budget, sent to Congress on Jan. 16 was for the fiscal year starting July 1. It proposes expenditures of $80.9 billion against revenues of $82.3 billion, which would leave an anticipated surplus of almost $1.5 billion.

Congressional Republicans already have started organizing for a budget fight in advance of the revisions Kennedy is expected to propose.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois predicted this will be the overriding issue in the 1961 session. He and House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana arranged to meet weekly with colleagues to map strategy.

Dirksen indicated Eisenhower's advice will be sought.

Bell gave agency heads until Feb. 20 to submit proposed changes to the Budget Bureau. He invited informal discussions in advance of this deadline.

Fired Corporation Head Cleared In Bank Theft

SIOUX CITY, Iowa (AP)—The government Wednesday failed to link Harold Eugene Kistner Jr. to a $2-million embezzlement that closed the Sheldon National Bank.

U. S. Commissioner W. M. Forker dismissed a charge of aiding and abetting the embezzlement after a preliminary hearing.

Kistner, 35, fired last week as president of the financially troubled Northern Biochemical Corp. of Sheldon, was immediately released from jail.

Attorney Frank Margolin asked for the dismissal, contending the government showing was entirely inadequate to connect Kistner to the bank shortage. The government had charged Kistner had overdrawn his account by about $21,000.

Burnice Iverson Geiger, 58, assistant cashier and board member of the bank, has admitted the big embezzlement, authorities said. She was a heavy investor in Northern Biochemical.

Meanwhile, an informed source said outside the hearing that Mrs. Geiger kept a running total on adding machine tapes of all the embezzled funds.

The source said that was how federal officials arrived at the $2,126,850.10 figure. The preciseness of the total had puzzled many.

A Federal Bureau of Investigation auditor testified at the hearing that Mrs. Geiger admitted to him she had been taking money from the bank for the last 30 or 40 years.

FBI agent Edward J. Kail Jr. said he found checks totaling about $21,000, written by Mr. and Mrs. Kistner, were paid by the Sheldon National Bank and never charged to their account.

El Salvador Government Overthrown

Anti-Red Military Junta Takes Over After Coup D'Etat

GUATEMALA CITY (UPI) — The embassy of El Salvador here announced Wednesday night that junior army officers have toppled the El Salvador government and established an anti - Communist military junta.

The embassy statement was in the form of a communique issued in San Salvador which described the rightist coup d'etat as "purely military" in nature. It said the young officers had decided on the coup because a "Communist movement" was underway in the country and its leaders were actively engaged in agitation.

The new military junta, as well as the armed revolt which spawned it, are "anti - Communist" and "anti - Ossorio," the statement said. The latter reference was to El Salvador's one-time strongman-President Oscar Ossorio.

The ousted government was a six-man civil-military junta which had overthrown the constitutional government of then President Jose Maria Lemus last Oct. 26.

Earlier, the Guatemalan government described the new military junta as politically right-wing. The Guatemalan report was based on a telephonic report from Ahuachapan, a frontier town just inside El Salvador on the border which links the two countries.

Reports from travelers crossing the frontier said the new military junta was made up of three members, but they were not immediately identified.

Stores, banks and businesses in general were reported closed down in the Salvadorean capital city. Commercial flights resumed to El Salvador late Wednesday.

Kennedy Pledge Against Dollar Gold Cut Urged

WASHINGTON (AP)—A special task force Wednesday urged President Kennedy to make a strong statement that he will not tinker with the value of the dollar. It also recommended that he push forward with the measures ordered by the Eisenhower administration to counter the drain on U.S. gold reserves.

The White House made public a 22-page report by the three-member study group which sought ways in which to reduce the U.S. balance of payments deficit and halt the heavy loss of gold.

"Psychologically," the report said, "what is needed is a strong affirmation by the president-in-office that we are going to maintain the present gold value of the dollar, and that we shall use whatever resources are necessary to this end."

The report added that Kennedy should make it clear "we are not going to tinker with the dollar" nor restrict the flow of funds between the United States and the rest of the world through exchange controls.

The chairman of the task force was Allan Sproul, former president of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. The other two committeemen were former members of the Council of Economic Advisors, Prof. Roy Blough of Columbia University and Prof. Paul W. McCracken of the University of Michigan.

Two important new measures also were advocated. The report said that among steps which "should clearly be taken now" would be the removal of tax incentives which encourage private American investment in other industrial countries and a reduction in the amount of foreign goods—now $500—which returning tourists may bring into the United States free of duty.

The task force also called for further efforts to increase exports and to persuade other countries to share a greater portion of the financing of free world defenses and of aid to emerging nations.

Death Toll Mounts

Marathon Sub-Zero Weather Hangs On

By United Press International

One of the bitterest cold waves on record clamped freezing misery on the North Wednesday and paralyzed southern cities with ice and snow.

The U.S. Weather Bureau chilled hopes of an early warmup. Instead, it predicted colder than normal temperatures during the next five days in nearly all the nation except California and Colorado.

The lowest officially recorded temperature in the nation, the 29 below at Caribou, Maine, was just one degree above the lowest temperature at the South Pole. In New England, it was Connecticut's coldest spell since 1917-1918.

As the total of sub-zero temperatures mounted, so did the toll of deaths caused by cold weather fires, exposure, over-exertion and weather related traffic accidents.

At least 12 persons died Wednesday in fires blamed on overtaxed stoves and heating appliances. Since Thursday, United Press International counted a total of 96 weather-blamed deaths —30 in Pennsylvania, 14 in North Carolina, 13 in New Jersey, 10 in Ohio, 8 in Florida, 5 in Texas, 4 in Kentucky, 3 in West Virginia, 2 each in Indiana, Minnesota and New York State, and 1 each in Illinois, Mississippi and Virginia.

During the coldest 24-hour span of the winter, the temperature dropped to 25 below at both International Falls and Bemidji, Minn., 21 below at Hastings, Mich. 20 below at Summersville, W. Va., 19 below at Minneapolis-St. Paul and Duluth, Minn., 13 below at Columbus, Ohio, and 10 below at Pittsburgh, Pa. Pittsburgh's low broke a Jan. 25 record set in 1897.

The Arctic air dome, centered over the Ohio River Valley, added the Deep South to its victims.

An ice and sleet storm crippled Birmingham and held traffic to a snail's pace across north central Alabama. Airliners were held up at the Birmingham airport until they could be de-iced. City buses twisted on icy roads, blocking some of them. At Mobile, ice closed down three schools.

Iced roads also closed schools in two northern Mississippi counties. The cold was moving in on Florida and promised sub-freezing temperatures in the state's northwest before dawn.

Laos Drive Stalled By Rebel Artillery

LUANG PRABANG, Laos (UPI) — Heavy artillery barrages from pro-Communist forces were reported Wednesday to have stalled a drive by Laotian government troops up the Vientiane - Luang Prabang highway aimed at traping an estimated 1,000 rebels.

Military authorities said a royal Laotian army column driving north on the highway had run into stiff rebel resistance in its attempt to capture the strategic mountain town of Muong Kassy, 45 miles south of this royal capital.

The government column previously was reported within three miles of Muong Kassy. It was to have joined with another government force moving south to trap the rebels at the Sala Phou Khoun road junction, 35 miles southeast of here.

20 Castro Soldiers Reported Hanged

HAVANA (UPI) — Diplomatic sources said Wednesday they had been reliably informed that anti-Castro guerrillas in the Sierra de Escambray had hanged 20 of Fidel Castro's militiamen in reprisal against his resumption of firing squad executions.

The government so far has admitted only the execution by guerrillas of a Communist schoolteacher and two militiamen, an act which Castro vowed angrily would mean "total annihilation" for his foes.

The diplomatic sources said Castro's "shock" over the guerrillas' wholesale reprisals against his followers explained the sullen and depressed mood in which he appeared Monday night when he pledged his foes "tenacious, implacable persecution, the like of which they never imagined."

Freed Fliers Have Left For U.S., Soviet Reports

MOSCOW, Thursday (AP)—Two U. S. fliers, held here since July 1 and released by the Soviet Union, already have left for the United States, it was announced early Thursday.

Capt. John R. McKone of Topeka, Kan., and Capt. Freeman B. Olmstead of Elmira, N. Y., two survivors of a U. S. Air Force RB47 reconnaissance bomber shot down by a Soviet fighter last July, were handed over to U. S. authorities Thursday.

The Soviet Union announced the action Thursday, Soviet time, about an hour after word of their release was told to a news conference in Washington by President Kennedy.

The U. S. Embassy said the two men were brought to the embassy Wednesday. They remained for a time and then continued their journey to the United States.

The embassy observed strict secrecy as to their movements and the discussions between Soviet Premier Khrushchev and U. S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson that led up to their freedom.

The Soviet announcement said the prisoners were freed out of a "sincere desire to usher in a new stage in the relations between the Soviet government and the United States."

Tass, official Soviet news agency, said the decision was taken by the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet, or parliament.

The United States claimed the B47 was shot down over the Barents Sea. The Soviet Union charged they were over Soviet territory.

The Soviet announcement came less than an hour after President Kennedy disclosed the airmen's release.

No Deal Made For Release, Kennedy Says

President Asks Delay In Renewal Of Atom Ban Talks

AMSTERDAM, Netherlands (AP)—Two U. S. fliers, released by the Soviet Union after six months in prison, arrived here Thursday and took off for the United States after a short stop.

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy announced Wednesday night that the Soviet Union—with no concession in return — has released two U.S. fliers shot down over the arctic last July in an RB47 reconnaissance plane.

"The United States government," Kennedy said, "is gratified by this decision of the Soviet Union and considers that this action of the Soviet government removes a serious obstacle to the improvement of Soviet-American relations."

In Moscow, the Soviet Foreign Ministry announced that the Americans were released because of "a sincere desire to usher in a new stage in the relations between the Soviet government and the United States."

After the news conference the White House said Kennedy misstated the time of the fliers' release—that he meant to say 2 a.m. Wednesday instead of 2 a.m. Tuesday.

Session Shatters Precedent

This news of the fliers was the outstanding disclosure, among a number of others, at the new chief executive's first news conference since he took office Friday. It was a conference that was broadcast live over all radio and TV networks. It shattered precedents, drew what White House officials said was a record 418 newsmen, and lasted 36½ minutes.

On domestic matters, Kennedy told questioners he intends to send special messages to Congress soon on the problems of the gold outflow from the United States, unemployment, and stimulation of the economy.

The setting of the conference was the large auditorium in the new State Department Building —a shift from a crowded treaty room in the Executive Office Building across the street from the White House.

Kennedy 90 Seconds Late

Kennedy walked in at 6:01½ p.m., a minute and a half late. It was 6:38 when Marvin L. Arrowsmith of The Associated Press voiced the "Thank you, Mr. President," which always ends these sessions with reporters. Kennedy looked a bit startled, smiled and replied with a "thank you" of his own.

The release of the fliers, the President said, was discussed in a friendly conference last Saturday between Llewellyn Thompson, U. S. ambassador in Moscow, and Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

Kennedy also disclosed that this country has requested more time to prepare for resumption of talks on an atomic test ban at Geneva. These were scheduled to begin again Feb. 7. The President said this country has proposed they be put off until late March.

He volunteered a third announcement — that the United States also is increasing gifts of foods to relieve famine conditions in the Congo.

Wide-Ranging Conference

Then, in a free-wheeling question and answer session, covering both domestic and international affairs, the chief executive said that:

—The new administration is not considering restoring diplomatic relations with Cuba at this time.

—With respect to protecting voting rights of the people, a matter of civil rights, the administration "will pursue the problem of pro-

Kennedy Asks Action On Jobs Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy Wednesday called on Congress for prompt passage of legislation to provide federal grants and loans for redevelopment of the nation's depressed areas.

Kennedy sent letters to Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn, D-Tex., heartily endorsing the sweeping recommendations of his depressed areas task force headed by Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill.

Many recommendations of that report are embodied in a pending Senate bill by Douglas to provide about $390 million in federal funds for loans, technical help, and federal grants to foster the establishment and expansion of industries in cities having chronic unemployment problems.

Ship Seizure Turns Light On Portugal Dictatorship

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — As many Brazilians see it, the men who seized the liner Santa Maria struck a strong blow against Portugal's dictatorship by calling worldwide attention to it.

Brazil has the largest Portuguese colony outside Portugal, and sentiment Wednesday was building up in favor of Henrique Galvao and his band of political adventurers. Some of the newspapers were assailing the United states and Britain for sending patrols to hunt the Santa Maria—in effect, as they view it, playing the game of Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar of Portugal.

For years, rebels failed to ignite more than a spark of international resentment against Salazar while he won acceptance in councils of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and received a visit from President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

But recently Portugal has come under serious diplomatic attack, mainly from the new nations of Africa and Asia opposing what they regard as Salazar's unyielding colonial policies.

Stunts aimed at publicizing seemingly hopeless causes are nothing new. But the daring of Galvao in taking over a 20,000-ton ship, the second largest in Portugal's merchant fleet, has captured imaginations.

This giant South American country is a haven for Portuguese fleeing Salazar's dictatorship and his country's lack of economic opportunity. Here in Brazil, people speak the same language.

viding that protection with all vigor."

—Flights of U2 spy planes over the Soviet Union were suspended by the Eisenhower administration and "I have ordered that they not be resumed." Kennedy said the Russians understand the difference between such flights and those of the RB47 for reconnaissance purposes.

—The U. S. Navy "has not been given instructions to conduct boarding operations" against the seized Portuguese cruise ship Santa Maria. The ship has been spotted and present orders to the Navy are to accompany it.

—It is extremely important that House members have an opportunity to vote on programs he will put forward for the good of the country and "I hope that a small minority will not prevent the majority from voting on those bills." This was an allusion to an attempt of House leaders to boost the size of the rules committee, which can block legislation whenever Republicans and Southern Democrats team up.

—As for a possible meeting with Khrushchev, Kennedy said there is no change in his stated position—which has been that there must be proper advance preparation. There are no plans for such a meeting, he said, and the matter is unrelated to the release of the RB47 crew.

The two American fliers who have been freed are Capt. Freeman B. Olmstead of Elmira, N.Y., and Capt. John R. McKone of Topeka, Kan.

They had been held prisoner in Russia since their RB47 reconnaissance plane was downed by a Russian fighter over the Barents Sea last July 1.

The United States contended the plane was shot down over international waters; Russia contended it was over Soviet territory. Premier Nikita Khrushchev declared last year that they would be brought to trial on charges of espionage. The Russians up to now have turned a dead ear to American demands that the two men be released.

The two men, only apparent survivors of the six-man crew of the RB47, are believed to have been held in the Moscow vicinity.

Seating Of Jury For Rees Trial Expected Today

BALTIMORE (AP)—Questioning 50 of 85 jury panel members Wednesday consumed the first day of the kidnap trial of Melvin Davis Rees Jr. in U. S. District Court.

The dance band musician from Hyattsville, Md., is accused by Maryland and Virginia in the slayings two years ago of all four members of the Carroll V. Jackson Jr. family of Apple Grove, Va.

But the federal charges on which he is being tried allege only that he kidnaped Mrs. Mildred Ann Jackson, 27, and her 5-year-old daughter, Susan, whose bodies were found in Maryland.

It appeared likely a jury of 12 with four alternates would be seated Thursday, probably soon enough to permit opening statements by opposing attorneys.

This would leave little time for testimony until Monday, however, because the federal court recesses trial cases for three days on weekends.

The only thing which broke the monotony of the tedious jury questioning was disagreement between Chief District Judge Roszel C. Thomsen and defense attorneys William J. Evans and William J. O'Donnell.

Each of the 50 prospective jurors was asked about a dozen questions prepared by the prosecution and defense. Judge Thomsen read most of them, defense counsel the others.

Nine were stricken from the panel, six because they said they had objections to capital punishment. The Lindbergh law under which Rees was indicted carries a maximum penalty of death—if the jury recommends it — and the government is expected to ask for it.

Panel members' answers to other questions brought five challenges from defense attorneys and led to several exchanges of sharp words between the lawyers and the judge. The judge said he would rule on the challenges later.

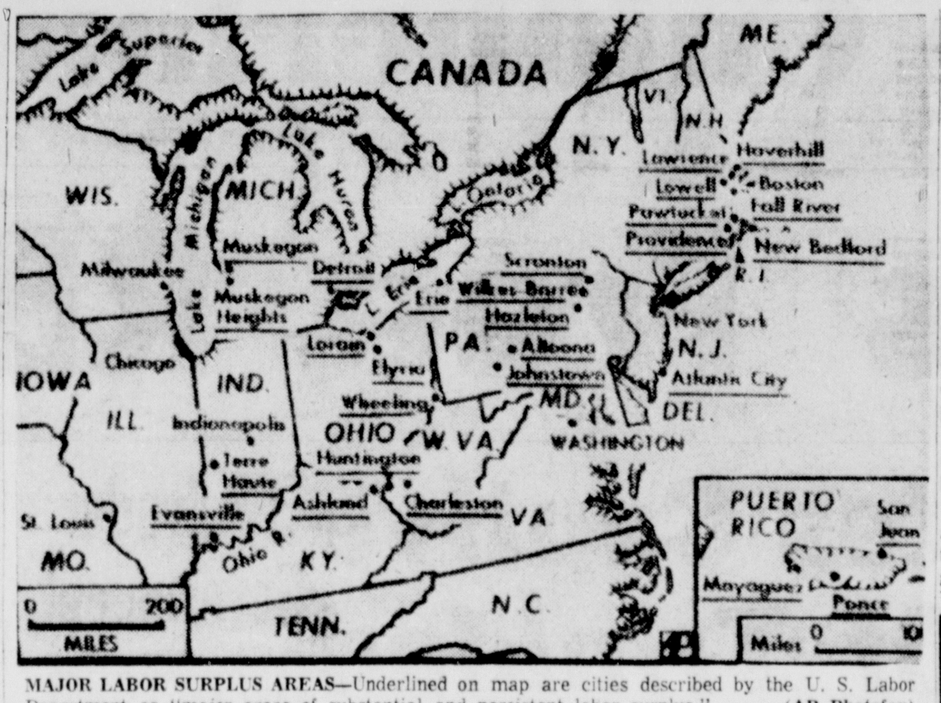

One question which caused trouble was whether indictment of a defendant by the grand jury carried any presumption of guilt with the prospective juror.

Eric Johnston Aide Dies At Bethesda

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gerald W. Movius, an assistant to Eric Johnston, president of the Motion Picture Association of America, died Wednesday in Suburban Hospital at Bethesda, Md.

Movius, a native of Bowbells, N.D., was a former newspaperman and free lance magazine writer who joined Johnston's staff in 1945 when the latter was president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

Survivors include his wife, of Rockville, Md.

MAJOR LABOR SURPLUS AREAS—Underlined on map are cities described by the U. S. Labor Department as "major areas of substantial and persistent labor surplus." (AP Photofax)

Depressed Areas Islands Of Poverty In Sea Of Plenty

EDITOR'S NOTE: Islands of poverty in a sea of plenty—such are the depressed labor areas of the nation. In the following, the first of a series of stories on a tour of the depressed areas, Nate Polowetzky, Associated Press assistant general business editor, outlines the general picture.

By NATE POLOWETZKY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ghost towns with decaying homes and hungry children, empty mines and idle steel plants, long lines of grim men collecting unemployment payments and fruitlessly seeking jobs.

These are scenes prevailing in many parts of the United States, especially in the huge land mass stretching down from New England, through some of the Middle Atlantic states, down the Appalachian Mountain range and a bit west.

To economists and statisticians these are places of substantial and persistent labor surplus.

In simpler terms they are the depressed areas of the nation, where an economic blight has sat for some years, reviving memories of the worst of the depression days of the 1930's.

They are unique in that the areas improve not at all, or only a little, as the nation's economic health gets better, but get worse in times of mildest recession, or as changes develop in consumer or industrial tastes.

President Kennedy has given top priority to legislation aimed at curing the illness.

A Senate bill by Illinois' economist-senator, Paul Douglas, calls for government loans and grants to build new plants in industrial and rural areas, help attract new industries by improving public facilities, aid in the retraining of workers to qualify them for new jobs, and to provide backing for technical assistance such as studies to determine the economic potential of a distressed area.

There are many leaders in the areas, however, who see no hope for a solution in the foreseeable future. They look upon federal aid only as a temporary help.

Some business and management leaders, too, declare the only solution can come from the affected communities in a sort of "Bootstrap" operation to improve present industrial plants and attract new industries by creating what they call a favorable business climate.

Summing up the situation of unemployed workers in the depressed areas, one West Virginia observer said: "they are casualties of the economy, just as soldiers are casualties of war."

The depressed areas are part of an economic picture which sees the United States in a recession, with 4½ million persons unemployed and the figure likely to reach another million in another month or two.

The "soaring sixties" failed to get off the ground last year. The economy demonstrated it had not really recovered from the 1958 recession. Old industries didn't expand and provide new jobs for a growing labor force. New industries couldn't take up the slack.

Dr. Ralph Robey, economic advisor of the National Association of Manufacturers, believes one of the reasons for the dip was the "profit squeeze."

"The fact that business profits have shown no growth at all for a decade undoubtedly has a great deal to do with the present lack of buoyancy in our economy," he said. He said businessmen didn't have enough profits left over to reinvest and that the level of profits wasn't enough to attract new investment.

Most economists now predict a definite business pickup for at least the latter part of the year. There probably will be more investment and reinvestment, and an easing of some taxes.

But the outlook is still gloomy for the depressed areas, which may show little improvement.

According to the Labor Department there are some 95 major and smaller such areas. Douglas estimates that some 15 to 20 million people live in these sections and approximately 600,000 of them are unemployed. This may be a conservative estimate.

The unemployment rate in these areas averages 12 per cent of the civilian labor force—the nation's figure is 6.4 while in some sections it goes as high as 25 per cent or more.

French Reds Admit Rift In Leadership

PARIS (UPI) — The French Communist party admitted Wednesday night there was a rift in its leadership and issued a call to members to rally around party boss Maurice Thorez.

The party's political bureau called a special meeting Wednesday night to discuss the split which developed as a result of President Charles de Gaulle's victory in the Jan. 8 referendum on Algeria.

Following the meeting which lasted several hours, the politburo issued a statement denouncing two of its members, Marcel Servin and Laurent Casanova for disagreeing with the party line in Algeria in an "opportunist manner."

Informed sources said the rift involved two factions within the party hierarchy over basic tactics the Communists should adopt in the face of De Gaulle's demonstrated popularity with a large majority of the French people.

Atom Power Seen As Key To Space

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Nuclear power may be the key to the conquest of space by manned vehicles, the general manager of the Atomic Energy Commission said Wednesday.

Maj. Gen. A. R. Luedecke, speaking at the dedication of a 10-kilowatt nuclear reactor at the University of Maryland, said nuclear power also will be used in agriculture, medicine and industry.

But, he added, though it is a responsibility of the Atomic Energy Commission to provide leadership to assure that America remains in the forefront of atomic development, it is the responsibility of universities to provide future nuclear scientists and engineers.

"It is clear that the colleges and universities of the United states must be looked to to provide atomic scientists and engineers trained in nuclear technology."

Wife Beater Dies Of Overexertion

SHENANDOAH, Pa. (UPI) — Mrs. Dora Baranowski, 73, ran into a neighbor's house Wednesday and said she fled from her home when her husband started beating her about the head with a hatchet wrapped in a towel.

Police went to the Baranowski home and found the husband, Stanley, 70, a retired coal miner, dead on the kitchen floor, the hatchet beside him.

Dr. Joseph Tomlin said death was due to a heart attack induced by overexertion.

Mrs. Baranowski treated at a hospital for head lacerations. Her condition was reported good.

Peanut Butter Will Be Given To Needy

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Agriculture Department said Wednesday it will soon add peanut butter to the list of foods donated to needy families.

The department said the step will be taken to comply with Preside... Kennedy's directive to expand the quantity and variety of foods in the relief program.

Under the program, the government donates food — some taken from its surplus stockpiles and some bought for the operation — for distribution to needy families by state and local welfare authorities.

Secrets Of Charm

Achieve Grace In Alighting From A Car

In this nation on wheels caught in the "racy" spirit of the sports-car trend fashion is really on the go. The interese in American and foreign sportscars has grown by leaps and bounds. Women have taken to the open road in clothes that are especially suitable and put them in the best-dressed outdoor list.

Complete and colorful outfits and accessories have been made so women can match their cars. Snug scarfs and hoods to keep the hair from blowing; large handbags called "car totes"; umbrellas; jewelry; slim, tapered trousers; short jackets for easy sliding in and out of cars, scarves with various car and signal motifs are in the lineup. There's no limit to the fashions this sportscar age inspires.

But, with all this perfection and fuss . . one important factor may have been overlooked. How many women have given any thought on how they look getting in and out of a low-slung car?

To achieve grace and ease on leaving a car, slide over to the end of the seat. Reach out sidewise with the foot nearest the door until it touches the ground. Then give a little push with the foot that remains in the car and use the momentum gathered to lift up and out of the car in a sidewise position (this has to be done with a confident grace that only practice can make perfect). You let your head and shoulders lead . . trusting the hips to follow. Last, but not least . . bring the feet together on the ground and do a quick, graceful right-about-face. You're grounded . . and charmingly!

HEALTH AND SPARKLING PERSONALITY GO HAND IN HAND . . . and both add up to teen-age charm. "Personality Plus Through Diet," a new teen-slanted charm aid, gives you easy, scientific information to build a healthier, more personable you. Industry Denounces Md. Tax Bill As "Vicious"

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Industry representatives Wednesday denounced as "vicious" a bill before the Maryland Legislature to tax equipment and land leased by private industry from the federal or state governments.

Chief objectors at a Senate Finance Committe hearing represented the Martin Co., Fairchild Engine and Aircraft Co., Westinghouse Corp. and ACF Industries.

They said the bill might look like "a luscious windfall" for the state and its county governments now, but said such a law would wind up driving industries out of Maryland.

The proposed tax primarily would affect defense industries which lease tools and equipment directly from the federal government for manufacturing missiles, aircraft and other specialized equipment.

State tax officials estimated that a similar bill in 1959 would add $125 million in leasehold real estate to state and county tax rolls.

Albert W. Ward, director of the Department of Assessments and taxation, said Wednesday the figures would be somewhat less now because of a "shrinkage in inventories" — but still would involve a considerable amount of money.

The bill, sponsored by Sen. James A. Pine, D-Balto County, is similar to a measure which has failed twice before in the legislature.

Joseph S.Kaufman, assistant attorney general, told the committee "states generally are taxing this type of property." He mentioned New York, California, Pennsylvania and New Jersey among others.

As a test case, the state has attempted to tax this type of property held by the Martin Co. and has won its case in lower court. It has been appealed by the company to the State Court of Appeals with arguments scheduled in March.

William B. Rafferty, representing Martin, Westinghouse and ACF Industries at the hearing, told the committee it should not attempt to adopt such a tax policy with the question still to be settled in the courts.

Liquor Stamp Plan Opposed

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—A statewide organization of county officials asked the legislature Wednesday to make no change in the system of requiring Maryland tax stamps on bottles of whisky sold in the state.

Over the objections of State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein, the Legislative Council has recommended that the stamping system be abandoned. Goldstein contends this would result in increased bootlegging and decreased state revenues from the whisky tax.

H. T. Slaughter of Talbot County, president of the State Association of County Commissioners, advised the legislature of the group's endorsement of Goldstein's stand in a formal "memorial," or official paper addressed to the Senate and House of Delegates.

The association noted Goldstein argued that only the liquor industry would benefit and the State might be hurt if the stamp system were abandoned.

Trucker Maryland's 22d Traffic Fatality

BALTIMORE (AP)—A Pennsylvania trucker became Maryland's 22nd traffic fatality of the year Wednesday.

The victim, Luther Christine, 49, of York was fatally injured when the tank truck he was driving struck the rear of a parked tractor - trailer rig on the Baltimore-Harrisburg Expressway in Baltimore County.

Christine was dead on arrival at Johns Hopkins Hospital here.

A year ago at the same time, Maryland had recorded 42 dead in highway accidents.

Hagerstown Mayor Seeks Third Term

HAGERSTOWN (AP)—Winslow F. Burhans has won the Democratic nomination for mayor of Hagerstown and will bid for his third term in a municipal election March 26 against Republican Walter M. Daniels.

Daniels, a wholesale lumber dealer, won the GOP nomination without opposition in the primary voting Tuesday. Burhans, operator of a home improvement firm, defeated Leonard S. Humelsine for the Democratic nomination.

Baltimore Funeral

BALTIMORE (AP) — Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Louise Morfit, mother of television star Garry Moore, will be held here Saturday.

Mrs. Morfit's body will be flown here from Denver, where she had been living for the past two years. Mrs. Morfit, 80, died Tuesday after a long illness.

North Carolina claims to maintain more highway milage than does any other state in the Union.

City Workers Are Approved

The promotions of several city employes, previously approved by the Mayor and Council, have been ratified by the Civil Service Commission.

Approved were Earl G. Young, as weighmaster and William R. Folk as regular watchman at the same facility.

Council approved the two promotions at its January 16 meeting following a verbal exchange between Commissioner John J. Long and Commissioner Lucile Roeder.

Young has been watchman since the death of Guy F. Long, it was noted at the council meeting. Folk previously had been a laborer in the Street Department.

Also approved last night was a change in the classification of Claude Twigg, from pipefitter to meter reader in the Water Department.

A number of other routine actions, requested by various city departments, were discussed by the commission.

Personal Income Sets A Record

An economic wag has called the current economic state in the United States the most prosperous recession in history.

If there were any justification for the alleged witticism, it was in the fact that total personal income had been rising monthly for more than a year. This was achieved in the face of increasing unemployment and declining industrial production. But the paradox has come to an end.

The turnabout came in November. From a record annual rate of $409.5 billion in October, the personal income rate dropped to $409 billion in the following month and down to $406.7 billion in December.

Nonetheless, for the full year it was a record for personal income. Despite the November-December drop, this key economic indicator in 1960 averaged out at $404.2 billion, an increase of nearly 5½ per cent over 1959's rate of $383.3 billion.

The December drop is the first real indication that the recession has cut into consumer purchasing power. But this doesn't prove that consumers do not have the money to spend. Personal savings, in one form or another, have been on the increase. All consumers need is a little confidence.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Statement Of Policy

In his Inaugural Address, President Kennedy laid down his policy. Kennedy said:

"Let every nation know, whether it wish us well or ill, that we shall pay any price, bear any burden, meet any hardship, support any friend, oppose any foe to assure the survival and success of liberty.

"This much we pledge—and more."

Then he restated the Monroe Doctrine in his own words:

"To our sister republics south of our border, we offer a special pledge—to convert our good words into good deeds—in a new alliance for progress—to assist free men and free governments in casting off the chains of poverty. But this peaceful revolution of hope cannot become the prey of hostile powers. Let all our neighbors know that we shall join with them to oppose aggression or subversion anywhere in the Americas. And let every other power know that this hemisphere intends to remain the master of its own house."

In many respects this statement is as strong, if not stronger than the original Monroe Doctrine. In fact, Kennedy issued a threat—clearly a threat—to those nations "who would make themselves our adversary."

"Finally, to those nations who would make themselves our adversary, we offer not a pledge but a request: that both sides begin anew the quest for peace, before the dark powers of destruction unleashed by science engulf all humanity in planned or accidental self-destruction.

"We dare not tempt them with weakness. For only when our arms are sufficient beyond doubt can we be certain beyond doubt that they will never be employed."

If these statements are put together, they become a guiding policy, namely, that the United States will prepare vigorously for war, if it should come; that the United States has no program of appeasement but does have a program of the defense of liberty and territorial independence, for all peoples, particularly for those of the Americas.

The United States seeks peace and is willing to negotiate for peace, but it will not negotiate from fear. He said:

"So let us begin anew—remembering on both sides that civility is not a sign of weakness, and sincerity is always subject to proof. Let us never negotiate out of fear. But let us never fear to negotiate."

Khrushchev understands precisely what all this means. He will excerpt these paragraphs as they are excerpted here; he will tear the thought out of the verbiage and recognize that he is dealing with a tough hombre, who does not speak soft or act soft. All this will be clear to the Russian. He is warned that good manners are "not a sign of weakness," but their lack can engender disgust. If Khrushchev believes that Kennedy is a sissy and that he can hurl a shoe at him, he is mistaken.

On the other hand, President Kennedy must recognize that Soviet Russia cannot relinquish its main objective which is to reduce the entire world to an acceptance of Marxist sociology and economics. Whereas Khrushchev masks his intentions behind such generous phrases as competitive co-existence, Mao Tze-tung is more honest and frank. Mao, as an orthodox Communist, desires a war upon the United States immediately. In the recent great conference in Moscow, Mao's insistence upon war was voted down, but every statement out of Peking establishes his moral rejection of the Kremlin decision. Mao has a famine to look after; otherwise he would not have retreated.

President Kennedy in his Inaugural says he will not make Harry Truman's mistake about "good, old Joe." He said: "Sincerity is always subject to proof." So, Kennedy is in no hurry:

"All this will not be finished in the first 100 days. Nor will it be finished in the first 1,000 days, nor in the life of this Administration, nor even perhaps in our lifetime on this planet . . ."

Surely, the course toward understanding did not begin with this Inaugural Address. It began when Franklin D. Roosevelt and Winston Churchill rescued Stalin from defeat and were rewarded by treachery. It began when the United States gave Soviet Russia $11,000,000,000 to found the industry which is now being used against us. It began at Teheran and Yalta. It was continued at Camp David and before that at the First Summit Conference. "Let us begin" — is not historically correct. "Let us try again after many failures and disappointments," would have been more accurate.

Henry Ford, Contributor To GOP, Helps With Democratic Deficit

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Henry Ford II has always been a generous contributor to the Republican party, but this year he found himself contributing to the campaign debt of the Democrats.

Just before the Inauguration, Mr. Ford's representative turned up in the office of Matt McCloskey, the Philadelphia builder who has worked so hard as treasurer of the Democratic National Committee.

He said: "Because Mr. McNamara is in the cabinet Mr. Ford would like to come down for the Inauguration and wants eight tickets for the Inaugural Gala."

"That will cost him $800," replied McCloskey. "But a box holds ten. Why doesn't Mr. Ford take a box instead?"

"That might be a good idea, replied the Ford representative. "That will cost him $10,000."

"Oh, Mr. McCloskey," moaned the Ford Emissary. "Mr. Ford would fire me if I paid that much."

"He'll fire you if you come back with the seats I'm going to give you if you don't take a box," replied the man who has raised so much money for the Democratic Party.

"But look what we've done for the Democrats. We've given you Mr. McNamara for Secretary of Defense."

"You didn't give him to us. He quit and we hired him," countered McCloskey.

JFK — Eight Years Ago

Eight years is a relatively short time in the life span of man. But eight years ago from the day that John F. Kennedy took the oath as President of the United States things were quite different.

Here is what the President of the United States did on January 20, 1953, as Dwight D. Eisenhower was inagurated.

He gave a diner that night in the Georgetown house he had rented from Dr. Samuel A. Alexander at 3271 P Street. Having rented the house a few days before, and being a 35-year-old bachelor, he hadn't bothered to look the house over. At the last minute he discovered there was no stove. There was also no hot water.

Actually it was the family cook, Margaret Ambrose, flown down from Hyannis Port, Mass., for the occasion who made this discovery when she started to cook dinner. Twelve guests had been invited, but there was no stove. George, the butler, was sent out to buy a hot plate.

Jacqueline Bouvier, who was to become Mrs. Kennedy later that September, was one of the guests. And the Senator, who had taken the oath only two weeks before, drove to her home to pick her up—something he seldom did with others. The Kennedy sisters were also present, still single, and Jackie looked a bit horrified when they engaged in "Indian wrestling" before dinner. This was rather a rough game which sometimes found the participants wrapped inside rugs on the floor.

However, it took a long time to cook dinner—on that one hot plate—even though the cook resorted to hamburgers.

The other guests included Joan Lawler, Langdon Marvin, a cousin of Franklin Roosevelt, and Lemoyne Billings of New York. After the dinner was over—very late—the problem arose of getting to the Eisenhower Ball. Unlike the retinue of limousines and Secret Service cars that escorted Mr. Kennedy to five different Inaugural balls on January 20, 1961, he could find no car on January 20, 1953.

But one thing remained the same. It was snowing.

Langdon Marvin had rented a Diamond Taxi, however, and most of the guests piled into that.

Kennedy, a very freshman Senator, hadn't enough pull to get a box at the ball. But he finally got there, and danced on that crowded floor—almost unnoticed. To the very few who did notice him, not one would have dreamed that eight years later he would be the President of the United States.

African Oversight

Last fall this column called attention to President Eisenhower's failure to see new African Presidents and Premiers when he went to New York for the UN Assembly, thereby letting Premier Khrushchev make a lot of hay by attending all sorts of African receptions.

Last week President Kennedy also failed to show at a special reception given in honor of the 16 new African republics, though he found time to attend all sorts of other parties.

The reception was given by the older African ambassadors for the new African ambassadors whose countries have just attained their independence. And since Kennedy as a Senator was a pioneer for African independence, everyone expected him to be present.

African ambassadors were delighted, though not surprised, when Kennedy accepted. They were crestfallen when he failed to turn up.

Instead, Kennedy attended a big reception thrown by Bart Lytton, the Los Angeles savings and loan banker, at the Statler, three blocks away from the African reception.

African disappointment increased when later the President turned up at various private parties, as late as 3:30 a. m.

Note — Mennen "Soapy" Williams, six times governor of Michigan and new Assistant Secretary of State for Africa, partly made up for Kennedy's absence. He came early, stayed late. Instead of standing around and smiling, as do most State Department officials, he buttonholed ambassadors, discussed their problems, and three hours later, when almost everyone else had left, was still going strong.

Reporter's Memories Of Other Inaugurations

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — All Inaugural ceremonies are inspiring, and the addresses usually produce a thrill and widespread approbation. But memories are short. How many people can recall what happened even as recently as the first Eisenhower Inauguration? Here is a dispatch by this writer just eight years ago.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20 (1953)—An unforgettable Inaugural . . . the transfer of authority . . . solemnly and yet with a spontaneous cheer . . echoes of a triumphant election conducted by the people freely . . . few places on earth where such freedom prevails.

The outgoing President participating and showing loyalty to free institutions . . . The new President taking the oath . . . "to preserve, protect, and defend the Constitution" . . . A kiss first for the First Lady and then a prayer of dedication.

Now the Inaugural Address . . . The people packed in the streets before him . . . the sun casting its warm glow . . . the words coming clear over the great esplanade on the East Front of the Capitol . . . heard also around the world through radio . . . the ceremony itself seen by millions through television . . . in the presence of the Senate, the House, the Supreme Court, the diplomatic corps.

A message of hope, of high purpose and of resolution. One excerpt tells it all—the way to inevitable peace:

"To produce this unity, to meet the challenge of our time, destiny has laid upon our country the responsibility of the free world's leadership. So it is proper that we assure our friends once again that, in the discharge of this responsibility, we Americans know and observe the difference between world leadership and imperialism; between firmness and truculence; between a thoughtfully calculated goal and spasmodic reaction to the stimulus of emergencies.

"We wish our friends the world over to know this above all: we face the threat—not with dread and confusion — but with confidence and conviction."

The applause rings out . . . for those few words proclaim the new policy—"a thoughtfully calculated goal" and not the opportunism of "spasmodic reaction" to recurrent crises reminding us of our lack of firmness to meet the first crisis. Never, he adds, must we be "proven guilty of the one capital offense against freedom, a lack of staunch faith."

The phrases are pregnant with meaning . . . implicit rather than explicit, but penetrating thoughts just the same . . . Especially significant the sentences: "We must be ready to dare all for our country . . . we must be willing, individually and as a nation, to accept whatever sacrifices are required of us . . . we must acquire proficiency in defense and display stamina of purpose."

Firmness, strength, steadfastness, courage, bravery . . . a readiness to face the bluff of the Russian tyrant with the moral force of our united peoples . . . the goal is clearly pointed out—the "winning of the peace."

Memories of other inaugurations . . . January 20, 1949, when Harry Truman stood there humbly and without rancor . . . January 20, 1945, when Franklin Roosevelt wasn't able to go to the Capitol but stood on the White House balcony . . . his face haggard and pale . . . his cheeks sunken as his son James lifted him to the pedestal to speak the Inaugural message . . . less than ninety days later the President was dead.

Back to March 4, 1933, when the same man in vibrant phrases, with strength of voice and body, said, "The only thing we have to fear is fear itself."

Back to March 4, 1913, when Woodrow Wilson, with the finest phrases of them all—not a word written for him—spoke his message of inspiration as the Democrats took over for the first time since 1897 . . . a span of sixteen years.

Then, on March 4, 1921, when a Republican took over again . . . Woodrow Wilson, victorious leader in World War I but now enfeebled . . unable to walk to the front of the Capitol . . . bidding his successor, Warren Harding, good luck in the Vice President's room where the outgoing President had come to sign last-minute bills . . . Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge, the elder—archfoe of the League of Nations and of Wilson—standing nearby . . . the cold look that Wilson gave him . . . the polite, deferential Harding helping the broken Wilson to his feet . . . Harding taking the oath a few minutes later alone on the East Front, happy, hopeful, solemn.

Memories of William Howard Taft as he said farewell at Union Station, too, of March 4, 1913 . . . a reporter asking him what he would miss most . . . "Ah," he said, "the power, the power of the Presidency."

Thoughts of Truman . . . the power he had . . . the power we bestow on all our Presidents . . . they little realize sometimes that it is temporary and transient . . . the true power is with the people, to repudiate them or enshrine them . . . wondering if we will be patient, unpartisan, tolerant till we see.

Maybe we can be.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

CHESTER BOWLES — Oddly enough, the one Kennedy nominee most familiar with Asiatic affairs and most highly thought of by officials of that region faced confirmation difficulties on Capitol Hill.

Former Rep. Chester Bowles, Connecticut Democrat and one-time U.S. Ambassador to India, ran into senatorial opposition to his appointment to the State Department. The reason: Bowles has spoken favorably of a "two-Chinas" policy for the U.S., which implies that Red China would be seated in the U.N. and Nationalist China, with headquarters on Formosa, would retain her seat in the body.

Bowles has discussed this plan in an effort to find a realistic solution to the diplomatic impasse created by the present American position. But a number of Senators who have delivered fiery speeches opposing recognition of Red China under any circumstances objected to being put on the spot by being asked to vote for confirmation of a man with such beliefs.

GROWING CAPITAL — Like most everything else these days, the capital is growing. A part of its growth program calls for clearing a two-block area adjacent to the present grounds either for a park or for an addition to the Library of Congress.

Trouble is that the section is one of the attractive areas for individuals who like to buy and restore old houses. Some of the ranges in prices offered by the government are quite fantastic.

One row of three outwardly identical homes were offered at $16,500, $19,000 and $23,800. Obviously that first fellow is unhappy.

Two outwardly identical row houses were tagged at $17,000 and $28,500. A home next to a congressman's Washington residence was priced at $23,500; the congressman's larger home was labeled at $52,500.

Anyone who doesn't want to accept the offered price may go to court for a determination. It looks like there'll be a heavily loaded case docket.

One factor apt to work a hardship on owners: they must vacate by May 1, whether or not their money is still tied up awaiting a court determination.

Maybe we can be.

By John Crosby

In the beautifully written Inaugural Address, the paragraph that attracted me most and attracted the attention of the editorial writers, too, was this: 'To those people in the huts and villages of half the globe struggling to break the bonds of mass misery, we pledge our best efforts to help them help themselves, for whatever period is required—not because the Communists may be doing it, not because we seek their votes, but because it is right. If a free society cannot help the many who are poor, it cannot save the few who are rich."

It's a noble paragraph. It is unusual, almost unprecedented, for a politician to appeal to naked morality, to urge a position simply because it is right. For one thing, it takes great confidence in one's rightness. Winston Churchill was the last politician to speak of naked virtue with such confidence. But then Churchill had a World War at his back and wars spur politicians to giving tongue to moral utterance for lack of anything else to utter.

Courage, candor, a sense of style, and a high nobility—it took all these things to form that paragraph. However, it ll take much more of all those qualities to face the true implications of that pledge to help break the bonds of mass misery. That is, if that paragraph was intended to be taken seriously rather than simply meant as high flown oratory.

For the rest of the problem of mass misery is mass. We can open our hearts and open our granaries until the hearts are bled white and the granaries are empty—and still we shall not even begin to approach a solution to the problem of mass misery. There is only one solution and that is population control. And that, in bluntest terms, means birth control. And that, in bluntest terms, is modern contraception, the greatest invention of the nineteenth century.

This planet was not designed to hold three billion people (which will be its population any minute now) without a vast amount of mass misery. It's even less designed to hold six billion which will be its population in the year 2000. Just how many people will the planet hold comfortably? It's a moot point. Some say fifty billion—but life would resemble anthood rather than manhood. The fact that this figure is not more openly discussed and studied is in itself a shocking dereliction of public responsibility.

The most forceful opposition to artificial birth control in our half of the planet comes from the Roman Catholic Church. Population explosion is what mass misery is, and, if President Kennedy really is serious about relieving it, it means a break—on that subject at least—with his own church. (He differed sharply with some of the hierarchy on other issues—aid to parochial schools and the appointment of a minister to the Vatican). But many are guilty in addition to the Church in this matter. The press itself has dragged one foot in covering this—either the biggest or the second biggest story of our time—partly because of clerical opposition. That's not the only reason. Like inflation, the population explosion is a tough story to cover, shadowy and hard to report on a day-by-day basis.

The President talks of mass misery in half the globe, but we'll have the same mass misery here, too, unless unbridled population is checked. The strangulation of our cities which is already well-advanced, the shortages of schools and roads and housing, the taking out of agriculture of a million acres of farmland a year for the private enrichment of real estate speculators to build new suburbs upon, the growing anguish of the suburbanites at traveling farther and farther to work, at the difficulty of finding a parking place when he gets there or a seat on the train—what are all these but aspects of the population explosion?

To the Communist hierarchy the population explosion is the greatest of blessings, increasing mass starvation and mass unrest far beyond their poor power to stir up trouble. And to Wall Street the population explosion is marvelous news. All those mouths to feed, and provide schoolbooks for, and to clothe and sell soap to.

So, without any of them being quite aware how it came about, we find the Catholic Church, the Communist Party, and Wall Street all in the same bed. Dogma makes strange bedfellows.

Appetite Fluctuations Normal In Small Tots

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Many feeding problems stem from unintentional mistakes of parents. They become overly concerned about Junior's diet or are unaware of the normal fluctuations in appetite that take place in the growing child.

The chief occupations of an infant during the first year of life are eating and growing. During the second year he starts walking and exploring his new world. Food takes a back seat and, as a result, problems along this line can be anticipated in the toddler.

We can expect appetite to wane during the second year of life. The average baby gains two pounds a month in the first half year of life, and in the second year, the average gain is only half this figure.

The new mother will be ahead of the game when she anticipates feeding problems between the first and second birthday. Besides becoming more interested in his environment, he realizes he is an individual with a mind of his own. Everything is going fine when suddenly he takes a dislike to carrots, mashed potatoes, milk, or butter.

When this occurs, the wise mother gets out the list of foods and checks those that might appeal to the youngster. There is a good possibility that a variety of dishes from the list will contain the basic elements of a balanced diet. The child who refuses oatmeal may accept a dry cereal, crackers, or bread. These foods are interchangeable. If the tot turns against vegetables, cereals, and milk, he may take fruit or meat.

Occasionally the small fry go on a food jag and concentrate on two or three items. There is no harm in this practice because most of these binges are temporary. The only time the mother needs to put her foot down is when the child insists upon candy, cake, and pop to the exclusion of other foods.

BPOKEN JAW

H. W. writes: About a year ago I suffered multiple fractures of the lower jaw. Since then my chin and lower lip have been numb but recently a pins-and-needle sensation is occurring. Is there any chance that I will recover completely from this mishap?

REPLY

Sensation may return even though a year has passed since the accident. Apparently the nerve was injured in the mishap. Why not bring this to the attention of your physician for a more thorough study of the problem?

POST-MORTEMS

M. G. writes: Why would a doctor perform an autopsy on a patient who had an incurable disease for which there is no treatment?

REPLY

This is done only if permission is given by the next of kin. A postmortem might offer a clew as to a possible cure or give other information that would be of help to others who develop the same disease.

LIVER ENLARGEMENT

J. C. A. writes: Does an enlarged liver mean cirrhosis?

REPLY

There are many reasons why the liver enlarges, of which cirrhosis is one. Special tests are needed to determine the cause.

SALIVARY GLANDS

Mrs. L. writes: What causes excess saliva during pregnancy?

REPLY

The cause is not known but excessive salivation tends to diminish during the latter part of pregnancy.

To the limit of space questions pertinent to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

Comment by a school teacher at a recent Ohio conclave: The procedure for failing a high school student these days has become so complicated that we just don't do it any more. First we must clear with the principal and superintendent. Then we must call the parents and have a series of conferences. If they object, as they usually do, they appear before the Board of Education and we are overruled. So we don't fail a student any more. We just give him a D and pass the problem along to the teacher in the next higher class."

Has word reached you yet about the beatnik lass who got married? Instead of getting a shower, she's taking one. Furthermore, they're serving smorgasbord at the wedding reception. Beatniks have a swede tooth.

HOLLYWOOD

By Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—You can write off Judy Garland's plans to live in England. She's rented an apartment in New York and put the children in school and there's more to this than meets the eye.

Abby Mann, who will direct Judy's "Cameo" appearance in "Judgment at Nuremburg" has written a musical for the screen and all the time he's been in New York he's been talking to Judy about starring in it. In fact, Judy and Mann went together to talk with Richard Rodgers about doing the music.

Judy comes to Hollywood for her scenes in "Nuremburg." The only member of the cast making the trek to Germany for 10 days of location shooting is Spencer Tracy.

Elvis Presley's stepmother, Mrs. Vernon Presley, is in a hospital in Memphis recovering from major abdominal surgery. Not wanting to worry Elvis while he was working in Hollywood, she asked that he not be told until he arrived in Memphis over last weekend.

When Elvis came to see me recently, he was upset over gossip that he is unhappy about his father's marriage. "There's not a word of truth in it," he said so sincerely I knew he meant it. "She's a nice woman. I like her, and I'm glad my dad is happy."

How about this—pretty Mary Douvan, Sandra Dee's young mother, has a romance going with Italian shipping magnate Leonardo Conti. She met him in Portofino when Sandra was shooting "Come September" there.

These transatlantic calls Mary's getting from the attractive Italian are doing much to keep her from being lonesome since Sandy became Mrs. Bobby Darin. The last time he called he told Mary he expected to be in California after a short business trip to Egypt. "No marriage plans or anything like that," protests Mary, "but Sandra and Bobby like him, too."

Bet MGM would like to put an adhesive sticker on Arthur Kennedy's mouth. Winding up "Claudelle Inglish" at Warners, Arthur said right out loud that he leaves for London in a few weeks for Agatha Christie's new movie chiller, "Miss Miss Marple," and that in it he plays the murderer! As in Alfred Hitchcock's mysteries, no one is supposed to reveal who done-'em-in in an Agatha Christie who-dun-it.

Oh well, by the time the chiller starts with Arthur and English actress Margaret Rutherford in the top spots, maybe his slip of the tongue will be forgotten.

Barron Urged To Introduce Income Tax Bill

Legislators Say Opposition Mounts

By BILL BARRETT

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Top leaders of the West Virginia Legislature conferred Wednesday with Gov. W. W. Barron and urged against any further delay in introduction of his state income tax proposal.

The governor reportedly told Senate President Howard Carson and House Speaker Julius Singleton that the bill would be ready for introduction by Friday. There already is strong opposition to an income tax.

Meanwhile, House Minority Leader George H. Seibert Jr., R-Ohio and Del. Charles E. Lohr, D-Mercer, disclosed that they will introduce a bill Thursday to raise the consumer sales tax from 2 to 3 cents on the dollar on a permanent basis, with groceries and prescription drugs exempted.

Lohr, serving his first term in the House, said enactment of such a tax would favor pensioners, those on social security and working men with large families whose biggest expenditures are for food and medicine.

'Invited' Bill

Seibert unsuccessfully sought to amend the temporary sales tax increase bills passed in the first three days of the session.

However, Majority Leader W. T. Brotherton, D-Kanawha practically invited introduction of a new bill along that line while leading the fight against it. He said such a measure should be considered by the finance committee before being brought to the floor for a vote.

Senate Minority Leader John Carrigan, R-Marshall indicated he would sponsor a similar bill in the Senate before the week end.

Carson and Singleton reportedly told Barron in their 30-minute conference Wednesday morning that each day of delay in introducing the income tax bill would mean it would be that much harder to pass.

Singleton said afterward that he would hold an afternoon session rather, than the usual Friday morning meeting, to receive the income tax bill, if necessary.

The sales tax measure to be sponsored by Seibert and Lohr would impose a penny tax on sales from 6 cents to 35 cents; 2 cents from 36 cents to 65 cents; and 3 cents from 66 cents to $1.

Would Raise $1.5 Million

It was estimated the tax would produce about $1.5 million more than the approximately $32 million annually now collected from the tax.

The House adopted one resolution and sent it to the Senate for concurrence. Sponsored by Del. Clarence E. Creek, D-Pleasants, it suggested that all branches of government have a picture of historical interest printed on the reverse side of envelopes used in mailing purposes to advertise West Virginia.

Another resolution, by Del. D. P. Given, D-Webster, requesting the State Senate to forfeit its telephone credit card privileges as an economy move, was defeated on a voice vote.

Brotherton led the fight against it. He said that while he favors this, the House has no business trying to interfere in Senate business any more than the Senate should try to tell the House how to run its affairs. The House has removed phone credit card privileges of members.

Officials At Red Cross Course

Two County Men Assigned To Ship In Pirate Search

Two county men are assigned to the USS Robert L. Wilson, Navy destroyer which was ordered as one of two American ships to attempt to intercept the Santa Maria, pirated passenger ship.

Dale Wade of Carlos, a seaman, is reported aboard the Robert L. Wilson, but Timothy Doolan, Lonaconing, also assigned to the vessel, is a patient in the Navy Hospital at Bethesda. While home on a furlough during the holidays, Doolan accidentally shot himself in the leg with a pistol and was unable to return to duty.

afforded the right to make an independent plea and that his right to legal counsel at the trial be allowed him where justice demands it."

Judge Harris outlined the law enforcement procedure from the time a person is arrested, and, if held for action of the grand jury, the duty of the state's attorney, and action taken prior to and during a court trial.

"Should there be a verdict of guilty by the jury, the accused has the exclusive right to have each juror asked individually whether the verdict pronounced by the foreman is his own finding," Judge Harris said.

"Last Chance" Provided

"Then, of course, there is the right to seek a new trial, and if this is denied, then the right to appeal.

"Recently the Legislature passed a Post Conviction Procedure Act, which is still another means by which an accused at any time after all appeals have been exhausted may try to upset the conviction on prescribed legal grounds," he added.

"While the law may be cold, ponderous and seemingly inhuman at times, we must remember that the law that guarantees equality for all is a living and inspiring rule of life."

In conclusion Judge Harris said that "an arrest is of course, a necessary element in the suppression of crime, but it is far from being the end of the job.

"The task that begins at this point is one that requires patience, knowledge, integrity and understanding. Anything less will weaken the chain upon which the public relies for safety from the thief, the rapist, the murderer and others who spawn on ill-gotten gains."

Five Wills Admitted To Probate Here

Five wills were admitted to probate Tuesday in Orphans Court at the Allegany County Court House.

The late Maggie Alice Douglas of Allegany County named Emma E. Koontz and Earl E. Manges, attorney, as executors.

William Wilderman and his brother, Elmer, were named executors of the will of the late Julia McGuire of Frostburg.

The late Lelia Corinne Baldwin, city, named James G. Brown and Catherine Ann White, grandchildren, as executors.

Robert W. Stutler was named executor for Violet H. Stutler, Cresaptown.

Marshall G. Wilson Jr. was named executor of the will of his father, the late Marshall G. Wilson Sr. of Murley's Branch.

Hospital Fund Bill Introduced

A bill enabling the Board of County Commissioners of Allegany County to allot funds to Miners Hospital was introduced in the Maryland General Assembly yesterday by Sen. Charles M. See.

The enabling legislation specifies the County Commissioners may grant up to $10,000 to the Frostburg institution in any one year.

tax extension and are fighting it.

Business interests listened along with the two judiciary committees to labor spokesmen attack recommendations that would stiffen qualifications for jobless pay.

It was the second day of hearings at which management plugged for tightening of unemployment benefits and labor sought further liberalization.

Tax Stamp Battle

The State Association of County Commissioners signed up in an upcoming battle over liquor. It filed with both bodies a petition calling for defeat of a Legislative Council bill which would eliminate the necessity for a State tax stamp on every bottle of liquor.

Distributors would have to put the stamps only on cases. Comptroller Louis Goldstein has declared his determined opposition to the change.

Bills introduced in the House Wednesday included a measure designed to prevent mortgage-holders from taking advantage of home buyers. The bill would require the mortgage-holder to pay property taxes on the mortgaged property before the discount deadline, then credit the home buyer with the amount of the discount.

B-Girl Bill

Senate President Della, D-Balto 6th, introduced a bill to put teeth in the law aimed at bar hostesses who drum up business by inviting customers to buy them drinks. It would make such solicitations of drinks, food or tobacco punishable by fines of $25-$50 for first offenders and $50-$100 for later offenses.

The Senate passed and sent to the House a bill setting up legal procedures for persons desiring to leave their bodies to science. Sponsored by the Legislative Council, the measure spells out the form to be completed by the donor.

County Workers' Accidents Cited

Allegany County employes last year had more accidents than in two previous years but there were fewer disabling accidents in 1960, according to a report to the Board of County Commissioners by C. L. Durham of the safety engineering department of the United States Fidelity and Guaranty Company.

Last year there were 16 accidents involving Allegany County employes but only five of them were disabling. Nine of the mishaps involved roads department workers but only two were disabling. Four others, two of them disabling, involved county home and infirmary employes. Two others involved police and dog wardens but neither was disabling. One general employe was involved in a 1960 accident and it was disabling.

In a previous 12-month period running from July 1, 1959 until June 30, 1960, there were 15 accidents, eight of which were disabling. In the 12 months beginning July, 1958, there were 13 accidents, nine of which were disabling.

Mr. Durham also reported that nine of the 16 accidents last year occurred in the quarter between October 1 and December 31. Two of them were disabling.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: That letter from Francine was absurd. It just isn't true that a woman has to look like a blimp because she's pregnant.

I gained nine pounds with my last baby. Two days before I went to the hospital I met a friend on the street and she asked me if I had a boy or a girl. She was flabbergasted when I told her I was due to go to the hospital any day.

Some pregnant women think they can eat for two and get away with it. No wonder they look like blimps. I've had two children and have never worn maternity clothes. So you see—it CAN be done.— SAME SIZE

DEAR SAME SIZE: Yes it CAN be done, but I'd hate to leave the impression that anyone who wants to can (or should) do it.

Most obstetricians want their patients to gain between 15 and 18 pounds, depending on starting weight and general physical condition.

(P. S. I'll bet women friends hate you!!!)

DEAR ANN LANDERS: We have four children and they are well behaved as a result of firm handling. My husband, particularly, does not believe in taking any nonsense from kids.

Recently we were visiting in the home of my brother and his wife. They have three children who do pretty much as they please. Their seven year old son, Victor became fascinated with my husband's cuff links. He asked if he could play with them. My husband said, "No, they are not toys." The child replied, "If you don't let me play with them I'll kick you." My husband told Victor that if he dared to do such a thing he'd get the surprise of his life.

Victor kicked my husband's ankle and my husband turned the boy around and gave him a very hard swat across the seat of the pants. The child screamed and ran after his father. My husband was criticized by both parents and we left shortly after.

They claim nobody has the right to lay a hand on anyone else's child and that their children are never subjected to physical violence. I have mixed feelings about this. Do you have a word for my husband?

SPLIT EMOTIONS

DEAR SPLIT: Just one. Congratulations.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Gregory gave me an engagement ring after five years of steady courtship. He asked me not to wear it "for awhile" because he had been going with another woman for quite some time and wanted to break off with her gradually.

I kept the ring in the drawer for six months then told him if he didn't want me to wear it I wanted to give it back. He said O. K. and he took the ring.

Last night he told me he had given the ring to the other woman as a birthday gift. He emphasized it was only because he didn't want to spend any money on a present and he hoped I would understand. He begged me to be patient and trust him.

I've cut myself off from all male companions and I'd be terribly alone if I broke off with him. Advise me.— GRISELDA

DEAR GRISELDA. Wake up and smell the coffee—you're alone NOW. This man has been working both sides of the street and you would be a fool to believe anything he said. Give him the heave ho.

To learn the knack of feeling comfortable with the opposite sex, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Be Date Bait," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Postal Receipts Show Increase At Moorefield

Activity Doubles In Past Decade

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—Acting postmaster C. B. Bishoff reports receipts at the Moorefield Post Office for 1960 totaled $27,992, an increase of 5½ per cent over the 1959 figure of $26,440. Receipts for the last quarter in 1960 were up 15 per cent.

Bishoff also reported that there had been an increase of 100 per cent in the 10 year period 1950 to 1960 with total receipts in 1950 of $14,253. In the same ten-year period 200 boxes were added for the service to the patrons. There is a waiting list at present for postal boxes.

The volume of money order business also increased last year, totaling $129,180 on 8,629 money orders.

Bishoff said that 61,279 pieces of first class mail were handled by the post office force during the 10-day period before Christmas and the highest figure for any one day was 7,244 pieces on December 19.

He said he hopes to be in the new post office building by the middle of March.

GOP Chairman Wants To Quit In W. Virginia

Daniel L. Louchery Notifies Leaders

CLARKSBURG, W. Va. (UPI)—Republican state chairman Daniel L. Louchery said Tuesday he has notified other party leaders he wants to resign as soon as debts from the 1960 campaign are paid off and a successor agreed on.

Louchery also said he told party leaders at a meeting in Charleston Sunday that he favors appointment of a full - time, paid chairman to take over the helm when he steps down.

The 42-year-old Clarksburg attorney emphasized that he set no deadline for his resignation, but indicated he believes that the conditions he set will be met sometime this spring.

The Republican party is estimated to have debts totaling $15,000 left from the 1960 campaign and Louchery said he considers it his obligation to see that they are paid before he leaves the chairmanship.

Party leaders plan tentatively to hold a fund-raising dinner in March to erase that debt and build up some operating funds.

Louchery, who has been chairman since March, 1958, said he also agreed to stay on until a new chairman acceptable to all groups in the party has been selected. There was no immediate speculation on a possible successor.

At Sunday's meeting, GOP leaders named Jack Weaver of Hinton as executive secretary for the party and William E. Blake of Ronceverte as public relations director. Both posts had been held by the late Eugene L. Scott.

Louchery, who practices law with his father here, was the Republican nominee for Congress in 1956 and served briefly on the now - defunct State Board of Control in 1957 before succeeding John D. Hoblitzell as party chairman.

Snow Removal Costs Exceed Town Budget

Frostburg Workers On Overtime Basis

FROSTBURG—William Preston, city street commissioner, said costs incurred because of snow since December 11, 1960 have exceeded $3,600. This amount exceeds the budget for snow removal. Overtime in the amount of $1,335.76 has been paid; a used snow plow on a G.I. truck was purchased for $386; salt $483.75; rebuilding snow plow blades $115; gasoline and oil $610; repairs to snow plows after breakdowns $660.

The first heavy snow, Preston said, occurred on December 11 and the department has been able to keep streets open by working around the clock. Some men in the department have not had a day off since December 31.

Preston said he is pleased with the cooperation of citizens by not parking in restricted areas. This facilitated the removal of snow and the plowing of the streets. "If more snow comes we don't know where to put it," he said.

The council made a tour of the newly paved streets in between snows and reported that all are in good shape except Bowery street which will be resurfaced in the spring at no cost to the property owners. The condition, Commissioner Preston said, evidently was caused because the surfacing material was laid when weather was too cold.

Plans have been made by Council to continue the street paving program in the spring and the amount of streets to be paved depends upon how soon residents pay existing paving liens.

Keyser Trips Petersburg; Piedmont, Beall, Elks Win

Vikings Bow To Tornado Five, 86-79

Fort Ashby Loses Thriller To Beall; Jackets Are Upset

Keyser High's in-and-out Tornado team was "in" last night as Coach Estel "Eck" Miers' tossers handed the Petersburg High Vikings their second straight setback in the Potomac Valley Conference, winning over the visitors at Keyser 86 to 79.

The loss by Coach Carroll Michaels' Vikings, coupled with Beall's come-from-behind win over Fort Ashby, 59-58; Elk Garden's triumph over Bayard, 69-65; and Piedmont High's upset of Moorefield High's Yellowjackets, 43-41, enhanced the idle LaSalle High's first-place standing and vaulted Beall's Mountaineers into second place in the 19-team circuit.

Both Keyser and Petersburg hit the nets at a scorching 50 per cent last night with the home quint banging in 36 of 72 tries and Petersburg connecting on 28 of 56 attempts.

Wins Fourth Game

Keyser, winning its fourth game in eight conference starts, edged ahead in a tight first half and then scored 28 points in a fast third quarter to up its margin to 10 points over Petersburg, 67-57. The Tornado five then hung on to post its sixth win of the season despite a 28-point scoring performance by Petersburg's Eddie Nelson.

A highlight of the game was Francis Sidley's full court set shot which connected for two points just as the whistle ended the third period.

High point man for Keyser was Sidley with 19 tallies. Four other Tornado players scored in the doubble figures with Don Harman getting 16; Terry Turbin, 16; Lawrence Smith, 15; and Jim Courrier 14. Courrier fouled out of the game with 2½ minutes to play.

The Keyser Jayvees defeated the Petersburg Junior Varsity, 42-36, in the preliminary game.

Comes From Behind

At Fort Ashby, Beall' High's Mountaineers came from behind to nip the Eagles for their fifth league win in six starts. They now trail LaSalle which is 4-0 in the conference.

Fort Ashby led by 11 points in the first quarter and increased its margin to 16 in the second stanza before Beall pulled up to a 32-20 halftime count.

In the third period the Eagles lost their scoring ace, Paul Price on personal fouls, and Beall quickly began to close the gap, trailing only 41-38 at the end of the quarter.

The Mountaineers finally caught Fort Ashby in the final moments of the game. Trailing 56-55, Beall scored four straight points on a pair of fouls by Allan Eisel and Marshall Hamilton and a clutch field goal by Wayne Metz to ice the verdict.

Metz was the high scorer in the game with 17 tallies while Bob Barnes chalked up 16 for Fort Ashby. Price chipped in with 15 markers before exiting on fouls.

Elk Garden upped its PVC record to 8-2 on the strength of superior foul shooting at Bayard. The loss was the fifth straight in the conference for Coach Francis Maleonski's quintet.

Foul Shots Win Game

Elk Garden held a slim lead at intermission but trailed 50-47 at the close of the third quarter. The Elks caught Bayard at 61-all with 3 minutes to go and then capped the win by sinking six consecutive foul shots in the final moments.

Bayard outscored the Elks 23-20 from the field by Elk Garden hit on 29 of 41 free throws to wir the game. High man for Elk Garden was Cliff Knotts with 24, including 10-12 at the foul line. Tom Evans had 20 points, with 10-11 in fouls, for the winners.

Bayard's best bet was Lonnie Kuhn with 29 points, high for the game. Kuhn also hit 11 for 12 at the free throw stripe.

Piedmont High's Lions, floundering with a 5-5 mark in the conference, upset Moorefield last night, handing the Jackets their third league defeat in 10 games.

Fagan Sinks Fouls

Vince Fagan hooped two foul shots with 23 seconds to play to give Coach William "Huck" Miers' quint the victory. The two points broke a 41-41 tie and closed out the scoring.

Moorefield's Eddie Bean had a chance to tie the score with 10 seconds remaining, but blew the first try of a one-and-one foul.

Fagan led Piedmont's scoring with 12 points, followed by Preston Green's 10 tallies in the low-scoring contest. David Vance and Bob Redman had 12 points each for Moorefield.

In the preliminary game Piedmont's Junior High team walloped the Moorefield Junior High team, 62-17.

New Baseball Award Planned

Honors Outstanding Player Achievement

NEW YORK (UPI)—A new major league baseball award for outstanding achievement was announced Wednesday by Gerry Coleman, former second baseman for the New York Yankees.

Coleman said the award was established to honor a player for an outstanding game or series of games, rather than on the basis of most valuable player, rookie of the year, etc.

"There are plenty of awards in that category," Coleman said, "but there is no outstanding award for single outstanding achievement." He cited such cases as Harvey Haddix's 12 perfect innings, Sal Maglie's string of 45 consecutive scoreless innings, Johnny Vandermeer's two successive no-hitters, Dale Long's hitting home runs in eight consecutive games, Ted Williams' batting .400 and Joe DiMaggio's 56-game hitting streak as feats worthy of the outstanding achievement award.

The award, to be known as the Van Heusen Outstanding Achievement Award, is a trophy sculptored by John Hovannes. The player will retain permanent possession of the trophy.

St. Michael's Needs Win To Bag 1st Half

SS. Peter And Paul Could Tie Up Race

The first half championship race of the Catholic Youth Basketball League ends tonight and the feature attraction here is the battle between St. Michael's of Frostburg and SS. Peter & Paul at 6:15 o'clock on SS. Peter & Paul court.

St. Michael's coached by Father Regis Larkin, leads the league with an 8-1 record and SS. Peter & Paul is in second place with seven wins and two losses.

A victory for St. Michael's will give the Frostburg team the first half crown. If Coach Bob Mattingly's SS. Peter and Paul team is able to avenge an earlier 28-21 setback in Frostburg the race will end in a tie and necessitate a playoff game to determine the crown bearer.

Two other games will follow the big one on tonight's tripleheader program. St. Mary's Gaels face St. Peter's of Westernport at 7:30 and St. Patrick's teams of Mt. Savage and Cumberland tangle at 8:45.

A field goal by Steve Vandenberg with 10 seconds to play gave Cresaptown Junior High's basketball team a 25-24 victory over Bruce Junior High yesterday at Cresaptown and enabled Coach Norman Nightengale's tossers to chalk up their seventh straight win this season.

Cresaptown trailed 9-6 at halftime but held a slim 16-15 edge at the end of the third period in the see-saw battle. Bruce took a 24-23 lead just before Candenberg's jump shot iced the verdict for Cresaptown.

Vandenberg was high scorer for the winners with 10 points while Larry Rexrode with 9 and Ronnie Shaffer with 8 were the big guns for Bruce.

Cresaptown will play Grace Baptist at 6:30 p.m. on Monday.

the GREATEST!

by Walter Johns

Thorpe . . . the "GREATEST"

A SAC AND FOX INDIAN, who became a great football player, an Olympic champion whose medals were taken away from him, and died broke several years ago, still remains the GREATEST of all athletes the world has ever known.

He is, of course, the one and only James Francis Thorpe, who was a superman in sports, proficient in 25 of them, stood out like a "man" among boys in football and track and, overall, had fun in competition over many years of superlative championship form.

Some say he was the GREATEST of all football players, the GREATEST of all performers in track and field. Admittedly, he was the GREATEST natural athlete of all time.

BORN AT Prague, Okla. in 1886, Jim's first schooling was at the Haskell Institute at Lawrence, Kan.

Later he enrolled at the Carlisle Indian school in Pennsylvania which had been founded in 1879 and opened with 136 students from Indian agencies along the Missouri river.

Football rose to great heights at Carlisle, under the coaching of Glenn (Pop) Warner of Cornell, and the greatest of all its players was Jim Thorpe.

Thorpe could do everything on the football field. One of his greatest games was against Harvard November 11, 1911, in which he was knocked out but not before he had kicked four field goals and carried the ball within scoring distance as Carlisle beat a great Harvard team, 18 to 15.

Thorpe made the All-American that year and in 1912 he was the No. 1 performer on the U.S. Olympic team, a great triumph and also a great tragedy in the Indian's career.

The world and the king of Sweden hailed Thorpe as the "greatest" athlete of all time when Jim won both the pentathlon and the decathlon in Stockholm, finished fourth in the high jump and seventh in the broad jump.

But, heartbreak was to follow, for Thorpe was found to have played some professional baseball and he was declared to have been ineligible, losing both his gold medals. And, despite many campaigns and drives since, he never regained them.

When he returned he starred on the grid again for Carlisle, doing a particularly outstanding job against Army, a team which had Dwight D. Eisenhower at left half for the Cadets.

THORPE then turned pro, if he already wasn't such, and played baseball with the New York Giants from 1913-17, then Cincinnati, then back to the Giants and finally with the Boston Braves in 1919 when he called it quits. Thorpe never could hit major league pitching.

Thorpe played pro football, too, helping organize the famed Bulldogs of Canton, O. In 1920 the American Professional Football Association was organized, with Thorpe as president, with franchises at $100. It failed financially, however, and the next year a new group took over.

Thorpe played pro football until 1926 and then drifted in and out of sport, but still showed an amazing ability as a performer. He could shoot golf in the 80's with only a mid-iron and putter and he could bowl 200. He also excelled in swimming, wrestling, marksmanship and tennis.

After his competitive days were over he played bit parts in the movies, ran a night spot in Nevada, worked at race tracks and in various other pursuits.

He died at Lomita, Calif., March 28, 1953, after a long illness.

NEW YORK (UPI)—An award will be presented Sunday night to the man who did the most for major league baseball in 1960.

That's Bill Shea, a 53-year-old New York attorney, who lit and re-lit the fuse on a bomb that resulted in four brand new major league clubs when it finally went off.

New York writers will give Shea a "meritorious service" citation on Sunday night and the sentiments probably will be echoed in Houston, Los Angeles and Minneapolis-St. Paul.

"All I started out to do," says Shea, "was to get a National League team for New York after the Giants and Dodgers left town. The rest just happened."

But "the rest" that happened—an expansion explosion — came about largely through the relentless efforts of the aggressive attorney who wouldn't take "no" for an answer.

Had Been Studying

When the bickering ended, the American League sent a new team into Los Angeles, a new team into Washington and the old Washington team to Minneapolis-St. Paul for the 1961 season. New York and Houston go into the National League in 1962.

In time, perhaps, that expansion might have come off, anyway. The majors had been "studying" new cities for quite a spell. But it took Shea to shake 'em up.

Shea's original order from New York's Mayor Robert Wagner was to get New York back into the National League. But Bill couldn't enginer a franchise shift from another city back to the big town, which had lost the Giants and Dodgers in 1957.

"That's how the Continental League idea started," he says.

Shea, enlisting the services of the veteran Branch Rickey, kept hammering away at a "third major league" plan until there were eight cities, including New York, formally enrolled as the Continental League.

Got Some Action

Nothing was further afield from Shea's original hope but to get a major league team into New York — even if was a third league team — he urged the Continental's backers to "go outlaw" if necessary to obtain players and territorial rights.

"We'll fight the majors," he stormed at the time. "They wouldn't dare go into court with us. Baseball player contracts aren't worth the paper they're written on, not in the courts."

Bwtween threats of legal and congressional action the embattled "Continentals" got some expansion action from the majors last year: the existing major leagues would expand to 10 teams each and New York would get its National League franchise.

So Bill Shea achieved what he set out to do. The rest that happened was a bonus for fans in three other cities.

Snead To Train For U. S. Open

Plans To Lose 10 Pounds Before Match

NEW YORK (AP)—Sam Snead has tried almost everything in his futile bid for a U.S. Open Golf championship. Now he's going to try something else.

The keynote of his 1961 campaign: Calories and psychology.

"I intend to spend all the month of March getting myself in physical shape — I'm going to lose at least 10 pounds," the slamming man from White Sulphur Springs, West Va., said Wednesday. "Then I'm going to spend two months of hard training.

"My aim is to be fit and ready when the tournament rolls around in June. I don't mean just physically — I mean mentally ready, too." He weighs 195.

Snead honored by the Metropolitan Golf Writers at their annual awards dinner here Tuesday night, said he even plans to hire a trainer to help him prepare for the Open, scheduled June 15-17 at the Oakland Hills Country Club in Birmingham, Mich.

"He'll tell me what to do and what not do do," Sam added. "He may even help keep me from tensing up in the tournament, as I sometimes do."

Stan Musial Signs For 20th Season

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Stan Musial, who baffled the experts with a mid-season comeback that kept the St. Louis Cardinals in the pennant race last year, signed a contract Wednesday for his 20th major league season.

Terms of the contract were, as usual, undisclosed but General Manager Bing Devine said the figure was "one of the highest in the major leagues and we agred on it within 30 seconds."

His reported salary last season was around $80,000. Devine said "a slight adjustment" was made this year in consideration of the 40-year-old Musial's reduced schedule.

NL To Play Record 318 Night Tilts

Season To Open On April 11

CINCINNATI (AP) — National League teams, which will open the 1961 season April 11, will play a record 318 night games.

The league schedule, which underwent a couple of last minute changes, was released Wednesday. The old record for night games was 314, and was set in 1960.

Dave Grote, head of the National League Service Bureau, did a bit of rapid figuring and estimated the eight clubs will travel a grand total of 216,000 miles, the equivalent to approximately 8½ times around the world.

The opening games will bring together Chicago at Cincinnati; St. Louis at Milwaukee; Pittsbrugh at San Francisco, and Philadelphia at Los Angeles. The Los Angeles-Phils game will be played at night.

The two All-Star games will not be back to back, as they were last year. The first game will be on July 11 at San Francisco and the second at Boston on July 31.

Each team will make four trips to the West Coast. Los Angeles and San Francisco also will make four trips east.

DAVOS, Switzerland (UPI)—The world figure skating championships scheduled for Prague, Feb. 22-26, have been "definitely cancelled" by the International Skating Union (ISU), an authoritative source said Wednesday.

Runner Reveals Amateurs Paid

Ancient Rules Cause Undercover Payment

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mike Agostini of Trinidad, one of the world's top sprinters in recent years, said Wednesday in a copyrighted story in Sports Illustrated magazine that top track and field performers regularly receive undercover payments for performances.

Agostini, who now lives in London, wrote that "in committing myself to print, I well realize, that I shall never again be allowed to compete.

"But in putting down my experience," he said, "drawing attention to the rackets that are really designs for living forced by the outmoded rules, perhaps I shall be able to draw attention to the farcical situations caused by applying ancient rules to modern requirements."

Agostini wrote that for major indoor meets sprinters may receive from $50 to $125 per meet, middle distance runners $100 to $600, and some milers as much as $1,000.

Dawkins To Quit As Rugby Player

OXFORD, England (UPI)—Pete Dawkins, the Yank who introduced American football techniques to rugby and made the British fan love it, Wednesday announced his retirement from rugby after a short-lived but spectacular career.

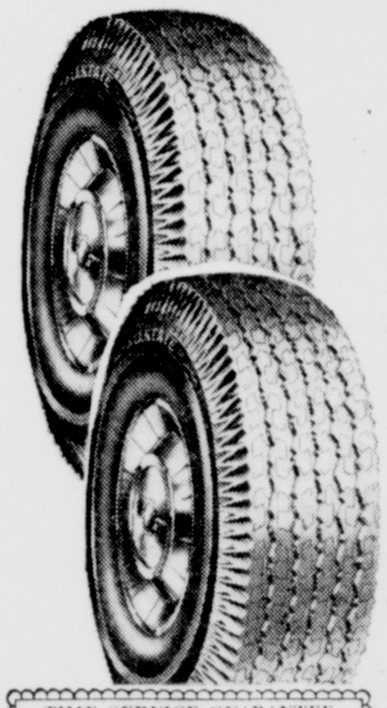

The former Army All-America halfback, now a Rhodes scholar at Oxford University, said the decision was made in the best interests of his studies.

"I vowed to keep a strict balance on work and sport," Dawkins said. "Next fall I won't have time to train thoroughly because of studies. So it's better for all concerned if I make a clean break now."

ACC Plans No Penalties For North Carolina

Team On Probation For Year In NCAA

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (UPI) — The Atlantic Coast Conference has notified the University of North Carolina it plans "no further action" in regard to charges of illegal basketball recruiting practices by the Tar Heels.

In effect, this means the ACC will impose no penalty beyond that already meted out by the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) in the case. The NCAA put North Carolina on one year's probation and barred the Tar Heels from NCAA basketball tournaments for that period.

But the University of North Carolina will pay the piper—to the extent of reimbursing the ACC for approximately $600 in expenses incurred by ACC Commissioner James H. Weaver investigating the case.

Weaver cooperated with the NCAA in investigating the Tar Heels' basketball recruiting practices back in 1957 from which the NCAA charges arose.

The basketball recruiting practice investigation by Weaver and the expenses involved apparently constituted the "internal matter" discussed secretly by the ACC executive committee in Greensboro Tuesday.

Those concerned in the Greensboro meeting—Weaver, UNC officials and members of the executive committee — kept a tight-lipped silence until Wednesday.

British Team Near Championship

MONTE CARLO (AP) — The British team of Pat Moss and Ann Wisdom appeared headed for a third straight women's championship, but the men's division was wide open Wednesday in the Monte Carlo Automobile Rally.

Winners will be decided from 120 cars making the speed run Thursday. Those still in the running represented virtually every country in Europe.

Miler To Arrive Here For Meets

NEW YORK (AP) — Istavan Rozsavolgyi, Hungary's great miler, will arrive in New York Friday night for a series of appearances in indoor track meets.

He will go directly to Boston to run in the Boston A. U. championships Saturday night. He will remain in this country through March 10.

Market Closes Irregular As Late Upswing Fades

NEW YORK (UPI) — A wave of stock splits, dividend announcements and earnings reports made a complete mish-mash out of the stock market Wednesday.

More stocks declined than rose and the Dow-Jones industrial average dipped 1.07 to 637.72 but Standard & Poor's index of 500 stocks tacked on eight points. Volume increased to 4,470,000 shares from 4,280,000 Tuesday.

The market started out on the downtrack, fumbled around till early afternoon when corporate developments prodded the list higher. A big upswing faded almost completely in the last half hour.

American Telephone was a star performer, closing up 2⅜ to 112-⅜ after being up around 4 at its top. Cut dividends belted Neptune Meter and Tung-Sol Electric for losses of 4⅞ and 4⅛ respectively while Sperry Rand dropped 1⅞ after declaring stock in lieu of cash in the wake of a lower earnings report.

Consolidated Edison, which is calling for redemption its 4 per cent convertible debentures, dropped 1¾. The utility also reported a higher net but lower per share earnings because of more shares outstanding.

For this $57,000 tourney, three new holes have been built—the fourth, fifth and sixth.

Tawes Rebuffed By House Unit

Move To Place DMV Head Under Merit System Is Rejected

By GEORGE BOWEN

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes was handed a stinging rebuff Wednesday by the House Ways and Means Committee, which rejected a move to give the Maryland Commissioner of motor vehicles protection of the merit system.

The committee refused by a whopping 20-5 vote to give the bill a favorable report.

The governor had recommended it in his opening day message to the legislature, saying "I believe this is a logical, complementary step along with the point system."

Maryland inaugurated this year a system of penalizing traffic violators with points leading to automatic suspension and revocation of their driving licenses.

The motor vehicle commissioner is former State Sen. John R. Jewell of Kent County, who was named by Tawes in 1958.

Inclusion of him in the merit system would have meant he could be removed from office only for cause.

Members of the Ways and Means Committee made it clear they were not questioning his qualifications.

Responsible To Governor

"But the man in a position of such stature should be directly responsible to the governor," explained Del. Carlton R. Stickles, D-Prince Georges.

The committee had before it a report showing only seven department directors, considered professional career people, are under the merit system.

The commissioner of motor vehicles is one of 14 such office holders appointed for fixed terms by the governor. Seven others serve at the pleasure of the governor and six more are named by boards with no merit system protection.

Del. A. Gordon Boone, D-Balto County, the Ways and Means Committee chairman and the governor's floor leader, was obviously taken aback by the overwhelming revolt.

When it was evident on a voice vote that a favorable report was impossible, Boone sought to stall off putting it on the record.

"I'm going to hold the bill up for awhile," he said.

Opponents figured this meant pressure would be exerted by the administration and if enough votes were lined up the bill would be brought up again.

A demand for a roll call brought the adverse 20-5 vote, the first of the session on a recommendation from the Democratic governor.

Fight Indicated

Del. Egbert R. Quinn, from the governor's home county of Somerset and considered the chief executive's unofficial spokesman many times, indicated the issue might not be finished without a fight.

He passed on the original roll call. Afterward, he asked to be recorded on the negative side "because I may want to bring it up later."

Parliamentary rules require that a legislator seeking reconsideration of a vote must be on the prevailing side.

A scrap over another of the governor's endorsed matters, the cigarette tax, was postponed in the Ways and Means Committee.

Boone announced he was putting off a vote until next Tuesday so an opinion could be obtained from the attorney general on whether it is an appropriation measure.

If it is, it cannot be brought to the House floor until after the budget bill moves, which will be in the last days of the session.

The cigarette bill would extend the six-cent tax on a pack to all 23 counties of the state with half of the revenue being returned to the local governments.

Maryland industries were involved in two hearings before legislative committees Wednesday.

Industries Protest

They were protesting before the Senate Finance Committee a third try to extend taxes on equipment and inventory.

The target is property and tools used by companies on federal contracts for which they are reimbursed by the government. The equipment has been tax exempt on the theory it is owned by the government and leased to the companies.

The Martin Co., Fairchild Engine and Aircraft, and Westinghouse would feel the brunt of the

16 Below Zero At Big Savage

The icy grip that winter holds on Maryland is likely to remain for some time, according to the Weather Bureau, which said "the cold air will continue in the Maryland region for the next couple of days and there is no real temperature rise in sight."

Some of the edge will be taken off the coldness today and tomorrow, the forecast said.

The temperature is expected to dip from 15 to 20 below zero in Garrett County this morning and from five to 15 below in Allegany County, with the latter temperature listed for higher elevations around Frostburg and in the mountains east of Cumberland.

Zero In Cumberland

Early yesterday morning the mercury plunged to 16 degree below zero at Big Savage Mountain just a few miles west of Frostburg. This was the coldest spot in Maryland, and the reading was registered at 7:45 a. m.

The official low in Cumberland was zero. Other readings in the area included 13 below zero in Oakland and Accident; 10 below on Town Hill Mountain east of here; six below in Frostburg; five below at Hancock; two below at Hagerstown; and 15 below in Parsons.

The weatherman said temperatures will turn colder again over the weekend.

Chains Still Needed

A spokesman for the State Roads Commission said highways in Garrett County are about 50 to 75 per cent bare although chains or snow treads are required.

Roads in Allegany County are practically bare and chains and snow treads are not needed.

Temperatures dipped to their lowest levels in probably 20 years in West Virginia early yesterday and more of the same is in store for the state. The forecast is for readings of three to 12 degrees below zero early today.

Glenn Beall Jr. Named Head Of Celebration

J. Glenn Beall Jr., Frostburg, was elected chairman and his father, Senator J. Glenn Beall Sr., was elected honorary chairman of Frostburg's Sesquicentennial Committee at a meeting last night in the Frostburg city hall.

Mayor Joseph James presided at the session attended by some 35 representatives of civic, patriotic, fraternal, labor and other organizations, along with town officials and a number of professional and business people.

It was agreed that Chairman Beall will meet with the Mayor and Council Monday evening, at which time a secretary, treasurer and members of an executive board will be appointed. On Wednesday of next week at 7:30 p. m. another general meeting will be held in the town hall, at which time Mr. Beall will report on appointments and committee chairmen and members.

The meeting Wednesday will be open to the public and all interested citizens and organization representatives are urged to attend. He stated that several hundred people must be willing to take an active interest if the celebration is to be successful.

John Sullivan, Frostburg and Cumberland attorney, spoke briefly, explaining that the committee should form a corporation immediately, and the executive board and officers of this corporation can then enter into agreements as representatives of the community project.

The sesquicentennial will be observed in Frostburg in 1962. John T. Rogers Productions Company will enter into a contract with the committee to help stage a pageant and promote the whole affair.

It was recalled last night that Frostburg celebrated its centenniel in 1912. Rudolph Nickel, former News correspondent, was general chairman of that successful affair.

Mathias Calls For National Fuel Study

Rep. Charles McC. Mathias Jr., R-Md. 6th, yesterday introduced a concurrent resolution calling for establishment of a joint committee to make a national fuel study.

Rep. Mathias said he considered such a study a step toward fulfillment of a Republican campaign pledge, and said it may point a way toward helping the coal industry.

Third Planning Firm Asked To Give Proposal

Morris Knowles Submits Program

The Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission last night invited an engineering firm to submit a proposal for preparing a limited planning program for the City of Cumberland, and took under study a proposal submitted by a second firm.

Invited to submit a program for a planning program sufficient to allow the city to qualify for federal Workable Program was the firm of Hayes, Seay, Mattern and Mattern.

Donald J. Balzer, Washington representative of the firm, said his company will submit a proposal before March 1 which will indicate the scope of the work to be done, along with a financial proposal.

Cites Need

Mayor J. Edwin Keech pointed out that the city must get at least that much planning done to be able to qualify for 60 more low-rent public housing units to which the city is entitled.

Mr. Balzer briefed the commission headed by Albert S. Paye on the qualifications of the firm, whose 120 staffers are primarily architects and engineers.

He told the planning officials that urban renewal is a terrific bargain when badly needed. Legislation to allow Maryland municipalities to qualify is now being considered in the Maryland legislature.

Mr. Paye said that while Cumberland needs the full planning treatment, the immediate objective is to carry the program far enough to qualify for federal funds.

In its search for a planner, the commission has contracted two other firms.

Study Proposal

The first, the firm of Morris Knowles, Inc., submitted its proposal for professional services made by its planning division.

Cost of the plan which covers two years would be $45,000, of which $24,000 would be paid by the city and the rest by the government.

A similar proposal is expected soon from the firm of Whitman, Requardt and Associates, whose representative met with the commission last month.

Copies of the Morris, Knowles proposal are being studied by members of the commission.

Also attending the meeting were James Alfred Avirett, commission member, and George O. Hollar, secretary.

Cars Derail At Patterson Creek

Fifteen loaded coal cars of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad derailed yesterday morning at Patterson Creek about 10 miles southeast of here. Coal was spewed across the tracks as the cars piled up along the right of way. No one was injured, according to officials who were unable to determine the cause of the derailment. Judge Harris Talks On Law Enforcement

Frostburg Clubs Have Annual Meet

Law enforcement and court procedure were discussed last night by Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris who was guest speaker at the annual joint meeting of Frostburg Rotary-Lions Club members at Happy Hills Farm Restaurant on U. S. Route 40.

Judge Harris stressed the point that "law and court decisions have been given us to protect the rights of even the most hardened criminal, with the result that the person you know as a certainty is guilty of a particular crime may be found innocent because somewhere along the line after arrest he was denied some small and maybe insignificant right which the courts or the lawmakers have said cannot be denied him.

Not Designed Only For Good

"The law was not designed to protect only the good, or the law-abiding or the innocent. In truth and in practice, it stands as a bulwark against taking unfair advantage of the man who by reason of persistent bad behavior may be easy prey for a policeman or prosecutor anxious to cut corners to obtain a quicker conviction."

"The point I want to make is that after a person has been arrested and accused, the law then demands that the evidence against him be honestly and fairly siphoned, that the charges against him be clearly drawn, that he be

City Hall Murals To Be Cleaned

Depict Scenes In Life Of Washington

Freshening of murals in the rotunda of City Hall will be one of the important tasks in connection with a painting job which began yesterday.

Workers of the J. E. Dennison Company yesterday erected scaffolds in preparation for work on the rotunda.

It will include washing and a fresh coat of varnish on the murals painted when the present City Hall was dedicated in 1911.

The paintings depict visits of Washington to the Queen City during his career.

City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson said the murals were painted in oils by the late Mr. duBrau and his daughter, Gertrude.

Mr. duBrau, he said, was a well known decorator and painted the proscenium arch in the old Maryland Theater.

Mr. duBrau operated an art studio at 62 North Mechanic Street about 1927 and the business was carried on by his daughter, who moved to the site of the present Liberty Tavern on North Liberty Street, only to have all of the stock destroyed in the great 1936 flood.

He recalled that Miss duBrau later married and returned with her husband to Germany.

Card Party Canceled

County Dimes Drive Auditor Is Appointed

Mothers' March Slated Sunday

Francis Deremer of Corriganville, an employe at the First National Bank here, has been appointed chief auditor for the 1961 March of Dimes drive, Frederick J. Hill, Jr., general chairman, announced last night.

Assisting him will be Robert Brown, city, an employe at the Amcelle plant.

The Mother's March scheduled for Sunday, got off to an early start yesterday when two ambitious mothers in the Mexico Farms area visited 17 homes in that section of the county and collected funds from 15 of the homes.

Mr. Hill said they also did some baby sitting and pulled some of the children on sleds during their march, which was "on their own."

Plans are virtually complete for the Sunday march, according to Mr. Hill, who said collection headquarters will be the Times-News building on Baltimore Street.

At the conclusion of the march, the captains will report to the newspaper business office where tabulations will be made by the auditor and his assistants.

Mrs. Joyce Vowell and Mrs. Elizabeth Nave are co-chairmen of the "marchers," and Mrs. Ethel Thayer is serving as executive secretary for the group.

Mr. Hill is urging residents of the county to return the mailers which were sent to the homes throughout the area. The mailers are to be sent to the local Post Office in care of Box 33.

Contributions are hard at work in a positive action program to prevent crippling birth defects, according to the general chairman, who said, "Your contributions to the 1961 New March of Dimes will allow the National Foundation to do even more."

The Foundation, he pointed out, has brought together the world's foremost experts in the field of birth defects to exchange ideas and knowledge at the first internation conference ever held to deal with these cripplers.

Workmen Clear Wreck Of Coal Train

No One Injured In Rail Accident

Baltimore and Ohio Railroad work crews late last night were clearing up the wreckage caused when 15 loaded coal cars of an eastbound train derailed about 11:08 a. m. yesterday at Patterson Creek, 10 miles southeast of here.

A spokesman for the railroad said one of the tracks, the No. 1 track, which is westbound, was opened to traffic about 8 p. m. yesterday but the other tracks are expected to be opened sometime today.

Both east and westbound traffic was moving slowly last night over the No. 1 track, according to the spokesman, who said the cause of the derailment has not been determined.

Railroad officials said that no one was hurt in the accident, but all the tracks were blocked by the derailment.

During the pileup traffic was being re-routed over the Western Maryland Company lines between Miller and North Branch, it was reported. Passenger trains were delayed as much as two and a half hours.

The derailed cars were part of a 128-car shipment of coal being moved from Keyser to Hagerstown. The cars were from the 104th to the 119th car.

The section where the derailment occurred is in the switching area of the railroad at Patterson Creek.

Yesterday's derailment was the second this week for the railroad in this area.

On Monday morning 16 freight cars derailed at Stricker on the 17-Mile Grade about 14 miles west of Keyser on the Cumberland Division.

Traffic at that point was back to normal Tuesday morning after work crews of Cumberland and Grafton worked through the night to clear the wreckage.

Mayor Suggests Snow Removal Plan For City

Program Would Aid In Street Cleaning

A proposal designed to allow the City of Cumberland to keep its streets open when ice and snow storms hit during the winter and to keep them clean the rest of the year will be outlined Monday by Mayor J. Edwin Keech.

The mayor said yesterday that he will ask members of the Council to consider the plan at a pre-Council meeting Monday morning.

He said he believes his proposal, or some modification of it, would work if all citizens were to cooperate.

Mayor Keech's suggestion is that during the winter season, say from December 1 to March 31, cars would be allowed to be parked on only one side of the street during the night.

Cites Benefits

He said this would allow Street Department crews to begin plowing streets as soon as snow begins to accumulate. He added that motorists would benefit greatly by such a plan, since crews could plow snow away from the parked cars and toward the opposite curb.

He said this would allow cars to have access to the parking area without the hump which is made when plows are able only to clear a path between two lines of parked cars.

Mayor Keech said enforcement should not be difficult and suggested a $5 ticket after warning—and an automatic $5 fine if the car is parked on the wrong side of the street during a snowstorm.

He said the same plan would work during the spring, summer and fall to allow street cleaning equipment to operate.

He said it just does not make sense for the city to pay crews money to sweep and clean streets when parked cars prevent them from doing a good job.

Disaster Cited

Mayor Keech said motorists on some streets would have to park their cars on side streets or on a parking lot when garage facilities are not available.

He said the plan to keep streets open so they can be cleared of snow and swept clean would mean better police and fire protection, and might save lives in case of disaster.

He said property owners would have to cooperate by cleaning snow from only part of the pavement and piling it on the other side of the sidewalk, rather than dumping it into the street where it impedes traffic.

Mayor Keech said there is an ordinance on the books which prohibits all-night parking on city streets, but that it would be almost impossible to enforce, since in many cases there would be no place to put the cars.

He added that the ordinance would have to provide for no parking at all in some areas, such as the downtown section and some main arteries such as Virginia Avenue, when street crews plan to remove all snow and ice from the streets.

Teacher Breaks Leg In Fall

Raymond M. Chaney, 211 Hammond Street, Westernport, business arithmetic and education teacher at Bruce High School, fractured the upper bone of his right leg Tuesday night when he fell.

Mr. Mellon, who recently completed his academic work at Frostburg State Teachers College, did practice teaching in core and English at Pennsylvania Avenue School, and mathematics at Beall High School, Frostburg.
